

Men In Service

hospital in North Africa. . . Pvt. Larry Joe, freshman football star, is receiving basic training at Ft. Mustis, Va., the nation's largest anti-aircraft replacement training center.

John E. Barr, voted outstanding athlete in 1941, is a lieutenant j.g. at Keesler Field, Miss. . . Second Lt. C. Ivan McCloskey has been made a first lieutenant in the Army Chemical Warfare Service, Edgewood, Md.

Not all the former students now wearing uniforms can be included as "Men in Service." Barbara Torrance has recently arrived overseas to serve as staff assistant in providing recreational facilities for service men, with the Red Cross. She will work in hospitals and convalescent homes and help in directing Red Cross club operations.

Doris Stevenson was recently inducted into the WAVES. She has been accepted as an officer candidate in Class V-9, and will train at Smith College or Mt. Holyoke.

Fan Mail

A letter just came from some of the boys taking basic Air Corps training. We'll print it as it arrived, and hope they like it.

"We just received a Collegian and we missed our names in your service column. There are about fifty boys from Penn State up here at Massachusetts State College. More than anything, we miss the Penn State coeds (??). All we have available here are 2,000 WAVES at Northampton and the women at Smith College. Things are tough."

The letter closed with a P.S. "Say hello to 'Gal' for us. Wish he were here."

Thanks, The "Boys"

Hope they're having a good time. That's all for now, but keep the news coming.

Armory Dance Heads PS Club Activities

Penn State Club will sponsor a dance in the Armory from 8 until 11 o'clock tonight. Music will consist of records, amplified over the public address system, according to Edmund R. Koval, chairman.

Ray A. Zaroda, president of the club, invites all students to take advantage of the organization's facilities, again reminding that the clubroom is open daily from 3 to 5 p.m. for those who wish to join.

Engineer Conducts Cash Prize Contest

Penn State Engineer is conducting a monthly article contest with first prize of $10, and $5 going to the runner-up.

Any subject may be treated, and the articles are judged on a basis of interest and writing ability. The first of the month preceding the month of publication is the deadline for submission of all contest material. For example, August 1 for the September issue. All items received after the deadline will automatically be entered in the following month's contest. All articles submitted become the property of the Engineer.

Articles may be turned in by any college student, serviceman, or special student. Entries may be delivered or mailed to the Penn State Engineer, Room 1, Armory, or to Student Union, plainly marked with name, address, and college status.

Cwens Invites All Frosh Coeds To Pajama Party At Mac, Women's

Cwens, sophomore women's honorary will sponsor the traditional pajama party for freshman coeds in the lounges of Mac Hall and Women's Building from 9 to 10 p.m. Sunday, according to Ann Louise Decker, president.

Both the freshmen and sophomores will contribute to the program. Each freshman hall unit will prepare a skit to be presented that night. Jeanette M. Ehlers will give a musical reading; G. Patricia Hallberg will dance; and M. Jane McChesney will sing. Refreshments will be served.

All freshman coeds, including those living downtown, are urged to come, Miss Decker added.

Nittany Co-Op Elects

John C. Wise was recently elected president of Nittany Co-Op. Other officers elected include Ralph John, vice-president; Ruth Klench, secretary; David Skillman, bursar; and Sydney Riverburg, social chairman.

Girls from a private school in the east volunteered to work on farms. Culture doesn't come ahead of agriculture.
