

Senate Committee Approves Dating At 10 Fraternities

Groups Living Together May Entertain Women

Tentative approval for unchaperoned dating in social fraternities living together in a house, the whole of which is controlled and operated by members of the fraternity, was voted by the Senate Committee on Student Welfare in a meeting held on Wednesday afternoon. Under existing conditions 10 fraternity groups would be eligible to receive this privilege.

No fraternity group will be permitted unchaperoned dating unless its application for the privilege has been filed with the dean of men and its facilities have been approved by the dean of men and the dean of women. Men and women students who participate in unchaperoned dating in unapproved places of men's residence will become subject to disciplinary action by the College authorities.

The code approved in Wednesday's meeting is similar to last semester's dating code with the exception that the closing hour on Friday and Saturday nights is midnight in the new code. Entertainment of women guests is limited to social rooms which are to be kept open and well lighted in all parts of the rooms. Drinking in the houses when women are present is prohibited, and the conduct should be that normally approved when competent chaperones are present.

The officers of the chapter will be held responsible for the conduct of all members of the house group when women guests are present, and violations will be reported to a committee of IFC and tried by that body's judiciary committee, which is composed of three faculty members. Proven violations of the code will exclude the fraternity found guilty from the privileges of the code.

USO To Present Dance Saturday

Local USO chapter will present a "Best Bib and Tucker" dance in the Armory at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening, according to Mrs. J. E. Kennedy, chairman in charge. This is one of the many USO entertainments sponsored by that organization for servicemen and civilian students who are attending the College.

All former junior hostesses are asked to be present as well as other women who are enrolled in Curtiss-Wright courses, Hamilton Standard Propeller coeds, or summer session students. Women may be hostesses by signing up at the Service Center or at the door.

Town women and faculty wives will serve as senior hostesses. The Women's Club of State College will donate homemade cookies. Other refreshments will be served.

Plans to have a campus band for the affair are not definite as yet, Mrs. Kennedy stated, but recorded music by "name" bands will be played if a band cannot be booked.

Mrs. Kennedy has planned a special attraction for those who attend but emphasized the fact that it will not be presented until after the Variety Show.

Lerner Advocates 'International Structure' In Postwar Era

By ALICE R. FOX

Max Lerner, author, lecturer, and professor of government at Williams College, still thinks it is later than we think.

When he first issued that warning in 1938, Dr. Lerner referred to the failure of the democracies to awake to the full import of the totalitarian menace that was engulfing European minority peoples. In Tuesday night's lecture in capacity-packed Schwab Auditorium he spoke of a different but equally dangerous type of tardiness—the refusal to realize that bungling in delicately balanced international relationships can lead only to further chaos.

"Wars are not over until the problems out of which they arose are in process of being resolved. World War I never ended; it was suspended for 20 years," Dr. Lerner reminded.

The authority on contemporary political problems advocates now as the time for forming a definite attitude concerning the type of world which should result from the present conflict.

"You don't wait to get peace until you sit around the peace table," Lerner believes.

While he is not among those who decry conduct of the war on the military and home fronts, Dr. Lerner feels that the government is "not doing well in terms of foreign policy." The administration, he says, is dominated by fear in the French and Italian situations.

He denounced Roosevelt's denial that there is a French nation and his heroic effort to distinguish between the king and Mussolini in Italy.

"Those who make foreign policy in Britain and the United States are afraid of the democratic revolution that may take place in Europe, a revolution which they fear may play into the hands of Russia," the lecturer explained.

Dr. Lerner made it clear that he is not in accord with Washington in its handling of the DeGaulle-Giraud question. He pointed out that DeGaulle, whom the administration chooses to ignore, was chosen by the French people as their leader when that nation was in a position to accomplish little more than underground resistance to the Nazis. He warned that the French people are not likely to accept the more conservative, hence, from Washington's viewpoint, safer Giraud in his place.

Speaking of late developments in Italy, Lerner called the ousting of Mussolini "a great historic event," but continued that successor Badoglio is of the same strain, "only more brutal." With regard to the supposedly helpless Victor Emmanuel, the speaker informed his audience that Mussolini could have remained in power only with the consent of the House of Savoy.

"The present policy of Britain

Variety Show Features Operetta, Stooges, Sketch

Players' presentation of "Sunday Costs Five Pesos" will initiate the second Penn State Variety Show in Schwab Auditorium at 7:30 tomorrow night. A second performance will be given at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Selections from "The Vagabond King" by the music department, specialties recruited from the Army Engineers, and a newly formed Three Stooges combination complete the program.

Directed by Ruth Scott, graduate student in dramatics, the cast of the Players' sketch includes Louis Glickman, Janet Dayton, Betty Reed, and Curtiss-Wright Cadettes Ruth Bach and Beulah Smith.

Engineering Cadet Duke Weltmer, Co. D, will take over the piano to give boogie renditions, a la Hazel Scott, Freddie Slack, and Count Basie. Cadet Goldsmith, Co. C of the Engineers, is slated for imitations, and Pvt. Jack Hunter, Frank McKain, and Edward C. Kaiser, advanced ROTC, Co. D, will bring back Thespians' famed Three Stooges act.

Selections from "The Vagabond King" include the Prologue, by David Robinson; "Sons of Toil," with the chorus; "Love for Sale," by Bess Edelblute, soprano; "Some Day," the chorus; "Only a Rose," Louise Neff, soprano, Frank Gullo, tenor, and the chorus; "The Waltz Song," Marilouise Hefty, contralto; the church scene, John Manner, baritone; and the finale, with Gullo and the chorus.

Members of the chorus are Carl Drumheller, James Harter, William Henniger, Doris Huck, Lucille

Thespian Prexy Calls For Comedians, Dancers

Thespians' talent scouts have gone to war. Maybe they're prowling around Army camps pouncing on hapless soldiers to perform in camp shows, but it's a cinch they're not looking for talent around Penn State campus any more.

All of which leaves Thespians in something of a hole. With a show planned for September they want all the good dancers and comedians who are hidden away in dorms and barracks of State College. But how to find them?

Cadmus Goss, president of the musical comedy group, has issued an SOS, asking would-be Thespians to declare themselves and contact him instead of waiting to be dug out of their holes.

Jones, Lois Lunn, Paul Moyer, Florrine Olson, Earl Roberts, David Robinson, and Ruth Ward.

The musical presentation is under the direction of Mrs. Willa W. Taylor, and Marion Ackerman Reinhart will assist at the piano.

Tickets must be presented at the Saturday night performance, and are available at Student Union and the Service Center. No tickets are necessary for admission Sunday.

Tribunal Declares Athletic Events Compulsory For Frosh

It is compulsory for all freshman men to report to New Beaver Field for the track meet at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and at all future athletic events, Laibe A. Kessler, newly appointed Tribunal head, stated yesterday. Every man should make sure that a member of Tribunal or a hat man takes his name at the gate, Kessler emphasized, since freshmen whose names are not submitted will be reported as absent, and will be called up before the board for violation.

Starting the semester with a swift check-up, Tribunal issued penalties to 22 violators at their second meeting Wednesday evening. Freshmen who received penalties are James Dannenberg,

Hetzel To Help Raise War Funds

President Ralph D. Hetzel has been appointed one of the six associate state chairmen of the Pennsylvania War Fund, according to W. E. Kenworthy, secretary to the President.

The appointment was made by Ralph E. Weeks of Scranton, state campaign chairman of the fund, which is the Pennsylvania unit of the National War Fund, established to coordinate war relief and local welfare appeals throughout the state. The organization synthesizes the collection and distribution of money for the military front, the United Nations front, and the home front.

President Hetzel in turn appointed Russel B. Clark, College bursar, as chairman of the fund for Centre County.

President Hetzel's authority extends over Area A, which includes Clarion, Crawford, Erie, Forrest, Venango, Warren, Cameron, Centre, Clearfield, McKean, and Elk counties.

Gerson Eisenberg, A. G. Feldman, Bert Giles, William Goldberg, D. E. Griffiths, Allan Gutowitz, Robert Heim, Kenneth Hill, Robert Kaufman, Gerald Kruger, Arthur Land, Ernst Lose, William Martinez, Joseph Newhoff, Harry Pierce, Woodward Rider, Elliot Rosengarten, Merle Sacknoff, R. V. Shunk, Thomas Smith, and James Stevenson.

Edward J. Stahureski appeared before the board, and since he already observed customs at another school, he was excused from wearing them here.

Penalties this year differ slightly from those of past semesters. Eight a.m. Sunday the violators of Wednesday's meeting will report to the main gate to clean up the grounds in front of Old Main and on the Mall. Each day at 1:15 p.m. they must also report in front of Old Main and receive a general inspection for customs.

Placards will be worn by violators as in previous years, while one of the new assignments includes making track announcement signs for store windows. Some of the freshmen will report at New Beaver Field to assist in the management of the various athletics. A shortage of athletic managers this year accounts for this added duty.

Kessler stated that freshmen must wear customs every day with the exception of Sunday. He added, however, that they may date during the week providing they wear customs. He also asked for more cooperation from upperclassmen in reporting names of any freshmen seen violating customs.

Home Eccecs Entertain

Home economics majors now living in Hillcrest home management house plan to entertain Dr. Laura W. Drummond at dinner at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Campus Owls To Play For ISC College 'Nocturne'

Specialty Soloists Include Platt, Kazor

Bud Wills and the Campus Owls will play arrangements made locally famous by Jimmy McAdams, Ernie Martin, and Eddie Perdue when they swing out for ISC's All-College "Nittany Nocturne" which will be held in Rec Hall from 8 p.m. until midnight on Saturday, August 7.

Featuring Betty Platt on the vocals, and with such well-known numbers as "For You," "All of Me," "Southern Fried," and "One O'clock Jump," the Owls also have Johnny McKean on the trombone and Johnny Setar, clarinet and saxman, to help along with instrumental solos.

Walt Kazor, organizer of the Air Corps band, will "boogie woogie" on the ivories in the style which won him rounds of applause in Dry Dock shows last semester.

Playing one slow number to three fast ones, Wills and the Owls have promised to add a medley of Penn State songs to their store of specialties.

Civilians and dates will be admitted for $1.10, and servicemen and dates may attend for 77 cents.

According to Chairman Norma R. Stern, tickets may be purchased at Student Union; Penn State Club room; from Sidney Ribenburg, Nittany Co-Op; Kehl Markley, Cody Manor; at 59 Atherton Hall; 165 Atherton Hall; and Marjorie Magargel, Hillcrest home management house.

The following committees have been appointed by Miss Stern, Helen Schmidle, secretary, and Mark Oliver, treasurer, for the dance:

Publicity—Chairman Louis Glazer, Kehl Markley, Emma Jean Snyder, Harold Weller, Victor Danilos, and Serene Rosenberg.

Band—Chairman Edmund Koval, Ray Zaroda, Carol Gorman, and Wilbur Eby.

General committee—Chairman Heda Pollin, Sydney Ribenburg, Joseph Rediman, Florence Rovinsky, and Jack Riordan.

Tickets and invitations—Chairman Kay Kirk, Betty Jane Reed, Charles Aikman, Helen Schmidle, and Ray Zaroda.

Air Corps Prospects May Retake Examination, Galbraith Announces

All men who failed to pass the Army Air Corps examination less than 30 days ago may retake the examination, which will be given by Captain Fred J. Lucas, aviation procurement officer for this district, according to FAWS Robert E. Galbraith.

Those who took last week's examination should obtain three letters of recommendation plus their birth certificates and report to the Aviation Cadet Board, 325 Market street, Harrisburg, with their completed papers. From Harrisburg they will report to Olmstead Field, Middletown. This should be done as soon as possible.

All recommendations should be on letterhead paper. Air Corps examinations will be given at 9 a.m. and at 2 p.m. today in 401 Old Main.
