

Between The Lions

By PVT. RICHARD McNAUL

Effects of the war on the inter-collegiate sports scene will certainly be evident this afternoon and tomorrow when Eppie Barnes' Raider baseball club makes its appearance on New Beaver Field for two games with the Lions.

In the first place, more than half of Coach Bedenk's starting team will be made up of Naval V-12 trainees stationed at State. Except for the pitching staff this will be the first time for the rest of the boys to wear the Blue and White.

Sparky Brown, backfield ace and one of the advanced ROTC's sent back to finish up collegiate days, will split the pitching duties with undefeated Captain Mike Wardrop, according to Bedenk.

Despite the fact that the Lions have had only four or five days in which to practice together, the competition will be much stiffer than the usual peacetime contest. War always makes men more serious. Joe Bedenk can't get over the way his Navy men "sir" him—a far cry from the informal "Joe" he used to get.

From the stories heard so far about the Raiders, it seems Coach Barnes will be using quite a few boys issued to him by the government. Had it not been for the GI's there probably wouldn't be any sports program such as the one planned for this weekend. Penn State needs every bit of recreation that can be had. Servicemen stationed here will welcome this chance to see players from their own ranks out there on the field. Everyone—coaches, players, and spectators—will be mighty happy to see an intercollegiate game made possible, even at this late date in the war.

The Air Force band will turn out for the game at 3 p.m. tomorrow and will add more color to the day.

Gives Dairy Course

A five-day course for special training in testing, weighing, and sampling dairy products will begin July 19, according to the Department of Dairy Husbandry.

This course will emphasize current problems of the dairy industry. Representatives of the Milk Control Commission will give qualifying examinations for certification of dairy testers.

Semester's Late Start Brings Schedule Problem For Higgins' Gridmen

Penn State's 1943 football schedule has been cut up like a jig saw puzzle by the three weeks postponement of the opening of the Summer Semester. The grid season will now start in one semester and end in another. And one of the biggest home games, with Michigan State, will fall between semesters, when students are on vacation.

The complete schedule follows:

- Sept. 25—Bucknell, at home.
- Oct. 2—Georgia, Athens, Ga.
- Oct. 9—Colgate, at home.
- Oct. 16—Navy, Annapolis, Md.
- Oct. 23—Maryland, College Park, Md.
- Oct. 30—Michigan State, at home.
- Nov. 6—Syracuse, Syracuse, N. Y.
- Nov. 13—Temple at home.
- Nov. 20—Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh.

The complete schedule is still in effect, one of the most ambitious in years. No changes will be made, according to the coach, if it is at all possible to field a team, regardless of the calibre.

Gotwals, Mitchell, Briner Receive Lacrosse Honors

Three Penn State lacrosse players were named to the second and third All-American lacrosse team for 1943 as determined by the U. S. Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association Committee.

Jim Gotwals and Tom Mitchell, Penn State high scorers last year, made the Committee's second team while Bill Briner was chosen for the third.

Briner who played first defense for Penn State last year is now matriculated at the College as an advanced ROTC student finishing his last semester, while Gotwals and Mitchell graduate in May and are now in the Navy.

The Committee, of which Lion lacrosse coach Nick Thiel is a member, said of Gotwals, "... he was the strongest player on a far better than usual Penn State team... exceptionally capable in his defensive play."

Teamwork is stressed in the All-American selections as in normal times the squad competes in England, Canada, and the United States with other top-notch teams.

Navy, Maryland, and Johns Hopkins—leading lacrosse teams—each placed two men on the first team while Princeton, Stevens, Drexel, and Loyola had one representative.

Complete first team includes Jerry Courtney, Loyola, goal; John Tedeberg, Stevens, point; George Riepe, Johns Hopkins, first defense; Gordon Ochenrider, Navy, second defense; Ray Green, Drexel, center; Henry Guild, Johns Hopkins, second attack; John Hayert, Maryland, first attack; Robert Booze, Navy, out home; and John Palmer, Princeton, in home.

Larry Faries will captain this year's Penn State lacrosse team, according to recent elections. Faries played second attack for the past two seasons.

Invites Summer Dames

Members of the Summer Dames and their sponsors have been invited to attend the Open House of the Home Economics Department Wednesday, July 21, from 3 until 5 p.m. Summer Dames is an organization for wives of graduate students, which meets every Wednesday during the Main Summer Session. This Home Economics Open House and Demonstration will take the place of the regular meeting for next week.

Improved Stickmen Play National Champs

In what may prove to be its first, last, and only game of the summer semester, Penn State's lacrosse team travels to Maryland today to play Navy, last year's national champs, at Annapolis tomorrow afternoon.

At the start of the season the outlook was pretty dark for Coach Thiel. Three of his start stickmen were lost through graduation and to the service. However, the War Department's recent order which sent advanced ROTC men back to the campus has bolstered the team considerably.

Among the advanced ROTC men who have returned to Penn State to finish their final semester are Bill Briner, named to the 1943 all-American lacrosse third team, Stu Sussman, Howie Hausner, George Pittinger, and Dick Ross.

Tom Mitchell and Jim Gotwals, who were awarded positions on the all-American second team for 1943, graduated in May and are now receiving Naval instruction at the University of Notre Dame.

Coach Thiel's starting lineup will probably read: Captain Larry Faries, Dick Ross, and George Pittinger at center field; Rocky Kerns, Pete Johnston, and Howie Hausner at defense; Bill Briner, Mike Milliken, and Bill Piper at inside attack; and Stu Sussman, goalie.

For the third year in a row, Nick Thiel, Penn State lacrosse mentor, has helped coach the All-Northern team which annually engages the All-South team in lacrosse's "dream" game. Other coaches this year were Fred Fitch, of Rutgers, and John Sims, of Stevens.

Former Lion Coaches Help Train Navy

All in the Navy, six Penn State coaches are helping put boys in shape for their biggest game.

Danny De Marino, assistant freshman football coach, is a lieutenant (j.g.) at Grosse Isle, Mich., and Stuart Marlow, assistant baseball coach, is chief petty officer at the Naval Training Station, Sampson, N. Y.

At the campus all other coaches are working daily to put into tip-top condition more than 2200 military men assigned to Penn State.
