Will Osborne Brings Hollywood Band Here

Voting at Student Union today from 9 to 12 a.m. and from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. will determine which one of five candidates will reign as queen when Interfraternity Council brings the music of Will Osborne to Rec Hall tonight for the semester's only big-name band dance.

Candidates are Frances Chandler, Curtiss Wright; Jean Mitchell, Hamilton Propeller; Jane Windell, senior; Evelyn Kohler, junior; and Shirley Fierman, sophomore. Laibe A. Kessler, dance chairman, reminded all students who purchased tickets for the affair to cast their ballots today.

Dancing will continue from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., and booths will be available to both fraternity and non-fraternity groups, Kessler said. The Rec Hall decorations of former big dance days will be missing because of war priorities. Tickets are available at the price of $3.30 per couple and the charge for booth rental is $2.50.

Osborne, brought before the American public during the crooner craze of 1930, has been changing his musical style since that time to correspond to varying tastes of popular music fans. While jazz was at its peak, he offered variety by switching to a sweet brand. Although he made some concessions with the reappearance of fast music in the form of swing, his style is still predominantly the slower, more danceable variety.

Graduated from St. Andrews College, the pianist continued his music education in Canada, London, and Paris. He is an authority on modern classics. Voice culture, however, was not a part of his schedule, while in various music schools because he feels conventional training would lessen the individuality of his style.

Freshmen who should consider Tribunal's request for perfect attendance Saturday a certain must, according to Laibe A. Kessler, chairman, will be present at what will probably be their last stab at a customs congregation. Probably, because if the frosh do a bang-up job of showing the powers that be that they not only know school cheers and songs but are capable of turning out one hundred percent to prove it, Tribunal will remove customs immediately after the meeting.

Laibe A. Kessler, chairman of Tribunal, stated that freshmen who have dates for the weekend may take their customs off at 5 p.m. Friday, and that the only time it will be necessary for these men to wear the customs will be at the mass meeting Saturday afternoon.

Morse Stimulates Councils' Spirit

Student Council members were fired with a new spark Tuesday night when Adrian O. Morse, assistant to the President, addressed a combined meeting of all Councils on the topic, "The Status of School Councils."

The meeting was called by the Liberal Arts Council to decide the worth of continuing existence during the war time program. Morse presented the pros and cons of the problem.

"Activities which are not accomplishing anything during wartime should be given up, but we are licked if we become easily discouraged."

"However, students can contribute something toward running the college. The administration needs that help and it can be carried on through the medium of School Councils. Help is needed more when things are complicated than in normal times," Morse contended.

The speaker enumerated the purposes of School Councils as a cross section of students who can understand and report the student point of view to the faculty and can also interpret properly what has been intended from faculty action.

Council members were particularly impressed with Morse's statement that Councils can definitely help to retain the best things in the past of the college, and carry the present tradition of the school on to the future.

According to the proposal the groups would be set up by Cabinet and organized by winners and runners-up in the late elections. The motion was tabled for consideration at the next meeting. Meanwhile Robert Brawn, chairman, with Grey and Jane Murphy will look into the matter and report at the next session.
