

Home Ec Department Offers Course In Food Management, Nutrition

Work Planned to Train For War Dietetics

As a special war service, the Home Economics Department is initiating a short seven-months course in food management and nutrition to provide technically trained workers for jobs in industrial communities.

The new course which begins February 15 and continues through April 28 is open to all students of the college and to any other high school graduate who wishes to enroll and is accepted by the Registrar.

The work is divided into two semesters of twelve weeks each and one four-week practicum period of industrial food service experience. The first term will include classes in elementary nutrition, bacteriology, elementary foods, and equipment for industrial canteens. During the second period the work will cover quantity cooking, advanced cooking and baking, food service administration, food purchasing and labor management.

The College faculty in Home Economics and Bacteriology will handle the course, supplemented by experts in the institutional administration field. Regular college fees of $69.75 per semester, plus $27 laboratory fees will be charged for the course. Anyone interested in enrolling may do so at the office of the Registrar.

Twenty-two Fellowships Offered by DuPont Co.

Twenty-two post-graduate fellowships for research in the field of chemistry for the academic year 1943-44 are being offered by the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Company.

Appointments to these fellowships, which carry $750 each, will be made later in the year by Dr. Frank C. Whitmore, dean of the School of Chemistry and Physics.

Originally, only men were considered, but to increase the number of available candidates the Du Pont Fellowship Committee now recommends that women be admitted to candidacy on the same basis as men. This action of the committee encourages women to prepare themselves adequately for positions in industrial research laboratories, where already a large number of women have been employed.

These fellowships state that the selection of the beneficiary and the subject of research is left to the discretion of the university. There is no actual or implied obligation as to the future employment of the fellowship holder.

Students, Faculty May Join Riding Club

The Riding Club held a meeting in the Southeast Lounge of Atherton Hall, 7 p. m. last night, to discuss further organization. Any persons connected with the College may join.

The fees are $15 for new members and $10 for old members who have already paid a $5 initiation fee. Payment of fees permits 20 hours of riding.

Last semester approximately 20 riders passed their test and mastered the rules of fine horsemanship.

The use of the stock judging pavilion, as well as an outdoor riding ring, has been obtained each night Monday through Thursday for members who wish to receive instruction, according to Boyd N. Witherow '44, club president.

Volunteer Coeds Make 400 Surgical Dressings

Seventy-one coeds turned out for the Red Cross surgical dressings meeting last Thursday and a total of 400 dressings were made. Mrs. Henry Brunner, in charge of surgical dressings on campus, announced. The finished product that evening was equivalent to one-half the number completed during the last semester, Mrs. Brunner stated.

Mrs. Henry Yeagley, Mrs. Robert Hussey, and Mrs. Donald Davis will supervise at the meeting tomorrow night in the Home Economics building from 6:30 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

It was estimated that at least fifty of the seventy-one coeds present had never been out before.

New Freshman Coeds Keep Record Clean

There have been no freshmen women violations reported so far this semester, Marion C. Dougherty '44, judicial chairman, announced last night.

It is the hope of WSGA that the new freshmen will continue to keep their customs, Miss Dougherty stated. The customs are made so that coeds can better adjust themselves and get off to a fresh start in their lessons.

It was emphasized again that absolutely no special permissions will be given to freshman coeds, except in cases where an out of town service man is visiting.

Frosh Must Wear Dinks At All Athletic Events

"Freshmen must attend all College athletic meets in customs," J. Robert Hicks, 44, Tribunal chairman, warned last night.

Hicks stated that there was definitely a lack of green dinks at the boxing matches in Rec Hall Saturday night. Frosh are warned to observe customs more closely or Tribunal will be forced to make more drastic regulations.

Upper-classmen are urged to turn in customs violators to Tribunal at Student Union desk, Hicks stated. However, second semester freshmen are not permitted to join in the hazing of the Frosh.

DON'T FORGET PENN STATE'S VICTORY RAFFLE!

We, The Women Keep It Up, Coeds, You're Rollin' Fine

A word of commendation is almost out of place in this column but really deserved and appropriate this time.

After inspirational talks by woman directors from town to sorority women at their chapter meetings last week, the results came.

Greeks and independent women alike rallied to the call of the new semester for the surgical dressing class which will aid in fulfilling State College's quota of 20,000 bandages for service hospitals.

Seventy-one persons appeared ready for work in smocks and kerchiefs, supplied with scissors, rulers, and other designated instruments.

Women evidently mean to work, and they deserve the credit due a group who would attempt a job of this nature. If their enthusiasm continues, remarkable results are inevitable.

The classes, still open to enrollees and interested participants, meet in Home Economics each Thursday night. Members of the class are urged by directors to stick to the job since failure to do so means teaching new ones and losing old skill.

These woman leaders who direct and give careful assistance to coeds enrolled in the class are the cornerstones for the program's success. Appreciation for a great job should definitely go (and keep going) to Mrs. H. S. Brunner, Mrs. M. A. Farrell, and Mrs. C. A. Morgan, all of State College.

Women who "keep rollin' 'em" will spell VICTORY!

Troxell on Air

Miss Barbara Troxell, who received her Bachelor Degree in the Department of Music Education in 1937 and Masters Degree in Education in 1939, will be heard over the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air on Sunday, January 24th through station WJZ. After completing her work at the Pennsylvania State College, Miss Troxell attended the Curtis Institute of Music where she was graduated in May, 1942.

Go-Op Holds Party

Nittany Co-Op held a get-acquainted party Saturday night to initiate new members. Dancing and games provided the entertainment for the evening. Co-chairmen of the party were Mary T. Rhineheimer '45 and Sydney Helen Rivenburg '44.

Women In Sports

All four WRA badminton matches last night were outstanding for the fact that the winners defeated their opponents soundly in each game played.

Theresa M. Krakovesky '46 and Gertrude M. Kortright '43 of the Theta Phi Alpha team each won their singles game and their combined doubles against Kappa Alpha Theta's Charlotte M. Taylor '46 and Joan P. Herzer '44.

Delta Gamma's Martha E. James '45 and Barbara M. Keast '45 gained three points for their side by winning all games in the match against Jean L. Miller '45 and Polly A. Huber '45, Alpha Chi Omegas.

Another three points were chalked up for Kappa Delta when Skip M. Scrivanich '43 and Charlotte B. Spangler '44 defeated the Phi Mu team of Helen H. Barr '46 and Elizabeth J. Wiley '44.

Grange's players, Ann Sheffield '45 and Alda M. Stull '45, lost the three games they played in the tournament to Jordan's team of Eunice M. Hurlburt '46 and Rebecca J. Walker '46.

Two more games, Alpha Omicron Pi vs. Alpha Zeta Delta and Atherton East against Zeta Tau Alpha, remain to be played this afternoon in Tournament A of the badminton matches. Tournament B matches will begin this evening.

Curtiss-Wright Courses Delayed Two Weeks

Delays in organizing the Curtiss-Wright program at all colleges will entail the postponement of the starting date of the course from February 1 until February 15, according to Dean Harry H. Hammond of the school of engineering.

Coeds desiring application for courses offered by Curtiss-Wright are again urged to see Dean of Women Charlotte E. Ray immediately. A compendium of background and advanced engineering courses will be included in the program.

Professors Discover

The low price of new white "milk" glass kitchenware and opal glass luncheon sets now displayed in dime stores is made possible because of a discovery made at the College by Dr. Woldemar Weyl and Dr. N. J. Kreidl of the glass technology department.

Bone ash and chrysolite, used since the war for aluminum manufacture and fertilizer, have been replaced by a less expensive compound of phosphates and fluorine compounds in the professors' new formula.

Service Board, Cwens, Will Entertain Transfers,

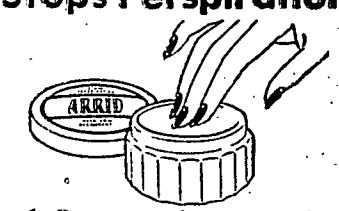

Arrangements are being made by a combined committee of WSGA Junior Service Board members and Cwens sophomore women's honorary to entertain freshman and transfer women at a coffee hour in southwest Atherton Lounge from 7 to 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Cwen members on the committee include Barbara C. Painter, Gloria G. Wheyl, and R. Christine Yohe, according to Mary Grace Longenecker, president.

Junior Board members in charge of the affair are Kathryn M. Hibbard, chairman, Margaret B. Cupp, Elizabeth J. McKinley, Ruth J. PoPsnor, Joan F. Runkel, and Margaret Stern, according to Carol M. Kane, president.
