

Jackie Grey Climaxes Busy Career With EIBA Crown

(Second of a Series)

Jackie Grey is one of the busiest men on campus. Not only is he All-College Prexy, head waiter at the Corner Room, and head of his own family but he also has found time to be one of Leo Houck's best boxers. Several months ago Jackie was the only Lion to return from Syracuse with an Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing title.

Looking at the 121-pound champ, one would never guess that he was a boxer and a very good one at that! Jackie is a handsome, quiet lad and looks anything but a boxer.

This year, Jack's second on the boxing team, proved to be the climax of a brilliant career that started back in Cooperstownship High School where Jack played quarterback on the football team and also captained the team in his senior year.

After a successful season in intramural boxing, Jack decided to try the boxing game and fought for Leo Houck's colors in the 121-pound division in his sophomore year.

Grey finished third in the EIBA finals that year and ended up with a season inter-collegiate record of six and three.

Taking time out from his athletic achievements to turn to politics, Jack was elected to the Sophomore and Junior class presidencies. All the while, he was working steady at The Corner.

Then came the 1943 boxing season. Jackie won four while only losing two in regular inter-collegiate matches and then went on to capture the 121 pound EIBA crown at the Syracuse finals and the Outstanding Senior Boxer trophy at the end of the season. Jack won something more important than all the crowns and titles—a wife. Emily Kelley became Mrs. J. R. Grey on Soph Hop night.

Jack is in Advanced ROTC and will leave Penn State at the conclusion of this semester.

Army Calls Karver For Training

Distance Star Unable To Run in Penn Relays

Penn State's hopes for placing in the Penn Relays, set for April 23 and 24 at Philadelphia, were shattered when it was learned that Gerry Karver, Lion star miler, received orders to report for meteorology training as soon as possible. Although Karver has not received a definite date on which he must report, it is doubtful whether he will be able to participate in the relays in the Quaker City next week.

Should the change take place immediately, Coach Conger will have to move several of his runners into key positions to fill the vacancy that will be left by Karver in three of the four relays in which the Blue and White thinclads are scheduled to run.

In the distance medley event, Dibeler and Jones are possible starters along with Cliff St. Clair. Coach Conger may rely on Curt Stone or Mac Smith to anchor the mile in this event.

There is also a possibility that St. Clair and Mitchell Williams will be moved to more prominent positions in the other relay races. With the moving up of several of the runners, others will be able to make bids for starting positions on the squad roster which Conger will take with him to Philadelphia.

Don Harris, Dave Carleton, Rufus Williams, and John Foreman are also being counted on to make bids for starting positions on any of the four relay squads.

Rufus Williams and Block are expected to take care of the 220-yard dashes in the sprint medley event. Marty Schiff, Lion dash artist, is out for the remainder of the season after being confined to bed with pneumonia recently.

With the probable loss of Karver, the Lions will not be as heavily favored in the relay events as they were previously. Fordham and New York University are banking on taking several of the prolonged races despite the fact that NYU has lost the services of its star miler, Dixon. Fordham will be strong with the speedy Nowicki doing the anchor chores for Rams.
