Trustees Pledge War Support at Bi-Yearly Meeting

Accelerated Program Ratified by Board

Meeting with Governor Martin for the first time, the College Board of Trustees reaffirmed Penn State's policy of supporting the war measures of the State and the Nation at its semi-annual meeting in Harrisburg Saturday afternoon.

Twenty-nine of the Board's 32 members were present, including Miles Horst '14, new State Secretary of Agriculture, and the two new trustees elected last June—M. J. Grimes, of Catawissa, and J. A. Boak, of New Castle.

The Trustees pledged to Governor Martin and the members of his administration "the full cooperation of the College to the end that this great Commonwealth shall perform its full part in the winning of the war and the establishment of a wise and lasting peace."

An accelerated program of instruction, as submitted by the College Senate, was ratified with the understanding that such adjustments might be made from time to time as may appear advisable. This calendar was approved through the Spring semester of 1944, ending on May 26, 1944.

It was voted to establish a professional degree of master of forestry as recommended by the graduate faculty and the Senate.

All present officers, including the executive committee, were re-elected. They included: J. Franklin Shields, of Philadelphia, president; Vance C. McCormick, of Harrisburg, vice-president; President Ralph D. Hetzel, secretary; and S. K. Hostetter, treasurer.

Dramatics Fraternity To Publish First Issue Of National Magazine

Pennsylvania Gamma of Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatics honorary fraternity, is one of three chapters selected to inaugurate the regular publication of "Theta Alpha Phi Field Notes," the fraternity's national magazine.

The three chapters selected were chosen from the eastern, central, and western divisions. Materials may be chosen from all possible sources, including other chapters of the fraternity.

To climax the year, the three chapters' issues will be rated for best issues and will be awarded scholarships. These awards will amount to $150, $100, and $50 for the first, second, and third best publications respectively.

A chapter winning one of the three places shall have the privilege of awarding the scholarship to any member of its chapter. The student receiving the scholarship shall have the opportunity of using it at any school of his choice. The scholarship, however, can be used for the payment of fees only.

Penn State chapter's magazine will be published in February, with the contributions of the other two chapters following in March and April.

Milton Dolinger '44 as editor of the Penn State "Field Notes" will be assisted by Gordon L. Fiske '44, Robert H. Herrman '44, Marion J. Reynolds '44, and Beryl Berney '46.

No Driving

Robert M. Faloon, president of the senior class, who heads the All-College Cabinet committee on banning of student driving. Faloon was appointed a week ago to investigate the matter and was behind the student driving ban last night.

LA Deadline Extended

Deadline for submitting petitions for nomination to the Liberal Arts Council has been extended until 3 p. m. tomorrow, according to Richard B. McNaull, president of the LA Council. McNaull urged women to gather the necessary 25 signatures for nomination to insure a more representative group.

Ninety Per Cent of Male Students Enlisted in Reserves, Hetzel States

Approximately 90 per cent of the male student body at the Pennsylvania State College are enrolled in the Army Reserves or in some other highly specialized war training program, President Ralph D. Hetzel reported to the College

Cabinet Bans All Student Driving; Changes Calendar

Ban of all student driving in State College will go into effect February 1, according to a ruling passed by All-College Cabinet last night. Student Tribunal will hand out punishments, which may include expulsion from the College, to violators reported by the local rationing board.

Subdivision to the ban includes punishment of students who, without the permission of the State College ration board, return to College with their cars following the termination of the spring vacation March 10.

Passage of this ruling was enacted by members of the Cabinet after Ray V. Watkins, head of the local ration board, presented facts concerning the seriousness of the gasoline shortage in 17 eastern states.

At the same time a suggestion was made by a Cabinet member for the faculty to comply to the ruling.

William M. Briner '44, head of the Victory Raffle committee, reported the success of the project to the Cabinet members. A total of $232.45 in War Stamps was sold at last Saturday night's raffle. The program will be again presented during the Penn State-Pitt game scheduled for February 20, and may be sponsored by the College hat societies, Briner reported.

The third Victory Raffle is scheduled for the Lion-Wisconsin boxing matches March 13.

Reports of the Book Exchange project revealed a loss of $6. Harry C. Coleman '44, chairman of the exchange, was thanked by Cabinet for his work. Cabinet

Abe Lincoln Theme Replaces 'Sweethearts' In Collegian Dance Plans

"Lincoln's Birthday Ball" will be the name of this year's Daily Collegian dance to be held on February 12, according to Phillip P. Mitchell '44, Business Manager of the Daily Collegian.

Originally given as a bonus to Collegian subscribers, this year's dance will have an admission price of $.55 a couple for Collegian subscribers and $1.10 for others. The entire proceeds of the evening will be spent to send the Daily Collegian to Penn State men in service.

The dance was originally scheduled as a "Sweetheart Dance" for February 13, but was moved back to Lincoln's birthday in order to have a patriotic theme.

Music will be furnished by two of the campus' best bands, George Wasko's "Campus Owls" and Les Stein's "Penn State Aristocrats," in a "Battle of Bands" from 9 p. m. to midnight.

Always one of the highlights of social calendar, this year's Collegian dance promises to be one of the best yet.

Tickets may be purchased from Collegian solicitors, Student Union or at the Collegian office anytime.

Collegian subscribers should bring along their subscription receipts in order to take advantage of the special price of $.55 a couple.

Further details of the dance will be announced in the Daily Collegian soon.

Music Honorary to Meet

There will be a business meeting of the Louise Homer Club, women's music honorary, in 201 Carnegie Hall at 7 p. m. tomorrow, according to Eleanor V. Crawley '43, president. Entertainment under the direction of Prof. G. William Henninger, assistant professor of music, will follow.

Coleman Urges Seniors to Have Pictures Taken

Shortages of Photos May Stop Publication

"There is a distinct possibility that there won't be any LaVie this year if the seniors don't report at the requested time," was the comment made by Harry C. Coleman '44, LaVie editor.

Under the present plan, the seniors are notified by post card of the time they are supposed to report to the Penn State Photo Shop for their yearbook picture. Many of the seniors fail to show up on the day designated, let alone the hour requested.

Since the accelerated program requires that the book be put out in one semester instead of two and that it function on a budget that allows for only seven semesters' fees instead of eight, it is highly important that the book is not delayed or new expenses created.

One whole week of picture taking has been completed and almost 50 per cent of those sent cards have not shown up for their photos. These persons will be notified again by post card under the new plan inaugurated by Coleman's staff and if they do not show up at that time they will receive a yearbook that does not contain their picture.

"If the time for your photograph conflicts with a class hour, take your post card to class and ask to be excused. The professors have been quite cooperative with the LaVie staff," Coleman commented.

Only with the utmost cooperation on the part of seniors and others to be called in the near future for their LaVie pictures will the book be able to be published sometime next semester. In case those entitled to a book are not here next semester it will be mailed to their homes.

Another hitch in LaVie plans
