

Campus Honorary To Elect Coeds Saturday Morning

Early Breakfast Marks Next Tapping Ceremony

Cwens' annual breakfast, at which the sophomore women's honorary taps freshmen who have been elected to the society, will be held at Mac Hall at 7:15, Saturday morning, Mary Grace Longnecker, president, announced last night.

First semester sophomores and second semester freshman coeds will be tapped this year, and Miss Longnecker extended a special invitation to first semester sophomores and all freshmen to attend.

In the past the Cwens breakfast has been held on Mother's Weekend, but aside from the fact that mothers will not be present this year, the ceremony will follow the usual pattern.

Outgoing Cwen members are on hand in freshman dorms at 6:45 to waken coeds. After breakfast, the newly elected members are tapped and gather in the center of the dining room to receive the traditional gray and red blazers from their predecessors.

Cwens, which is a national sophomore women's honorary, chooses its members for their leadership, scholarship and activities as evidenced during their freshman year.

Cwens who selected the new members are Ruth Clyde, Jane Cronis, Patricia Diener, Alice Drumm, Ruth Embery, Carol Erick, Peggy Good, Mary Grace Longnecker, Vivian Martin, Judy McFarland, Betsy McGee, Joan Miller, Jean Ogden, Florine Olson, Kathleen Osgood, Barbara Painter, Marjorie Schultz, Winifred Singer, Ruth Steiner, Gloria Whyel, Christine Yohe, and Miriam Zartman.

Miss Jean Richards, assistant to dean of women, is the advisor of the society.

College to Add New Courses During Summer

(Continued from Page Three) sed to teach basic courses in the history of the United States and of Pennsylvania, the College will offer two new courses during its main summer session beginning June 28.

These courses, Recent American History and Studies in Pennsylvania History, will be taught by Professor Milton W. Hamilton, head of the department of history at Albright College.

Tower Opens

Old Main Tower will be open to visitors from 7 to 9 p.m. every night and from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sundays, weather permitting, John C. Burford announced last night.

The tower has been closed by the College for several months because of vandalism on the part of students.

Cadettes, Air Corps Plan Social at Irvin Hall

Curtiss-Wright Cadettes are planning a get-together with the Air Corps cadets in Irvin Hall lounge from 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday. Cadets are invited to come as soon as the baseball game is over, according to Ruth Forrest, who is in charge of arrangements. There will be recordings for dancing, and refreshments will be served.

Sororities and independent women's groups are also entertaining the cadets on Saturday afternoon. These parties were originally planned for last Saturday but were postponed because the Air Corps men were not yet out of quarantine.

Air Corps officers will choose groups of men to go to each of the receptions. Though some of the men have leaves this weekend, the women's groups expect a good attendance.

IWA Entertains Fifty Air Corps Cadets Saturday

One hundred and forty independent women have been invited to entertain fifty of the Air Corps cadets in the first floor lounge of Old Main at 3:15 p.m. Saturday, Marjorie A. Magargel, IWA president, announces.

A carnival theme has been selected, and there will be a number of booths, with games and refreshments. All of the 33 IWA representatives will cooperate in entertaining the cadets.

IWA will also have charge of the Coca-Cola concession at Dry Dock Saturday night.

Lions' Club Entertains Independents Friday

Penn State Lions' Club, at a meeting at the Lions' Den Monday, discussed plans for an open house to be held at 9 p.m. Friday at the house. The club invites all independent men with their dates to attend. Plans for entertainment include dancing, cards, ping-pong, and various other games, and refreshments will be served.

James Redmond, IMA secretary, announced at the meeting that orders for IMA keys are now being taken. All men who want to order keys are asked to contact Mr. Redmond at the Lions' Den.

Marines Must Report-

(Continued from Page One) yesterday from Lieutenant Dean to take it: In case they are not admitted to an approved medical school they may be then qualified for transfer to V-7 and midshipman training. Failure to pass the examination does not mean that men can not continue their pre-medical or medical training, the FAWS explained.

Successful candidates for the Marines will be placed on active duty on or about July 1 as privates in the U. S. Marine Corps and assigned to colleges having a Marine Corps quota for further College work. V-1 candidates will also be called about July 1.

Ath East Scores Volleyball Win

Ath East trounced Ath West in intramural volleyball, garnering 31 points to 28 for their opponents at 9 o'clock Monday.

The victorious team was composed of McGee, Sherk, Peterson, Haverstick, Huber, Rothman, Porter and Kefer. Battling for the losers were Devling, Conner, Hodgson, V. Martin, M. Weldy, Wesiburg, Northup and Cookerly.

With All-College Sports getting under way, ten badminton contests were fought out Monday and two yesterday. Gundel defeated Huber at a score of 11 to 7, and 11 to 3; Dohrenwend won over Crooks to the tunes of 11 to 5, and 16-15; Burwell took Port, attaining 11 points in both contests against 3 and 1 for the losers; Lattimer defeated Ferris, 11-2, and 11-1; and A. Huber lost to Walker, scoring 11-5, and 11-4. Today, Ferris defeated Walker by 11-2 in both games.

Interclass softball participants will begin practices this week in Holmes Field at 4 o'clock today and from 4 to 6:30 Thursday, if weather permits.

Aiming at "lots of fun" and a silver trophy cup for the proclaimed winner, W. R. A. Swimming Club will sponsor the "Wheel of Fortune" from 7 to 8 o'clock tonight.

Teams wishing to participate may still sign up until 1 o'clock this afternoon or contact Doris Stevenson, chairman. Four to six girls comprise a team, but single entries will be accepted and assigned to a team.

The object involves a spinning wheel which stops at a chance point indicating an event for a team to do. The winner will be awarded a trophy.

This event was first introduced last fall and met with great success. It will conclude the Swimming Club's activities for this semester.

Three Months' Record Set by Babbitt, Rosser

Surgical dressings attendance records show that two coeds have not missed a single Thursday evening of bandage rolling for three months. Coeds capturing the honor are Marjorie Rosser and Alene Babbitt.

A two months' perfect record has been set by Jane Magee, Nancy Coffin, Jean Clark, and Harriete Lenker. Catherine Marcolina has missed only one meeting of the class since January.

Instructors of the class report that 1590 dressings have been completed since the drive began in the borough. One month ago class attendance was 34, last week 99 coeds attended. The all-time high was set when 120 coeds and Curtiss-Wright cadettes met in 110 Home Economics.

The women over here can help the men over there by buying the Bonds that "outfit the outfit." Remember, they give their lives.

We, The Women

Look Over the Rooms Now . . . Know What You Want Then

With the semester drawing to a quick close, with graduation coming for about 150 coeds, with the enrollment prospect of approximately 300 freshmen women, the rooming situation will once more become complicated and prominent.

Once more the floor plans of the campus dorms will be put on display, and once more, coeds will make their room changes.

The three successive nights on which upperclass women met to draw and select were headaches, even when they were necessary only one a year. Unless a lot of cooperation is afforded the staff of the dean's office, it will be more than a headache this time.

Next Monday the whole system begins. Next Monday the first set of upperclass women will meet to list room choices.

But women should start right now to look the situation over and to decide approximately where they want to live. They should use this time to find out where their friends will live and plan their hall movements now instead of when they are standing in line for the selections.

This is the time to know the dorms! This is the time to find approximate or first-choice living quarters. Then when you meet, you know what you want and if plans allow it, you can get what you want.

Although lectures are available to everyone on campus all the time, the special ones, arranged for coeds and their needs or information, should mean more than an ordinary course of study.

Added now to the almost-completed series of talks by Dr. Laura W. Drummond, director and professor of home economics, to individual talks by visitors to the College, to outstanding lectures of faculty speakers, is another to be presented this Monday.

Having attended a Washington conference last weekend, Miss Julia G. Brill, Liberal Arts School, vocational advisor to women, will discuss post-war plans for the country for any interested persons. The talk will be given to her Liberal Arts class scheduled for 121 Sparks, at 4:10 p. m.

Admittedly, coeds know little about the war, and its battles and action spots, let alone plans for the world after the Armistice. It is imperative, therefore, that they come to such lectures and discussions as this to learn and understand to a slight degree, at least, what officials of the government have in mind. * * *

With the end of the semester, student accounts will close at Student Union and Panhellenic's stamp pledges will be payable.

Not only have some fraternal groups represented on that Greek Council failed to pay last month's money, but some have not paid a cent towards the once-faithfully pledged funds. A few have trouble balancing their accounts with the government in this transaction. It would seem that their consciences would need much more than.

Although the amount of money pledged is small, it is impertinent that it be paid regularly. Otherwise the purpose for which the plan was adopted is lost.

Some groups have participated in other projects and are continuing to do so for the duration. They include such wartime activities as sponsoring refugees, needy students, and groups of needy persons.

These are commendable ways to spend money turned in by students of the sorority. But, Panhellenic should be notified if these are intended as substitutes for the original pledge.

Panhellenic's treasurer should be told if the stamps are to continue to lie in the drawers without buyers.
