

Bowling Intramurals Scheduled This Week

WRA bowling intramurals start Monday, under the direction of Doris Jean Reichenbach, physical education graduate assistant, and members of the bowling club, Rebecca J. Walker '46, publicity chairman of the club, announced yesterday.

Coeds may sign up on dormitory and sorority teams, consisting of five players each. Each entrant will bowl one line, alternating the alleys so as to eliminate alley advantages. Individual scores will be tallied and recorded according to teams.

On Monday the Theta Phi Alpha team bowled a total of 429 points against Gamma Phi Beta's 258, but the match was uneven because only three women were on the losing team, instead of the usual five.

Scores for Gamma Phi Beta were 101, Ruth Thomas; 96, A. Jane Bollinger; and 61, Skip Ramaley. On the Theta Phi Alpha team individual tallies were 151, Virginia Murphy; 121, Mary Eber; 68, Pearl Trapani; 54, Rachel Bendetti; and 35, Nancy Carastro.

Ath east rolled up a score of 604 against the four-man Delta Gamma team, which made 370. For Ath east the scores were 158, Annette Keefer; 147, Betty Fletcher; 120, Martha Haverstick; 95, Florence Rothman; and 84, Adele Levin. Delta Gamma points were 116, Skipper Funk; 100, Sally Howard; 80, Betty Cresswell; and 74, Peggy Coe.

Bowling intramurals are scheduled for the rest of the week, but the alleys will be open for regular use by all coeds at the following hours:

Monday—6:30-8:30 p.m.
Tuesday—6:30-8:30 p.m.
Friday—4-5:15 p.m.; 6:30-9 p.m.
Saturday—7-10 p.m.

'March of Dimes' Nets $125 in Two Days

"The 'March of Dimes' campaign started here is progressing very well," according to Mildred B. Rubin '46, chairman of the infantile paralysis drive.

Total receipts collected within two days amount to $125.

The theme of the drive correlates with the National program started by President Roosevelt which will continue until January 31.

The National Foundation for the Cure of Infantile Paralysis will be the recipient of all contributions.

We, The Women Don't Be a Bottleneck

With a campaign started in front of the Corner Room Monday, a "march" becomes a "race" for the first time.

This time, students representing the several states are vying in the "March of Dimes" campaign to aid infantile paralysis victims. And all because one frosh got a good idea.

Following a pattern of collection which she saw being used on Times Square, she has a number of bottles set up on a table on College avenue. Each state from our vicinity is represented while another bottle receives donations for foreign countries.

Last night, New Jersey and Pennsylvania were ahead in the race. Others were filling up, but sparsely.

The race is unimportant; it's the march that counts.

It makes little difference whether the money is in the particular bottle that it should be; if it's in a bottle on that table or in an envelope to be sent to national collectors, everything's o.k.

Dig out those dimes and don't be a bottleneck!

If you aren't going to write enough letters to service men, you've got to send them something to read. And a nation-wide victory book campaign will help you do just that.

That box down in front of the Corner is being passed up too many times by persons who have loads of books on their library shelves; it's being passed by a number of persons who talk about civilian defense and how there's nothing to do on the home front.

Coeds pass it by who feel that they aren't of any value going to school and who say continually that they want to help. That victory receptacle is being snubbed by the very ones who complain about the community's failure as well as that of the College to realize the war situation and their parts in it.

Unlike a lot of other opportunities, that box for books will be there "when you pass again that way," so start collecting those volumes.

Child Care Courses Planned For Spring; All Women Eligible

"All women interested in volunteer or paid work regarding child care are eligible for two courses to be offered by the College in the spring," Mrs. Marion S. McDowell, associate professor of home economics, announced last evening.

One of the courses, to run from March 11 to 31, will deal with the guidance and care of children. The other, on the administration of child care centers, will be given from April 1 to 21.

The purpose of the new courses is to train personnel to care for the children of women defense workers. Attention will be directed to behavior and emotional problems of the child and their daily routine of living.

Plans for the training courses at Penn State have been approved by the State Advisory Committee on the Care of Children in Wartime.

Mrs. McDowell also stated that another related course will be announced near the end of February.

Delta Gamma will hold an informal party for Acacia tonight at the Delta Gamma house.

Magargel Announces

Marjorie A. Magargel '44, president of IWA, announced Monday that IWA would have its next record dance in Atherton Hall playroom, 9 p.m. to midnight Friday night.

Two Badminton Teams Default Matches

Ath East and Delta Gamma badminton teams won their matches in Tournament A when their opponents, Alpha Xi Delta and Grange, defaulted by not appearing when scheduled.

Also in Tournament A, Caroline Crooks and Peggy Northrup, playing for Ath West, won a straight victory against Chio's Lois Miller and Marjorie Hazlett.

Another three points went to Zeta Tau Alpha when June Conrad and Connie Reddig defeated Peggy Lou Chapman and Mary Fransen, playing for Alpha Omicron Pi.

Alpha Chio's Priscilla Wagner and Sue Sickler won their Tournament B match against Lois Lunn and Anna-Grace Sampson, Chi Omega.

Second game in Tournament B was a hard-fought match in which Kappas Marilyn Kindl and Pat Dohrenwend gained two out of three points against the Delta Gamma team of Allene Babbitt and Joan Wolfe.

At The Movies

CATHAUM—"Casablanca."
STATE—"Over My Dead Body."
NITTANY—"Gone With The Wind."

IWA Plans Record Dance Friday Night

Plans for IWA's fourth record dance, which will be held in Atherton Hall playroom from 9 p.m. to midnight Friday night, were completed at the IWA meeting Monday night, Marjorie A. Magargel '44, president of IWA, announced.

Price of admission will remain ten cents as at previous dances, and there will be an added attraction of refreshments at this dance.

Co-chairmen of the dance committee are Norma R. Stern '44 and Florence A. Porter '46. Committee members are Ruth Wachs '44, Barbara Kaiser '45, Betty J. Luchtemeyer '45, and Marjorie J. Blackwood '46.

Plans for an overnight cabin party on February 6-7 were also discussed at the meeting. The party, while it is sponsored by IWA, is open to all coeds. Coeds who are interested may either sign up at the White Hall bulletin board or get in touch with Martha J. Haverstick '43, chairman in charge of the cabin party.

Members of Miss Haverstick's committee are Hedda Gordon '44, Sydney H. Rivenburg '44, Sarah E. Etter '45, and Sara E. Pollard '46.

Elections in dormitories where there are ten or more independent women and where the former representatives to IWA have graduated will be held Monday evening, February 1, Miss Magargel stated.

Special Dairy Training Offered by Ag School

At the request of the Farm Security Administration and the United States Employment Service, the School of Agriculture will offer a special two-weeks training course for men and women who wish to work on Pennsylvania dairy farms.

A group of 50 men and women will report February 4 for training, while other groups are expected to follow. These students have been recruited from different parts of the state for the training.

ZTA Pledges Two

Zeta Tau Alpha pledged Dorothy V. Dickinson '44 and Rosemary Smith '46 Sunday, January 24, according to Connie M. Reddig '44, president.

The sorority also purchased two one hundred dollar war bonds.
