

WSGA Group Gives $300 to Red Cross; 12 O'clocks to Frosh Group Cancels Plans For Mother's Weekend

When WSGA Senate voted to give $300 to the Red Cross last night, they brought to a close a meeting which had completed action on two other important campus issues, Mother's Day weekend and second semester freshman hours. Mother's Day weekend was definitely called off for this semester, and freshmen were given two twelve o'clocks a week to replace their former ten and one o'clocks over weekends.

Prior to the discussion of their contribution to the Red Cross, Patricia Diener announced that so far $172 had been given to the drive. The Senate then voted to give $300 to the drive.

Coming to the decision that Move-up Day would from now on come automatically with the beginning of the sophomore year, WSGA voted to grant second semester freshman women two twelve o'clocks each weekend to replace their former ten and one o'clocks. While permission for dating during the week was not granted, it was conceded that these coeds may date off campus until 6:30 p.m. daily.

It was emphasized, however, that these permissions were being extended only because of the improvement of freshman women's grades. Conduct in general has not shown much improvement, Marion C. Dougherty stated.

Mother's Day weekend, previously scheduled for April 17 and 18, is now definitely cancelled.

Debaters Play Hostess

(Continued from Page One) universities will send delegates to the convention at the College this weekend. Taking the form of a model Congress, the meeting will feature committee sessions, in which various bills will be introduced, and a sitting of the entire body in which plans formulated by committees will be considered and voted upon. Theme of the meeting and subject of its bills will be phases of the post-war situation.

Women representing Penn State

We Dare You To Read This; Can 1800 Women Afford To Ignore It?

(An Editorial)

Aren't you the least bit ashamed? Doesn't it mean anything to you to realize that 30 or 40 coeds are doing the job 1800 coeds owe to their brother, father or "other interest"?

Your answer is undoubtedly NO. You cannot care because you turn your head away too complacently. You are satisfied with yourself.

But what right, as any American women, do you have to ignore the requests, the pleas in fact, of men in Africa, Australia, the Solomons, Russia, England, and every fighting front in the world? You're proud of these men who are doing their duty, you say.

These same men need surgical dressings, desperately. NOW. What are you saying now?

Penn State women have ONE chance to answer these men. That opportunity to prepare surgical dressings is given to you every Thursday night. At Temple and Cornell Universities women prepare dressings every night of the week—that includes Saturday. You do not even exert your precious time enough to do it one night a week.

You are out of the real swing of this war by being tucked precious time enough to do it one night a week.

* * * * *

We dared you to read this. If you bothered you are probably one of the 30 or 40 who have continued to help make these surgical dressings. You'll come again.

If, however, you have never come to the Home Economics class room Thursday nights at 6:30 for two hours or even an hour, would you try it just once? Would you answer in Penn State's only way the men in the services? They need us and we CANNOT ignore them. —M. L. G.

Coed Enrollment Drops

A report of attendance at surgical dressing classes, held in 112 Home Economics from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. every Thursday, shows an all-time low for last week's class with 36 coeds present.

Weekly attendance has been:

|                 |      |
|-----------------|------|
| January 14      | 72   |
| January 21      | 56   |
| January 28      | 70   |
| February 4      | 61   |
| February 11     | 58   |
| February 18     | 40   |
| February 25     | 41   |
| March 11        | 36   |
| March 18        | ?    |
