23 Candidates Vie For Semester Class Offices

Brawn Urges Students To Cast Votes at Election

Robert Brawn, chairman of the All-College elections committee, released the names of twenty-three candidates for semester class officers last night.

Eighth semester presidential candidates are Larry T. Chervenak, Daniel C. Gillespie, Harry F. Kern, and Al Letzler. Candidates for treasurer of this semester are Frank T. Drumm, Larry E. Faries, Gordon Fiske, and James R. Ziegler.

Harold Bucher, Thomas Guinivan, and Gloria N. Dverst are presidential candidates for seventh semester; Les Stine and Suzanne Clouser, treasurer candidates.

Sixth semester candidates for president are Rozanne M. Brooks and Horace B. Smith; treasurer candidate, Joan E. Piollet.

Lack of interest or apparent mix-up prevents students registered in the fifth semester from casting votes at this time. However, Brawn stated that students who registered in this semester should keep in mind possible candidates, and at the freshman elections at a later date, they may cast their ballot.

Fourth semester candidates are president, Amibal Rojas and Peggy Lou Chapman; treasurer, Reginald Kimble and Peggy Lou Johnston.

Third semester candidates are president, James Hugo; treasurer, Betty Shenk. Second semester candidates are president, Peter C. Johnson and John C. Krusen Jr.; treasurer, Robert Stokes and Ralph D. Cohen.

In semesters where there is only one candidate for an office the candidate's name will appear on the ballot, and beneath it a sentence stating, "Do you want to vote for this particular candidate or would you rather have the election postponed until freshman elections at a later date?" If students in that semester choose not to vote for that candidate, they may state so here, and vote at the freshman elections later on. It is possible other candidates will be suggested at that time.

Six Campus Groups To Present First College Variety Show

Six campus groups will cooperate with Director Lawrence E. Tucker, associate professor of dramatics, to present Penn State's first Variety Show, which opens in Schwab Auditorium on Saturday, July 17.

This show will be the first in a series of Variety Shows to be presented at approximately two-week intervals. There is a possibility, Tucker stated, that shows will be repeated Sunday afternoons for service men.

Cooperating campus groups include Cadet Engineers, Air Crew students, Curtiss-Wright Cadettes, Hamilton Standard Propeller coeds, Penn State Players, and Penn State Thespians.

Swing bands are being organized among service men and the cadets will also entertain with impersonations. Hummel Fishburn, head of the music department, and Frank Gullo, associate professor of music, will supervise the music.

Penn State Players will present short dramatic skits which will vary from comedy to drama to melodrama.

George M. Leetch, in charge of College Placement Service.

Military Trainees Exceed Civilian Enrollment Of 2,395

With a total of 2,395 College students supplemented by approximately 2,200 military and aircraft plant trainees the complete College enrollment exceeds expectations by approximately one-third, Registrar William S. Hoffman stated today.

Of those registered with the college, 1,406 are men and 989 are women. This includes 150 graduate students, 35 special, and 2,210 regular students. Classified according to schools, Chemistry-Physics section outranks others with 543. Following is Liberal Arts with 446; Education, 432; Engineering, 420; Agriculture, 172; Mineral Industries with 139; and Physical Education, totaling 58.

Of the military students stationed here 855, including 83

Calendar Notice

College organizations are requested to send in meeting dates to the Collegian office for publication in the Campus Calendar by noon every Thursday. Because of the reduced staff, groups will not be contacted by staff members.

Glenn L. Martin Aircraft Representative Will Interview Engineers

Crandall W. Cowles, representative of the engineering personnel department of Glenn L. Martin Aircraft Corporation, will be on campus Wednesday to interview engineering students who will graduate in October, according to George N. Leetch, head of the College Placement Service.

All eligible students who are interested in positions with the company must register for appointments at the Placement office, 204 Old Main, by 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Leetch stressed that all seniors should register with the placement officers of their school so that they will be kept informed of job opportunities. The bulletin board at Student Union will carry notices of all personnel representatives who will visit the campus.

Placement officers of the various schools are: Agriculture, Dr. J. E. McCord, 1-A Hort; Chemistry and Physics, Dr. G. C. Chandler, 105 Pond Laboratory; Mineral Industries, Dr. D. F. McFarland, 212 Mineral Industries; Engineering, R. M. Gerhardt, 206 Main Engineering; Liberal Arts, H. B. Young, 201 Sparks; Health and Physical Education, L. N. Hones, 214 Rec Hall; Education, Dr. C. O. Williams, 106 Burrowes.

Cabinet Committee Fizzles Student Wage-Hour Program

By Larry Chervenak

This is a story of some printed posters, some student politicians, and a student government which claims to be "America's strongest."

The story begins last Summer—more than a full year ago—when members of the All-College Cabinet recognized the "unreasonably low" wages paid in many cases to student part-time employees, and in typical fashion—approved the appointment of a committee on the subject.

The plan discussed at that time

Saturday Night Social Set for Tomorrow

Air Crew Student Prepares to Blitz Axis Cousin's Craft

Training at the College is an Air Crew student who must first put an end to his cousin's business before he can fulfill his second ambition, that of "getting a whack" at some of the ships designed by this same cousin. Johnny Messerschmitt is the Air Crew student; his cousin, William Messerschmitt, famous German plane designer.

Before his enlistment, Johnny, American gender, was employed by the Brewster Aeronautical Corporation, working in the production planning department of their Long Island plant.

Admitting that he would give almost anything to have his cousin's ability, anything short of going over to the other side, Messerschmitt went on to say that he hopes to work in the aircraft industry as a producer of commercial light planes.

His now famous German cousin designed his first plane at the age of 18 and was the designer of the ME-110 which had been clocked at more than 469 miles per hour in special tests just before the war began.

Johnny's grandfather and Willy's father were brothers. However, John's grandfather left Germany to come to America before the turn of the century.

Johnny is writing editorials for the "Orphan," weekly paper published by and for Air Crew trainees at the College.

Function to Replace Weekly USO Dances

Every man and woman in special training groups, and regular civilian students, are invited to "Fun Night" in Rec Hall from 8 to 12 p.m. tomorrow, according to H. R. Gilbert, chairman of the Committee on Social Saturday Nights.

Service men's bulletins have been issued with an invitation to attend this function which will take the place of a USO dance. The committee is especially interested in having civilian men attend the dance as well, stressing the fact that Social Saturday Nights are All-College affairs.

Coeds are urged to sign up as hostesses for the evening either at the CA office, 304 Old Main, or to contact Miriam Zartman, in charge of hostesses, 37 Atherton. A special request has been made that those who served as hostesses for Service Center dances should cooperate again. Miss Zartman has announced a meeting for coed hostesses in the Little Theatre at 4:30 this afternoon. Those unable to attend this meeting may still serve as hostesses by coming to Rec Hall at 7:45 p.m. Saturday, Miss Zartman stated.

Entertainment for the evening will be in charge of Arthur F. Davis, chairman of games, and J. Ewing Kennedy, who has planned forms of social and square dancing. Chauncey Lang will be "caller" for the square dancing. Russel E. Clark will be chairman of a Coca-Cola bar, and Miss Hazel Fall will arrange for refreshments. Miss Marie Haidt is in charge of posters to publicize the program as well as shuffleboard, bridge, and ping-pong.

Air Corps Talk Set for Thursday

To inform any interested students on requirements and qualifications for the U. S. Army Air Corps, Lieutenant Lucas, of the 3rd Service Command, will speak in 110 Liberal Arts at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Prof. Robert E. Galbraith, Faculty Advisor for War Services, who made the announcement yesterday, stated that the meeting would be followed up a week later with mental exams to be given by Captain Engart.

Applications for this program should be filed this week with Galbraith at his office, 243 Liberal Arts, he stated.

This is the first of the programs to be scheduled this semester, according to Galbraith, for interested men to talk to Service Pilot and Instructor Lucas.

Matric Cards Available

All freshman and transfer students may pick up their matriculation cards at the registrar's office, William S. Hoffman, registrar, stated yesterday. Students must present old cards before they receive new ones.

WAGE-HOUR AGREEMENT

This business establishment is cooperating with the wage-hour minimum standard for student employees as established by the ALL-COLLEGE CABINET.
