Committee Sets Tuesday Noon As Election Petition Deadline

Semester Candidates Will Follow 25 Per Cent Rule

All-College Elections committee consulted with President Hetzel Wednesday to revise and clarify the new elections code as set up at the end of the Spring semester.

Robert I. Brawn, chairman, indicated that the most significant change has been made in article IV which now states that all potential candidates must secure the names, on a petition, of 25 per cent of the total number of voters registered in the candidate's particular semester. Elections this semester will be conducted on a semester basis rather than the class year system as has been formerly followed. Requirements for treasurer will be identical to those of presidential candidates.

Any civilian undergraduate student is eligible to run for offices of President or Treasurer of his or her semester. There will be eight semesters represented. The new system will eliminate political party groups and campaign expenses, Brawn pointed out.

Candidates for offices may secure official figures of the number of voters registered in any semester and the 25 per cent rule can be compiled from this official number. This list will be available at Student Union. All petitions together with a photograph of the candidate must be at Student Union not later than Tuesday noon.

The new code is as follows:

Penn State Alumnus To Speak in Chapel

The Rev. William E. Knoll, pastor of the Arlington Avenue Presbyterian Church of East Orange, N. J., will be the speaker for the Sunday morning chapel service this week. The topic will be "That It May Not Be in Vain."

Mr. Knoll was a member of the Class of 1917 at the Pennsylvania State College, and while an undergraduate was interested in baseball, was a member of Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Zeta, Lion's Paw, Forensic Council, Y.M.C.A. Cabinet, and Student Council, and was class historian, associate editor of the Collegian and the 1917 LaVie.

After graduation Mr. Knoll enlisted in the Third Officers Training Camp and served as a first lieutenant for fifteen months; he then taught school for a brief period and following this served as Y.M.C.A. secretary at Wesleyan University and later at Columbia, and on the national staff at New York. He was graduated from Union Theological Seminary in 1924, assisted Dr. Robert Wicks for two years in his church at Holyoke, Mass., and then was called to his present charge where he has served since that time.

Marlousie Hefty, contralto, will sing a solo.

Welcomes Newcomers

President Ralph D. Hetzel greeted newcomers to the campus today with the following statement: "At the opening of a new term, the College extends a hearty welcome to returning students, new students, and those in the Army and Navy service units. Whatever our special field of interest, let us be ever conscious of the fact that we are engaged in a great common cause which demands constant, serious, and united effort."

Aircraft Groups Train on Campus

Training programs established at the College by three outstanding aircraft plants are now training special students for the coming age of aviation. Classes totaling 105 are in operation for Curtiss-Wright Aircraft Corporation; 91 women are training for Hamilton Standard Propellers, a division of United Aircraft Corporation; and 15 men and women were sent by Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corporation.

The Hamilton Standard Propeller girls arrived June 15 for a six to twelve month course in one of five fields of aeronautical engineering, including drafting and designing, chemistry and metallurgy, testing and developing, vibration, and aerodynamics, or as engineering aides.

Those whose qualifications permit a major in a particular field, taking a year's course made up of subjects which normally receive college credit. To be accepted, applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 35, graduates of high school, and have completed two

Frosh Don Dinks, Ribbons, Cards As Classes Start

No-Dating Period Begins, Storer Reminds Coeds

Freshmen customs will be donned by the entering students by Monday morning, Ruth M. Storer, WSGA president, and Robert I. Brawn, chairman of the Elections Committee, stated.

Traditional green hair ribbons and three to five inch name cards will be worn by the incoming coeds. Their customs will also include holding doors open for upperclass women and staying off the grass, Miss Storer added. The customary three-week no-dating period for the new coeds will continue through July 25. Customs may be removed each weekend from 5:30 p. m. Saturday until 8 a. m. Monday, according to Judicial regulations. Special permissions will be granted for specific occasions. Violators will be called before WSGA Judicial committee and punished accordingly.

Freshman men will acquaint themselves with the history of the Lion Shrine and on the last night of the fourth week a meeting of all freshmen will be held at which time the announcement will be made concerning customs. Freshman men must at all times carry matches, their matriculation cards, and a copy of the freshman Bible. The usual green dink, black bow tie, white socks, and name cards will also be worn. Frosh are reminded to learn the Alma Mater and all the College songs in the handbook, and the names and locations of all the buildings on campus.

Customs exemptions will be made for persons over 21 years of age or members of the class who have worn customs at other schools. Such students must appear personally before Student Tribunal or the WSGA Judicial Committee for exemptions.

Paper Calls Candidates

All freshmen and sophomores interested in being candidates for the editorial board of The Collegian are asked to report to Room 9, Carnegie Hall at 7 p.m. Wednesday, staff members announced last night. Business candidates will be called later.

Daily Collegian To Edit Weekly For Summer Term

"The Collegian will be published once a week for 16 weeks during the Summer Semester as an eight-page tabloid and will be distributed free to students and faculty from central distribution points," Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men and chairman of the Committee on Recreation and Welfare, announced to Collegian staff members yesterday.

Dean Warnock further explained that this plan has been approved for the Summer Semester only and future plans were still indefinite.

Assisting Dean Warnock on this committee are Louis H. Bell, director of the Department of Public Information; Neil M. Fleming, treasurer of the Inter-class Budget System; H. R. Riley, chairman of the sub-committee on publications

New Recruits Arrive For Navy V-12 Program

Explains Curricula

Col. Edward D. Ardery, commanding officer of military personnel here, explained the curricula employed by the Army Engineers at the College. The engineers arrived here in May and June and occupy fraternity houses in town.

Student Registration Continues in Armory

Summer semester registration will continue in the Armory from 8 to 12 o'clock and from 1 to 5 o'clock today, with a five-dollar fee for registration after 5 p. m., according to Registrar William S. Hoffman.

Fees are to be paid in the Armory from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. continuously Friday, July 16. Late payment fees will be charged after 5 p. m. No estimates of total semester charges can be made before that date except by the student.

Expected freshman enrollment of 200 may reach as high as 500, Registrar Hoffman said yesterday in a statement to the Collegian. Approximately 100 freshman coeds are expected, according to Elizabeth Furst, WSGA town senator in charge of Big-Little Sisters.

Enrollment figures for Summer session students will probably be higher than announced with a new 700 maximum expected.

Program Offers Special Academic Courses to Men

With the arrival of an estimated 600 Navy and Marine men on campus yesterday and today for the Navy V-12 program, the College's ranks of service men in uniform numbers well over a thousand. The Navy is the last of Uncle Sam's groups to put in its appearance at the College. In April the Army Air Crew students prepared the way and in May and June they were followed by Army Engineers here for the Army Specialized Training Program.

While many of the men in the Navy and Marines attended other colleges before they came here, Commander Smith, in charge of the V-12 program here, stated that some are from high schools where they qualified through tests, and others are men who have already served in the Navy and Marines and have come here for further training.

In addition to regular military drill and physical education classes, there are several other required courses scheduled for the men. However, if a man has previously taken any of these required courses at some other college, it will not be necessary for him to repeat it here. Some of the required subjects are engineering drawing and descriptive drawing, English, a year of mathematics including trigonometry, and a year of physics with laboratory work included. If a man is able to work any other subjects into his schedule he may do so, and in this way continue to study subjects in which he is interested.

The new arrivals live in fraternity houses as do their predecessors. They will be the first group, however, to occupy the fraternity houses on campus.

The Army engineers stationed in the town fraternity houses are classified into two groups, basic and advanced. The advanced group studies electrical engineering, civil
