

Swimmers In Season Finale This Afternoon With Rutgers

Penn State's swimming lineup will be dotted with several new faces this afternoon, when they plunge to their season's finale against a twice-beaten Rutgers squad in Glenland Pool at 2 p. m.

Coach Bob Galbraith expects the squad to regain most of the strength lost over the recent flu epidemic, but it will be without the services of star breaststroker, Walt Juve, who left school two days ago for active service with the army ski troops.

Substituting for Juve will be Warner, who teams up with Grossman, the Lion regular man in that event.

In the 300-yard medley relay, Galbraith will have his backstroking champ, Bobby Cowell, pairing off with Grossman and Dave Miller, a regular freestyler.

Bill Christy has been discharged from the College hospital following his sickness, and will be ready to meet the gun in the 50-yard freestyle race. Chovet will be the second Nittany man to enter this event.

If Christy is able to see action in the 400-yard event, he may be used, but all possibilities point to the selection of a two-man team consisting of Herb Hirschfeld and Carl Stokes for this race. Hirschfeld has been the regular Lion starter in the 100-yard freestyle for several weeks, and took a dead heat for second honors in the Temple meet on Wednesday.

Unbeaten Rocky Young will meet Rutgers' intercollegiate diving champ, in what may prove the closest springboard event in the local pool this season. Becket will be the other Lion to see action in the fancy dive competition.

Another close event will be the race between the 150-yard backstrokers. Penn State will again start its Eastern champ, Bobby Cowell, together with Bob Kaithern, while the New Jersey team is expected to rely on Siegel, the holder of 1:40.9 time.

Iron Man Don Knoll will attempt to splash to victories in both the 220- and 440-yard freestyle races, as he did on Wednesday against the Temple Owls, but will be seriously hampered by the standout of the Rutgers squad, Jerry Levin.

Dick Wesner is the remaining Nittany choice for the 220-yard spot, while Goodman, second place winner in the Temple meet, will start with Knoll in the 440-yard event.

Coach Galbraith has refrained from naming a definite relay team for the 400-yard race, which is the final event of the meet, and will not do so until all other winners have been decided.

The Lion mentor said, however,

Hetzel Estimates New Semester Enrollment

(Continued from Page One) upon the closing of contracts with the federal agencies concerned. I feel, however, that there is every reason to believe that the groups included in the total estimates for the summer enrollment will be sent to the College. Furthermore, it is possible," Hetzel said, "that before summer is over, additional service men may be brought to the campus.

"Since the normal capacity of the College for teaching and the facilities of the campus and the community for housing generally carry a load in the neighborhood of 6500, there is no question as to our ability to carry a much larger program than is anticipated, if it becomes necessary.

"According to the present plans, it is expected that the Army Air Corps contingent of 500 will report about April 1. This will be followed by 500 advanced Army engineering students about April 5. It is possible, however, that the actual instructional program for this group will not start until April 12.

"No definite date has been set for the Naval contingent, but it is probable that this detachment will be ready to commence work about July 1.

"The regular work of the summer sessions will be carried forward as usual."

Blue and White Arrive at Point For Gym Match

Cadets-Seek to Extend Jinx Over Lion Squad

(Special to The Collegian) WEST POINT, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Coach Wettstone and 11 Lion gymnasts arrived here late today in time for a light workout in preparation for their meet with Army tomorrow afternoon.

Both teams are at full strength and the match should find both squads in top form for the competition. The Cadets, undefeated on home grounds since 1932 when Navy turned the trick, will present a team exceptionally strong on the ropes. Their tumbling, however, is not expected to be up to par and the Blue and White has an advantage in this event.

Each Has Won Two

So far this season, both gymnastic squads have captured two matches, although the soldiers have lost a meet to Temple while the Lions have yet to taste defeat. Last week the Blue and White toppled Indiana, 13 to 2, while the Cadets disposed of the Hoosier squad by a 12 to 3 count. Penn State's advantage, however, is slight when the past records of Army are taken into consideration.

Last year the Lions came from the Point with a 27-27 tie, the best that they have been able to garner against Army for the past several seasons.

Greenly Replaces Sorenson

Only change in the Penn State lineup will find Greenly replacing Sorenson on the side horse. This will be Greenly's first appearance in a gymnastic meet for the current season.

Others in the starting lineup for the Lions include Bordo, Sorenson and Lebow on the horizontal bar; Teti, Smith and Bordo on the p-bar; Greenly, Teti and Small on the horse; Small, Sorenson and Bonsall on the rings; Wirtschaffer, Young and Lebow on the rope climbing event; and Bonsall, Frey and Meade on the mats.

Small on Streak

Toth, Army side horse specialist, will be striving to topple Small from the list of the undefeated in side horse competition.

McGee on the ropes, Watkins on the rings, Schatz and Reed on the h-bar, and M. Martin on the mats will carry the brunt of the attack for the Cadets.

The Lions, with one of their best balanced squads in recent years, will be out to extend their win streak to three victories and to defend their league title.

Meet Temple Next

Temple will play host to the Nittany Lions at Philadelphia next Saturday in a match that promises to be one of the best for both squads. The Blue and White will then move to Rec Hall where they will entertain league members in the Eastern Intercollegiate Championships scheduled for March 13.

Tomorrow's meet was originally scheduled for Rec Hall, but the Cadets were forced off the road by recent transportation difficulties and rescheduled the match for the Point.

balance in the fourth division as Bell AC, Allen Co-op, and Fairmont Hall fight for the right to enter Independent playoffs.

Bell AC, for a time eliminated, moved back into the race to vie for playoff honors when Allen Co-op suffered its first defeat. The AC's have plenty of power in Manager Herb Wolfe, who excels as a passer although he is also good at swishing them through the hoop. Allen Co-op and Fairmont Hall present good lineups to complete the trio that will battle for the elimination of one of its members.

The highly favored Vagabonds are a sure bet in league one. They have a powerhouse in the combination of Risteen, Teuler and Ed-

Wrestlers End Dual Meet Season Tonight Against Undefeated Lehigh

In the only varsity athletic match of the evening, Penn State's wrestling team will meet the undefeated grappling squad of Lehigh University in Rec Hall at 8 o'clock tonight. The meet was to be held in conjunction with the varsity boxing matches against Bucknell. However, Bucknell informed athletic officials earlier this week that they would be unable to compete against Leo Houck's pugilists, therefore cancelling the matches.

Tonight's meet will complete the Lions' home wrestling season and will be the last dual meet of the 1943 campaign. The intercollegiate will be held in Philadelphia March 12 and 13.

Coach Paul Campbell, who earlier this week predicted a very close meet against the unbeaten Engineer squad, will start his regular lineup with only two changes, in the 155-pound spot and in the 175-pound class. At 155, Gardner Lindzey will return to his position which he has alternated with Charlie Dipner at 155. In the 175 division, Warren Conrad, who has been out since the Princeton meet in which he suffered an injury, will return for the Lions at that spot.

The respective matches as they will be held tonight will be as follows:

121—Kryder Mattern (PS) will meet Sheridan Bannon (L).

128—Charlie Ridenour (PS) will meet Bob DeLong (L).

136—Sam Harry (PS) will meet Roy Zackey (L).

145—Al Crabtree (PS) will meet Ken Swayne (L).

155—Gardner Lindzey (PS) will meet Bob Bird (L).

165—Fred Reeve (PS) will meet Johnny Stockbridge (L).

175—Warren Conrad (PS) will meet Whit Snyder (L).

Heavyweight—Bob Morgan (PS) will meet Reed Fulton (L).

Outstanding bouts to watch in tonight's performances will be in the 128, 136, 165, and heavyweight divisions. In the 128 division Lehigh boasts the services of Bob DeLong who has not lost a match thus far this year. He fought to a draw against his Penn opponent last weekend.

At 136, the Engineers' Roy Zackey has lost only one meet this season, to his opponent from Penn. The same is true of Captain Johnny Stockbridge in the 165 bracket.

Reed Fulton, Lehigh's new heavy, who wrestled for the first time against Penn, defeated his opponent with a body press in 5:59. Fulton should offer State's Bob Morgan heavy competition.

If the Lions win tonight's bouts, they will complete the season with four wins, one loss and one tie. If Lehigh emerges victor this evening, they will have beaten six teams in succession: Syracuse, Cornell, Indiana, Yale, Penn, and Penn State.

Eight Grapplers Reach IM Finals

Eight IM grapplers wrestled their way to the finals Thursday night as eliminations proceeded to bring the outstanding fraternity matmen into All-College recognition.

Phil Mitchell, 128-pounder from Alpha Chi Rho, by his victory over Stokes of Sigma Chi, was advanced to the final rounds and will meet the winner of a match between Nickelson of Sigma Pi and Shibley of Alpha Chi Sigma.

In the 121-pound class Buchait of Phi Delta Theta threw Gallo-way of Alpha Chi Rho, and Hesley of Pi Kappa Phi overcame Fortunato of Phi Delta Theta. These two will meet to determine the winner in that class.

In four semi-final bouts, Harrington of Phi Sigma Kappa, Maxwell of Alpha Chi Rho, Kimble of Phi Kappa Sigma, and Lambano of Phi Kappa Sigma scored victories and will match each other in the finals.

Also in the semi-final stage, the 145-pound class saw Rubright of Alpha Gamma Rho down IM manager Gene Snedeker of Beaver House. Other victories saw Kurtz of Sigma Pi throw Eisenart of Sigma Nu and Flenner of Sigma Pi to score wins.

In the 155-pound finals, Larson of Alpha Chi Sigma felled McConnell of Sigma Nu and will meet the winner of a bout between Masseth of Sigma Nu and Faylor of Sigma Chi.

Going into the 165-pound finals, Raymond of Phi Kappa Sigma was overcome by Ludes of Delta Upsilon and will be matched with the winner in a bout between Gotwals of Sigma Pi and Biting of Alpha Gamma Rho.

Good of Phi Kappa Sigma downed Hartzell of the Penn State Club in the 175-pound category to meet the victor in the Alpha Chi Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon match between Baster and Brooks.

The heavyweight division will see Maddy of Alpha Gamma Rho meet Major of Sigma Alpha Epsilon in the finals of that class.

wards. Fletcher House, paced in most of its games by Anderson, comprises the other team in league one.

The Lions Den, with its football players that turned into basketballers, look good in the second independent division. Although they lost one of their best players in Bucky Walters they exist as a formidable threat to other teams of the league. The Podunk Prep quintet rounds out the leaders in the second league.

Leading division No. 3 are Grubersville JV's along with the Ingleside club. The JV's look good with a fellow by the name of Dietrich who keeps tossing them in the basket from all angles. The Ingleside club has a good passer in Piontek who has been sparking the team to its string of victims.

Well organized by Manager Reinheimer, IM basketball has built up much interest in the student body as well as those who participated in the games.
