

Senate To Sell War Stamps At Old Main Open House

Purchasers Will Get Basketball Chances

Four members of WSGA Senate, appointed at last night's meeting, will sell defense stamps at Old Main Open House tomorrow night. Patricia Diener '45 and G. Patricia Hallberg '46 will sell from 7 to 8 o'clock while Jane H. Dye '46 and Gloria J. McKinley '46 will sell from 8 to 9. Purchase of a 25-cent stamp will entitle the buyer to one chance in the basketball raffle while three chances will be given with purchase of two stamps.

Mortar Board, national senior women's honor society, will sell stamps at the WSGA dance scheduled for Saturday, January 30. Sonny Roye's Collegians will play for the Rec Hall event, and Ruth M. Storer '44, WSGA president, urged all coeds to attend.

WSGA Junior Service Board and Cwens, sophomore women's activities honorary, will sponsor a coffee hour for freshman and transfer women in southwest lounge, Atherton Hall, at 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Saturday, April 10, was set by Senate as the tentative date for the annual Mother's Day celebration, which will feature the Panhellenic Sing and a special chapel service.

As a part of the physical fitness program, WRA will conduct 15-minute exercise periods in dormitory halls during noisy hour, it was revealed.

Miss Storer announced that 71 coeds were present at the semester's first surgical dressings class Thursday night, and stressed the need for continued cooperation in this phase of war work.

Miss Diener, speaker of the House of Representatives, appointed four coeds to serve on a nutrition committee, whose aim will be to help make women nutrition-conscious. The committee includes Ann C. Nicholson '44, Mary T. Pickering '45, Miriam R. Ramsey '45, and Ann Sheffield '45.

Lehigh Chem Professor Lists Words Commonly Misspelled by Students

Unfortunate chemistry students who have trouble with spelling have provided Harold V. Anderson, chemistry professor at Lehigh University, with a hobby that he has pursued for 15 years, according to Associate Collegiate Press.

Anderson has taken time off from marking reports and test papers to compile a list of frequently misspelled words. Heading the group is "nucleus" which has been spelled incorrectly hundreds of times, and twisted around in 61 different ways. Most common among incorrect forms are such spellings as "nucelous," "nucleous," "neclueous," "nuclues," and even "neuculus."

Other sticklers on Anderson's list are separate, dissolve, precipitate, soluble, and molecule.

Home Gardens Used

Home vegetable gardens will be used more extensively in 1943, according to Dr. W. B. Mack, head of the department of horticulture. Dr. Mack, who is executive secretary of the Advisory Victory Garden Committee of the Pennsylvania State Council of Defense, estimated that Pennsylvania home gardeners produced $12,000,000 worth of food last year.

Urges Attendance

Ruth M. Storer '44, WSGA president, last night urged all coeds to attend the annual WSGA dance in Recreation Hall, Saturday, January 30. Sonny Roye's Collegians will provide music for the affair.

PSCA to Provide Entertainment, Dance For Ensigns Friday

An informal dance, sponsored by PSCA, will be given at the Nittany Liono Inn from 9 to 12 p. m. Friday for naval ensigns at the College.

Lieut. Com. J. H. Smith, Dean Ray and Dean Warnock will be the program speakers. Forty-three women from women's dormitories will take part in the affair, serving as hostesses.

A varied program of entertainment will be presented before the dancing. The "Honey Boys," harmony quartet, Kathryn Popp, impersonator of past Thespian productions, and Miriam Rhein, songstress, will provide the entertainment for the evening.

The program, originated to provide entertainment for the naval ensigns, is under the direction of co-chairman Dan Gillespie and Phyllis aWitkins.

Harriet Block will be in charge of the hostesses, while Hattie Van Riper is supervisor of the program. Marjorie Shultz will be in charge of the refreshments. Ensign Arden Johnson is the ensigns' representative on the committee.

A similar affair will be provided when the Curtiss-Wright girls arrive on the campus.

Societies Donate

Briner, committee chairman, expressed the hope that more contributions will be made for the drawing, thereby increasing interest in the project.

67 Bottles Will Collect Infantile Paralysis Funds

In cooperation with the national "March of Dimes" campaign, the College may make its contribution through a plan organized by Mildred B. Rubin '46, who was inspired to work for this cause after having recovered from infantile paralysis.

A resident of New York, Miss Rubin was impressed by that state's system for supporting the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. A booth equipped with a series of bottles representing every state was set up at New York City's Times Square, thus giving out-of-state people an opportunity to do their part.

A booth comparable to this and set up by Miss Rubin will be situated in front of the Corner Room beginning Monday, Jan. 25. In this instance, however, there will be a bottle for each of Pennsylvania's 67 counties.

Sixty students have volunteered to receive these donations which may be made between 9 a. m. and 9 p. m. from Sunday through Thursday, and from 9 a. m. until 11 p. m. on Friday and Saturday.

Letters containing information about the drive and requesting support have been sent to all campus social organizations.

Miss Rubin stated, "Emphasis on this program is needed now since war problems might overshadow this particular charity."

The nation-wide campaign, which began Jan. 1, will be climaxed by the President's birthday celebrations at dances held annually in conjunction with the drive.

Started several years ago by radio comedian Eddie Cantor, the "March of Dimes" campaign has furnished funds to send needy infantile paralysis victims to the President's Warm Springs Foundation in Warm Springs, Ga. Here they are able to return to health under the most favorable conditions.

Home Ec Director Writes Book About Family Relationships

In keeping with the trend for greater emphasis on modern problems of marriage and family adjustment, Dr. Laura W. Drummond, director and professor of Home Economics, has written a book entitled "Youth and Instruction in Marriage and Family Living."

Dr. Drummond's book was written in partial fulfillment of requirements for her Ph. D. degree. It is a dissertation on problems concerning pre-marital, marital and family relationships. Questionnaires soliciting anonymous free response suggestions, a personal data form, and a check list of questions proposed for discussion were developed for use at both Penn State and Temple University.

Youth is receiving more attention through college courses than ever before, Dr. Drummond stated. She referred to a reference written by Miss E. M. Barchfeld who received her M. A. degree at the college during the summer semester, titled "A Study of Instruction Concerning the Family in colleges and universities in 1935-36 and 1941-42."

Miss Barchfeld points out that 401 marriage courses were offered in colleges in the United States in 1941-42. According to this study the ratio of these courses is three women to two men. Three fourths of the courses were offered by the sociology departments.

Dr. Drummond asserted that members of the committee, Professors Helen Judy-Bond, Lyman Bryson, and Helen M. Walker were of special assistance to her in writing the book. Dr. Drummond is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and received her Ph.D. at Columbia University.

Drummond To Head Committee In Chicago

At a joint meeting of three committees of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities in Chicago Saturday, Dr. Laura W. Drummond, professor and director of home economics, will serve as chairman of the committee on instruction in Home Economics.

The purpose of this nation wide meeting is to work on proposals for programs of specific training for war service, especially in fields of Agriculture and Home Economics at all levels of technical competence from farm labor to agriculture and rural leadership.

Other committees will discuss college organization and policy and instruction in Agriculture.

Book Exchange Money

Students who have not, as yet, picked up their books or any money that they have coming to them from the Student Book Exchange, which closed on January 13, may pick them up at Student Union any time this week, according to Harry C. Coleman '44, director.

Sororities, Dorms Hold Tournaments

Two games in Tournament A of the WRA badminton matches were played yesterday afternoon and the first three games in Tournament B came off last night.

In Tournament A the Alpha Omicron Pi team, consisting of Peggy Lou Chapman and Joan Miller, gained three points over Marie Weiss and Barbara Cooper, Alpha Xi Delta, by winning both their singles and doubles matches.

Also in Tournament A, Florence Rothman, of the Ath east team, lost to Connie Reddig, Zeta Tau Alpha, while Martha Haverstock, Ath east, defeated June Conrad, Zeta. The Zeta team chalked up a second point for their side by winning the doubles.

The other three games played yesterday were in Tournament B: Marilyn Kindl and Patricia Doherty, playing for Kappa Kappa Gamma, were the victors in all three of their games against Vera Gorden and Clara Morrison of the Jvvin team.

Alpha Chio's Priscilla Wagner and Mary Grace Longnecker, won both their singles and doubles games against Ruth Ann Richards and Babs Kaiser, of the Grange team; while Annamae Mount and Priscilla Cobb, Alpha Omicron Pi's, lost all three of their games to Nancy Ferris and Janet Shaffer, of the combined Mac-Women's team.

In games played earlier in the week, the Thetas defeated the Theta Phi Alpha team, and the Kappa players lost their games to Chi Omega.

The badminton matches, which will continue for another two weeks, are being played in a double elimination tournament, which means that each team must be defeated in two games before they are eliminated. The final match will be played between the winning teams in each tournament. For this reason a team that has been scheduled for one tournament cannot play any of its games in the other.

Home Ec Club Initiates Twenty-one Members

Twenty-one new members were initiated into the Home Economics Club last night. Junior members are Aida L. Judson and Helen A. Wahl sophomores, Dorothy G. Beachley, Mary Jane Hoskins, Helen G. McColgin, and Margaret D. Wiley.

Freshmen are Louise N. Dunclel, Vivian F. Geywitz, Hazel M. Grimm, Charlotte I. Martin, Mary Jane Mickey, Vivian J. Mylin, Norma Poster, Susanne J. Reed, Verna D. Rothermel, Phyllis E. Scherr, Caroline Smith, Rosine Stauffer, Eleanor N. Sterner, and Gladys H. Wickham.

Refreshments were served by the social committee, headed by chairman Patricia A. Middleton. Other committee members were Miriam I. Mevers '46, Ferné Mountz '46, Sara Jane Reish '46, Martha Mae Turner '46, and Ferné Willon '46.

Collegian Meeting

An important meeting of both freshman men and women editorial staffs with members of the junior editorial board will be held in Room 8 Carnegie Hall at 4 p. m. this afternoon. It is vital that all members attend to hear new plans for re-organization.
