OF THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE

VOL. 41—No. 5466

SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 13, 1943, STATE COLLEGE, PA.

PRICE: THREE CENTS

Final Raffle Offers 4 Awards to Fans At Boxing Matches

Gloves or Basketball Will Be Main Prize

Winner of the main prize at the final Victory Raffle tonight will have the choice of any set of boxing gloves used in the Penn State-Wisconsin mitt matches or the basketball used during the Lion-Georgetown cage game last week.

Three other prizes on the program will be two $5 credit slips donated by Jack Harper and Kalin's, and two dancing class tickets contributed by Penn State Club.

Sports fans will have an opportunity to win any of the awards by purchasing War Stamps at or prior to the start of the bouts. One raffle ticket will be supplied to buyers of a 25-cent War Stamp, and three chances for the awards will be given with the purchase of 50 cents in stamps.

Drawing for the awards of Victory Raffle, sponsored by All-College Cabinet, will take place just before the last bout.

Stamps will be sold by Mortar Board and Cwens this afternoon at the Corner Room and gymnasium meet at Rec Hall. Tonight the sale will be conducted at the main floor and balcony entrances to Rec Hall.

Barbara Painter, Peggy Good, Grace-Judge and Dorothy Brunner will sell stamps at Rec Hall this afternoon, while Florenne Jaffy, Nancy Gosser, Dotty Jones, Adele Levine, Fran Angle, Marion Dougherty, and Ann Carruthers will conduct the sale at the Corner Room.

Gloria Whyte, Judy McFarland, Mary Grace Longnecker, Pat Diener, Jean Ogden and Jane Cromis will sell War Stamps at Rec Hall this evening.

Sale of stamps for the past two raffles has topped the $500 mark and members of the committee will attempt to set a record with today's sale.

Tonight's raffle will be the last of its kind for the winter sports season.

LATE NEWS FLASHES!

WASHINGTON.—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden arrived in Washington last night on a special invitation extended by the American government to discuss political and economic problems relative to the post-war planning of the United Nations.

Mr. Eden, who was greeted by Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles, went immediately to the British Embassy where it was disclosed that he would confer with President Roosevelt today. A tour of American defense plants, together with a stop-over in Ontario, the Canadian capital, have been tentatively scheduled.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard stated last night that, while nothing definite had been decided upon, the meat rationing program would probably limit citizens to two pounds of meat per person per week.

BERLIN.—Seventy-four Luftwaffe planes were involved in the heaviest raid on suburban London in recent weeks, according to Berlin radio reports.

Red Cross Solicitors To Blackout Cissel Painting of Dictators

Robert M. Faloon and his corps of Red Cross solicitors will attempt to blackout a mural of Hitler, Mussolini, and Hirohito, being placed in Old Main lobby Monday morning by campus artist Bill Cissel.

Cissel has painted a large picture of the three dictators in cooperation with the War Drive started yesterday morning on campus under the leadership of the senior class prexy.

As each contribution is turned in at Student Union, a stamp will be pasted over the painting until every student in the College has made his donation. When 5000 names are turned in, the portrait will be completely submerged under a sheet of stamps, making the appearance of a Red Cross emblem.

This mural will serve as the committee's barometer of contributions, and Faloon urges all men and women on campus to make their donations in the next few days so the drive will go over the top before the allotted time is up next week.

Independent men have started to subscribe to the campaign through the headquarters at Student Union, and fraternity, sorority, and dorm representatives are in the process of contacting every member of their units.

Fraternity heads in charge of the drive in the various houses include the following men, while sorority and dorm representatives will be announced later.

Advanced ROTC Students To Go on Active Status

All Advanced ROTC students will be called to active duty within the next month, according to an announcement issued last night by Col. E. D. Ardery.

Those called will go into uniform and will receive regular Army pay plus board and room from the Army under much the same setup as the Army Specialists scheduled to arrive here soon.

The Advanced ROTC men will be able to continue in their academic work until at least the end of the present semester, Ardery stated.

The change will go into effect as soon as the Army Specialists arrive here next month.

Rehearsals For Thespians' 'Khaki-Wac-y' Announced

At last the Thespian show has a name. "Khaki-Waac-y," the 46th annual Thespian edition, will be produced April 9th and 10th in Schwab Auditorium as part of Junior-Senior Ball weekend festivities.

Complete scripts were issued to the whole cast at Thursday night's reading. Froth photographers took shots of practice sessions just before "Spring" vacation.

The "Three Stooges," Bud Mellot, Jack Hunter, and Bill Reutti, will once again hold the spotlight. With current patriotic fervor, the plot centers about a regiment of WAAC's which moves onto the Penn State campus.

Jack Lord and his Penn State Aristocrats will for the second time in as many years provide music

19 Fraternities Prepare To Evacuate; Marines To Report For Questioning

Reserves Must Outline Traveling Facilities

Marine Corps headquarters have ordered a number of College reservists to answer a series of questions relevant to transportation facilities available near their hometowns, FAWS Robert E. Galbraith announced yesterday.

Questionnaires will outline complete train and bus service which may be obtained from the various towns, so Marine officials will have a definite plan accessible when the men are called to active duty.

Students must also give their mailing addresses for latter part of June if they do not intend to return for the summer semester. The following men will report to Galbraith early next week for their questionnaires:

Macy B. Alexander, William B. Anderson Jr., Edward D. Beckman, Milton J. Bergstein, Donald W. Bretherick, Stewart H. Burns Jr., Theodore H. Cauffman, Gerard T. Chiuurazzi, Robert W. Christy, Warren S. Conrad, and Thomas J. Crocker Jr.

Frank W. Doyle, William A. Dymsha, Frederick W. Eppensteiner, Ferdinand E. Fidati, John W. Foreman, Otto P. Frey, Carl F. Gerhardt, Arthur L. Gladstone, Wade F. Gregory, James P. Griffiths Jr., John A. Grimes, Delbert D. Hamilton Jr., Howard Lee Harvey.

Cyril J. Ivory Jr., Alfred R. Jamison Jr., Sol G. Joffe, Harry F. Kern Jr., Stuart C. Kines, Franklin B. Klase, Herbert S. Kraus, John S. Leffler Jr., Ewing K. Lynn III, Thomas P. McConnell, Mathew H. McKinney Jr., Robert A. Martino, and Robert L. Miller.

Last Call for Pictures

Students who have been away for practice teaching must have their pictures taken for the 1944 La Vie by 5 p.m. Tuesday, according to Harry C. Coleman, editor. Women are requested to wear white blouses and men, white shirts.

Nineteen fraternities at Penn State, as of 10 a.m. yesterday morning, have offered their living quarters to the United States Army for housing and messing facilities for 1267 men who will arrive on campus within the next ten days or two weeks, representing 500 from the Army Air Forces, 500 for advanced engineering with the Army Specialized Training Program, and 267 advanced R.O.T.C. students now at the College who will be put in uniform beginning with the opening of the Army Specialized Training Program, according to President Ralph D. Hetzel.

PSCA Lists Rooms Available for Rent

Mimeographed lists of available rooms for rent are on file at the PSCA office in Old Main and may be secured by students who have been forced to leave their fraternities, according to PSCA officers and members of the Student Housing Board.

The lists include addresses, cost of rental, and size (single, double, apartment) of the rooms. No effort has been made, however, to rate the rooms according to desirability.

It is suggested by members of the board that local landladies who have rooms to rent place a classified advertisement in The Daily Collegian and notify the PSCA office.

This afternoon the lists will be distributed from the Collegian office in the basement of Carnegie Hall.

Artists' Course Series Presents Swarthout At Final Spring Concert

Third and final concert artist to appear on Penn State's spring artists' course will be Gladys Swarthout, noted mezzo-soprano of radio, screen and stage fame.

Miss Swarthout will give her performance in Schwab Auditorium, 8 p.m. Tuesday. She was originally scheduled for Monday, but it was believed that she could not make the trip to State College in time for the concert and a postponement until Tuesday was made to assure her appearance.

Like the other two major artists on this season's course, Miss Swarthout was a child prodigy. At 13 she pretended to be 19 and obtained a position in a Kansas City choir. Her sincerity so impressed her wealthy family that the financing of her career from that point on was never much of a problem.

As an opera prima donna Miss Swarthout not only occupies an important place at the Metropolitan, but has also participated in the Chicago and St. Louis opera seasons.

Last season she made five appearances in the title role of "Carmen," adding to the laurels already won in "Mignon," "Norma," "Sadko," "Forza del Destino," "Peter Ibbetson," "Tales of Hoffman," and "La Gioconda."

In concert, too, this gifted singer enjoys a tremendous popularity, and each season fills as many recital engagements as her other activities permit. She has made five sound films and has been a featured radio artist on many important coast-to-coast programs.

Included among the 19-fraternities that have offered their facilities to the Army are the following:

- ACACIA
- ALPHA CHI RHO
- ALPHA GAMMA RHO
- ALPHA KAPPA PI
- ALPHA TAU OMEGA
- ALPHA SIGMA PHI
- CHI PHI
- DELTA SIGMA PHI
- DELTA TAU DELTA
- DELTA UPSILON
- KAPPA DELTA RHO
- LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
- PHI EPSILON PI
- PHI KAPPA TAU
- PHI KAPPA ALPHA
- PI KAPPA PHI
- SIGMA PHI SIGMA
- THETA KAPPA PHI
- THETA XI

Asked about the housing, feeding, and instruction of the Army men, Dr. Hetzel said, "It is possible that this number (1267) will be materially increased. The War Department is now urging College officials to take additional numbers at the earliest possible date."

President Hetzel continued, "I am pleased with the response that the fraternities are making in offering their houses for the use of service men who are being sent to the College for training. Nineteen have already agreed to cooperate and I am assured by many others that they will participate. I realize that this involves a large measure of sacrifice on their part. Their cooperation is essential, however, if the College is to do its full share in this period of national emergency."

OPA Officer to Open Consumers' Conference

Consumers' problems conference sponsored by PSCA and the Home Economics department will begin Monday, featuring Dr. Clarence Schettler and Dr. Benjamin Andrews, announced Richard K. Titley and Louise A. Ritter, co-chairmen.

Dr. Schettler, College and University Specialist of Consumers' Division of the OPA, will discuss "How College Can Help in the War Effort," Alumni office, 7:30 p.m.

Following this discussion, Dr. Andrews, professor of Household Economics, Columbia University, will hold an informal forum, discussing "A Religious Outlook on Rationed Living," in the Fireside room of the Presbyterian Church, 8 p.m.

All students are invited to attend these meetings, which are sponsored for the purpose of informing students of consumers' problems facing them both now and in the future, and enabling them through this information to meet these problems successfully.

Detailed programs for Tuesday through Friday will be published in the Daily Collegian. Schedules for the entire week may be obtained in the PSCA office.
