

Letters to the Editor

Dear Woody,

In retaliation to the Collegian's attack, the townspeople's attack, and the attacks by the officials of the college, I would like to bring out a few points that have not been considered by the majority of the critics.

My purpose is not to defend the drunkenness and riotousness of the past Saturday night for we all know that it was against the policies of the Pennsylvania State College that make it respected by all who are familiar with the school. My purpose is instead to ask why it was not prevented. The administration expected something of the sort to happen, admits it, but they did nothing to prevent the occurrence. The question will now arise, "What could they have done?"

The answer is very easy and several points can be enumerated:

1. Notification—The fraternities could have been notified of the conditions at a date further removed from the time that they would have to vacate. All the fraternities should have been contacted by ONE man who was aware of all the facts and could have delivered them first hand rather than going first to the advisors and then letting them take the material back to the fraternities, with some points not wholly understood even by themselves.

2. Moving—The College could have attempted to make some sort of an arrangement for helping the fellows to move from the fraternities. Taxo service, everyone knows, is almost impossible and the hauling service just as bad. Surely the College could have made arrangements for the students to have their trunks and luggage transported by college trucks. The students would be willing to pay for the service if it were offered to them.

3. Eating—Today, 19 fraternities will be eating their last meal in their fraternity houses and everyone knows what this is going to mean to the less than adequate facilities downtown. Still the College hasn't announced any plan for using the part of the old Sandwich Shop that the Curtiss-Wright girls are not using. Nor has there been any announcement about expanding the service that the Home Economics cafeteria has been rendering. Nothing has been done!

4. Rooming—And how about rooming facilities? Yes, we've already been told there are plenty of rooms, but try to find them! Again, today the fraternities are moving out and when does the first list of available rooms become a reality—today! This doesn't leave much time. Thanks, Chamber of Commerce, it is too bad you weren't able to go to work sooner. Many of the home and apartment owners have been telling the students that their rooms are only for married couples. To this the big boys say, "You can't blame them, they have a right to take whom they want to." Sure, we agree with you, but remember what you told us? C'est la guerre, we must do many things we don't like to do!

This could go on and on by mentioning the trouble the Advanced ROTC boys are having finding rooms for two weeks and wondering what clothes they should keep up here, whether they will need blankets or not, and many other problems.

The Collegian yesterday stressed—

Hornstein Leads Nittany Cagers In Point Scoring

Lions Place Six Men In Charmed Circle

Six regulars on the 1942-43 edition of the Nittany Lion basketball team succeeded in scoring over 100 points throughout the season just concluded.

Star Lion center, Dave Hornstein led the Blue and White cagers with a total of 139 points. Hornstein was recently named on the first team of the Associated Press' All-Pennsylvania basketball team.

Larry Gent, playing at the forward position, finished second to Hornstein by only one point, landing in a total of 138 points. Larry Gent scored 59 field goals, highest on the team.

Co-captain Herk Baltimore, by scoring 16 points in the final Georgetown game, pulled into the third position only one point behind Gent with a 137 total.

Whitey Von Nieda, forward, came in fourth with a total of 130 points for the season, followed by freshman star Jack Biery with 118. Johnny Egli was the sixth to make the charmed circle with a total of 110 points scored.

By having six men over the 100 mark, the Lions proved that they were one of the best-balanced teams in the East. Not many teams can boast a starting five with point totals over the century-mark.

The individual scoring record:

	FG	Fouls	Totals
Hornstein, c	54	31-46	139
Gent, f	59	20-37	138
Baltimore, g	52	33-49	137
Von Nieda, f	53	24-40	130
Biery, f	47	24-32	118
Egli, g	41	28-46	110
Lawther, g	7	9-21	23
Beck, g	2	5-7	9
Cohen, g	2	1-3	5
Zelitch, f	0	1-1	1

Penn State's record for the season shows 15 wins against four chalked up in the lost column. Only teams to come out on the top side of the Lions were NYU, Pittsburgh, West Virginia, and Georgetown. Of these four the Lions were victorious in return games with all except NYU, who played only one game with the Lions.

The Penn State cagers scored a total of 810 points for the 19-game season which stacks up favorably with the 597 points scored by all opponents. The Lions' average per game was 42.6 to that of 31.4 for the opponents.

IM Grapplers Enter Finals Tonight

IM wrestling finalists will grapple for all college intramural championships in the eight weight divisions on Rec Hall mats beginning at 7:30 tomorrow night, according to information released last night by Gene Snedeker '44 and Jim Reifsnnyder '44, IM wrestling managers.

Starting the evening, Dick Bucheit, Phi Delta Theta, will meet Bob Hesley, Phi Kappa Phi, in the 121 pound class.

Phil Mitchell, Alpha Chi Rho, winner in the 128 pound class and scheduled to meet Ray Shibley of Alpha Chi Sigma, was forced out of the finals with a broken collar bone and will be replaced by Carl Stokes, Sigma Chi. Shibley and Stokes will grapple for the championship in that division.

Ray Maxwell, Alpha Chi Rho will meet Jake Lombana, Phi Kappa, in the 136 pound division which promises some good wrestling.

In another promise of a good exhibition, "Deacon" Kurtz of Sigma Pi will grapple with Sam Flenner, for honors in the 145 finals.

Going into the 155-pound class, Sigma Chi's Hal Faylor will match Alpha Chi Sigma's Hugo Larson for laurels in a class that has shown much competition during eliminations.

DU will clash with Sigma Pi in a match that promises a good exhibition in the 165-pound division.

Fred Ludes will grapple for DU and Jim Gotwals will represent Sigma Pi.

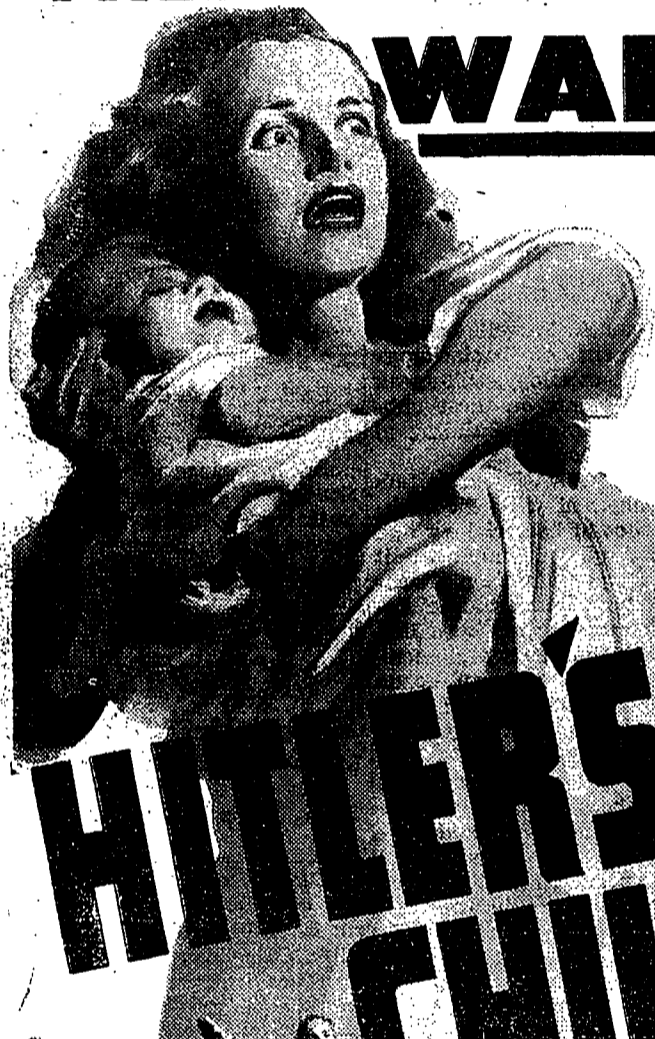

The 175 class will see finalists Bob Brooks of SAE wrestle Charlie Good of Phi Kappa Sig in one of the heavier matches.

In the heavyweight division Ken Maddy of AGR will meet George Major of SAE in the final bout of IM wrestling.

Snedeker and Reifsnnyder announced weighins for all contestants in the finals to be held today from 4:00 to 5:30 at Rec Hall. All wrestlers in the finals must be present, they said.

In team scoring Sigma Pi with 13 points leads other fraternities while Alpha Chi Sigma holds second honors with 10 points.
