Froth Changes Policy-- Issue Makes Deadline

Froth, Penn State's closest approach to the New Yorker, will hit the Co-Op Corner newsstands this morning, Jim Casey, business manager, announced yesterday.

George Graham, new editor-in-chief, makes a smashing debut with this big, up-to-the-minute Thespian issue, replete with features and scoops as well as a firm foundation of solid gags.

"Old Main Rats" is the rather bizarre title of one of these features, while "Sock" Kennedy furnishes more personable subject matter for a companion piece.

Mrs. Thompson Replaces Agnes Highsmith as Associate PSCA Secretary

Mrs. Virginia Deringer Thompson has been appointed associate secretary of the Penn State Christian Association to replace Miss Agnes Highsmith who resigned last week.

Mrs. Thompson served as an assistant to Miss Highsmith before the latter left to accept a position at Duke University as director of religious activities for women.

She holds a B.A. degree from Oberlin College, '37, and an M.A. degree at Syracuse University, '42. While at school she gained an unapproachable reputation as a student personnel worker.

Mrs. Thompson was a camp counselor during her summer vacation periods at Oberlin. She also served as assistant director and then director of a city day camp near Canton, O., while an undergraduate. After graduating she became a field executive for the Girl Scouts in the same city.

In 1940 she was awarded a scholarship to Syracuse where she continued her graduate work in personnel work. While at college, Mrs. Thompson held an assistantship in student personnel.

Following graduation she was employed in the office of the dean of women at the New York school. Mrs. Thompson also was head resident of a women's dormitory.

Mrs. Thompson came to Penn State in June. Since then she has been doing apprentice work under the direction of Miss Highsmith. When a vacancy developed she easily stepped into the position.

Lt. Comdr. Mildred H. McAfee, who was dean of women at Oberlin while Mrs. Thompson was a student and is now in charge of the WAVES, has this to say about the new associate secretary of the PSCA, "She was an outstanding undergraduate and one whom I did know very well. I have great admiration for her as an extremely capable person who early showed herself to be an able leader of her contemporaries and a person of independence and initiative."

Watkins Says No Change In Final Week Date; October 15-21 Still Holds

Clarifying the apparent confusion concerning final examination week, Ray V. Watkins, College Scheduling Officer, yesterday released the following information in regard to the examination period.

"Grades of all graduating seniors must be in the office of the Registrar by 8 a. m. October 18. Examinations of all senior subjects will be held from 8 a. m. October 11 to 5. m. m. October 15.

"Examinations for juniors, sophomores, and freshmen," Watkins continued, "will begin 8 a. m. October 15 and close 5 p. m. October 21.

"Classes which are composed of seniors and in which other students are enrolled may be required to have two examinations scheduled at the discretion of the head of the department in which the subject is taught."

The final examination schedule will appear in next week's Collegian.

Men's Varsity Debate Squad Sponsors Speaking Contests

Men's Varsity Debate Squad will present a series of term-end public speaking contests "for the purpose of offering the men an experience comparable in some degree to that which they would have received from the intercollegiate events comprising the normal schedule," according to James Trimarchi, manager of the squad.

The topic of the first series, composed of two preliminary rounds and a final contest, will be "Plans for a Permanent Peace." Both preliminary rounds will be held in Room 316 Sparks. The first round, 7 p.m. September 28, will schedule the speeches of Zelmar Barson, Martin Cohn, Saul Kozuck, Gilbert Parnell, Leonard Schumock, Louis Ullman, and Edward Zemprelli.

Speakers for preliminary round two, 7 p.m. September 30, will be David Barron, William Dymysza, James Helm, Charles Long, Gus Mitchell, Charles Stonage, and James Trimarchi.

The final round, to be held in Room 10 Sparks, 7:30 p.m. October 2, will have as its speakers six men selected from the preliminary rounds. Prof. John H. Frizzell will preside over this round.

Following the Men's Debate Squad Dinner, to be held in the State College Hotel, 6 p.m. October 6, will be another speaking contest under Prof. Frizzell, toastmaster. The entire squad will vie for the prizes: Louis Nizer's "Thinking on Your Feet," first, and William Freeman's "Hear! Hear! An Informal Guide to Public Speaking," second.

In order to permit participation by Navy V-12 students who are restricted as to the type of subject matter they may discuss in public, all contests will be closed.

Committee On Academic Standard To Review Finals Plan Tuesday

Collegian's final examination plan will be reviewed by the Committee on Academic Standards on Tuesday afternoon, Dr. Charles and chairman of the committee, stated yesterday.

Although the committee was presented with a detailed report on the plan this week, Dr. Marquardt said, full consideration of the proposal was delayed because of the overload of scholarship applicants scheduled for interviews during this weeks' regular meeting hours.

The Collegian proposal, made in an editorial three weeks ago, provides essentially that a student whose bluebook and classroom average in any subject is at least a "2" need not take a final examination in that subject unless he chooses to do so. If he does, the examination will count toward a change in his grade in either direction in the normal manner.

A follow-up survey of students revealed that 93 per cent. of the undergraduates favored the plan, while 56 out of 71 of the professors polled in a similar mimeographed survey okayed the idea. Five of the seven School deans issued statements in favor of the proposal.

The Philadelphia Company of Philadelphia will also send a representative to the campus to interview mechanical, architectural, aeronautical, electrical, and civil engineers Thursday, September 30.

Interview appointments for this firm may be arranged in 204 Old Main.

Library Receives Robert H. Hay Collection

A collection of more than 5,000 volumes, including many in the field of American literature, has been acquired by the Library from Mrs. Robert H. Hay of Pittsburgh, according to Willard P. Lewis, librarian.

The books, part gift and part purchase, will be known as the Robert Henry Hay Collection and will supplement the notable Fred Lewis Pattee Collection already in the Library.

Acquired over a period of years from dealers and auction rooms in America and England, the late Mr. Hay's collection includes many first editions and rare books in the fields of literature, religion, travel, art, folklore, and American history.

About 150 books, magazines and other material written by Hawthorne or about him, as well as other 19th century American and British authors, represented by first or illustrated editions, are included.

Many of the volumes describe religious groups in America such as the Friends, Shakers, and Lutherans. Others deal with experimental colonies.

Other items include a volume of Horatio Alger's poems, some handwritten stanzas of "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight," an engraving of Abraham Lincoln, and Baron von Steuben's regulations for troops in the Revolutionary Army.
