

Lacrossemen Tackle Navy, Johns Hopkins in Away Tilts

Penn State's lacrosse team leaves tomorrow morning on a swing through Maryland with hopes of avenging the setback handed by Johns Hopkins' experienced ten last Saturday on New Beaver Field.

The Nittany stickwielders meet the Johns Hopkins squad in Baltimore tomorrow afternoon, then grab a train for Annapolis where they face off against the Mid-Shippens Saturday afternoon.

Both teams are strong this year. Johns Hopkins took the Penn State forces to camp on their recent visit here to the tune of 11-7. Navy pulled an upset last week when they bounced the Baltimore team out of the unbeaten ranks with a 7-4 triumph.

On the rebound from the defeat at the hands of the Middies, Johns Hopkins will again put four All-Americans on the turf. Captain George Riepe and Buddy Kaestner, on defense, and Tom Zink and Henley Guild, in mid-field positions, form the nucleus of the team. Zink and Guild accounted personally for nine of the 11 Hopkins tallies in the first meeting of the squads.

18 men will make the trip, according to Nick Thiel, Lion coach. The starting ten will remain the same with the exception of Larry Faies who will start in midfield in place of George Pittenger.

On attack will be Sammy Fletcher, Tom Mitchell, and Bill Piper. Mitchell and Piper both scored two goals in the first fray along with Captain Jim Gotwals to lead the Lions in that division.

In center field Bert Sessler, Jim Gotwals and Larry Faies will be in there at the face-off while holding back line positions for the Nittany team will be regulars Bill Briner, Howie Hausner and Rock Kern. "Wild Bill" Holmback starts his second varsity game in the nets.

Rounding out the 18-man squad are Mike Milliken, defense; Dale Hamilton, Wayne Bitner, Campbell; Dick Ross, and Pittenger, midfield; and Jim Walker and Pete Johnson, attack.

The purpose of the calisthenics course is to teach the physical benefits derived from exercise, and to instruct students in the methods of organizing calisthenics programs.

Coeds who wish to participate should plan to shoot during that week and turn in their best scores to Miss Rothman.

The tournament will take the form of a Columbia Round. Four ends, each constituting six arrows, will be shot from 30, 40, and 50 yards. Coeds who qualify will receive certificates of A, B, and C ratings.

Shooting will be held in the afternoon at four o'clock and in the evening at seven o'clock; Miss Rothman stated. Curtiss-Wright Cadettes are invited to participate.

Although all students are invited to attend our Co-Rec weekend on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, May 1 and 2, special invitations have been issued to all the Curtiss-Wright Cadettes and the Air Corps Cadets, Adele Levin announced last night.

Softball, volleyball, and archery will highlight the activities to be held in front of White Hall and Holmes Field Saturday which will last from 1:30 to 5 p.m. Other games will be ping pong, table tennis, badminton and fist ball. There will be square dancing on the parking lot. Refreshments will be sold.

Lions May Meet Mules Today In First Home Game of Year

Bedenk Doubtful!

Joe Bedenk, Lion coach of baseball, was doubtful as to whether his team would meet Muhlenberg this afternoon in the season's opener on New Beaver Field. Inclement weather conditions last night may force the cancellation of their fourth straight game, but he is going to wait until 4 p.m. to make sure.

Annual Student Art Exhibit Displays Painting, Design, And Drawing Creations

Paintings, drawings and costumes created the last two semesters by over one hundred students are being displayed at the annual Student Art Exhibit in Mineral Industries building until April 30.

Students in drawing, painting, and design courses of the Division of Fine Arts have contributed their work to the event.

Climaxing the showing, John Y. Roy, assistant professor of fine arts and chairman of the committee, will discuss "The Young Artist in America" in the gallery the Thursday preceding the final day of the exhibition.

The gallery will be open today and also Tuesday until Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. after vacation.

Other members of the committee in charge of the event are A. W. Case, assistant professor of fine arts; Helen M. Savard, assistant professor of applied arts; Dorothy B. Scott, assistant in dramatics; and Eleanor Z. Willis, assistant in fine arts.

Mortar Board will begin the sale of defense stamps in the Curtiss-Wright dining commons after dinner on Thursday. Sales will continue as previously in MacAllister and Atherton.

After wading through six inches of snow, sleet, and rain for the past week, Joe Bedenk's baseballers will at last get an opportunity to shed their overshoes and don a set of spikes for the first home game of the season, when they meet Muhlenberg here at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Pitt was scheduled to play in State College on Monday, but inclement weather forced its cancellation. The week before, snow and rain were the causes of calling off contests at Annapolis against Navy, and against Temple on the New Beaver diamond.

Bedenk will start his ace hurler, Johnny Stover, in today's contest, to match the throwing arm of the Muhlenberg pitcher, Jakowlinski. On the other end of the battery, Oggie Martella will do the receiving. This duo is the combination that took the season's opener from Villanova on April 10.

The only change in the lineup will be in the center field spot, where the Lion mentor is sliding Ken Yount into Jack Burford's position. Yount shoulders plenty of power with the bat, and should give the squad a little extra punch on the firing line.

Jake Flowers, in the right field gardens, will be the leadoff man for the Nittany aggregation. The other outfielder slated to get the nod is Dale Bower, regular left fielder.

Captain Whitey Thomas leads the infield at short, and is assisted by Ray Sutherland in the hot corner, Eddie Sebastianelli at second, and Chuck McFarland on first base. It was McFarland who scored the winning run at Villanova in the twelfth inning, when Oggie Martella lined a double to center to break a five-inning tie.

Mike Wardrop and Matt McKinney may see action on the mound in addition to Stover, depending on the style batters the Muhlenberg team uses. The Mules have played but one game this year, losing to Lehigh in the opener two weeks ago. Since then, all their games have been cancelled due to weather, so they meet the Bedenkmen on an even status.
