IWA Brings Radio Vox Pop Show To Campus Nov. 15 CBS Hookup Puts College In National Spotlight

Penn State will hit the national airwaves for the first time in its history this month, when Parks Johnson and Warren Hull bring their famous Vox Pop radio program to Rec Hall for a November 15 broadcast, sponsored by IWA.

Penn State football games and pre-game rallies have been broadcast over district or regional hookups, and individual Nittany representatives have appeared on national networks, but the Monday night "voice-of-the-people" show will be the first State College radio show on record to bring Penn State into the spotlight of the whole nation.

Six or seven Penn State students, both servicemen and civilians, will be spotlighted on the informal half-hour program which goes before the microphone each Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The broadcast will be carried coast-to-coast over the entire CBS network of 120 stations.

Stresses War-Peace Preparation
Sponsors of the Vox Pop series have announced that the November 15 program will be planned "to present to America the story of what the college student is doing to prepare for the work before him in aiding the war effort and in planning the victorious peace that will follow."

A half-hour warm-up show, during which cash "give-aways" will be presented to various members of the audience, is scheduled to begin at 7:25 p.m. An advance communication from the Johnson-Hull unit warns that the doors to the hall will be closed promptly at 7:25 p.m. for the entire show.

Student participants in Vox Pop will be selected through a series of interviews which are scheduled to begin Thursday.

Those best suited for the national radio show, according to Conductors Hull and Johnson, are those who have been to interesting places, done dramatic or dangerous work, or had some unusual or humorous experience. Essential in all cases, however, is the ability to talk easily and in an interesting manner.

Questionnaires To Be Distributed
Questionnaires prepared by the Vox Pop staff will be distributed this week by the College's department heads and other faculty members likely to be acquainted

Hall Warns Freshmen Of Customs Regulations

"Starting Monday all freshman men will be held liable if they are caught without their customs," Charles F. Hall, acting Tribunal chairman, announced last night.

Freshmen must wear customs every day except Sunday unless it is otherwise announced by Tribunal, Hall emphasized.

Hall was appointed acting head of Tribunal by All-College Elections Committee. When All-College Cabinet meets later this semester, the chairman will appoint an official Tribunal body.

Women Outnumber Men for First Time In College History

Women outnumbered men in enrollment of both the entire student body and the incoming freshman class for the first time in the history of the college this semester, figures released by the College Scheduling Office yesterday reveal.

Civilian students number 2914, with 1150 men and 1764 women. Of the 216 men and 213 women in the senior class, the Agriculture School lists 19 men and 14 women; Chem-Physics School, 85 men, 7 women; Education School, 9 men, 117 women; Engineering School, 65 men; Liberal Arts School, 14 men, 66 women; Mineral Indus-

Committee Slates Artists' Course

Widespread disappointment at the announcement last semester of the discontinuation of the Artists' Course for the duration prompted the committee to make a further effort to schedule the series again this semester, according to Carl P. Marquardt, chairman.

As a result, three Artists' Course numbers will appear at the College this semester.

They are the General Platoff Don Cossacks, scheduled to appear in Schwab Auditorium Friday night, December 3; Alexander Kipnis, baritone, and Martha Lipton, soprano, the attraction for Tuesday night, January 4; and Joseph Szigeti, one of the nation's foremost violinists, with Claudio Arrau, pianist, Tuesday night, January 25.

Tickets for the series this year will be priced at $2.75 and $3.75, plus tax, Dr. Marquardt announced. Seats in the side sections of the balcony will sell for $2.75 and all others for $3.75.

Conforming to last year's policy, the committee announced that there would be no pre-sale but that a system of "priority" numbers would be used instead. The numbers will entitle purchasers to a designated place in the ticket line and obviate long waiting.

Priority numbers will be issued to faculty members on Monday, November 22, between 4 and 5 p.m., and to students Tuesday, November 23, at the same hour.

Holders of priority numbers will return to purchase tickets the next day—faculty members November 23 and students November 24. Windows will be open from 8 a.m. until noon and from 1:30 until 5 p.m.

A-12, V-12 Mental Exam

The qualifying test for civilians wishing to enter the Army A-12 Specialized Training Program or the Navy V-12 College Program will be given in 121 Sparks at 9 a.m. Tuesday, according to Robert E. Galbraith, faculty war service adviser.

Men desiring the Army test must be 17 years old and not over 22 by March 1. Navy candidates must be within the ages of 17 and 20 on March 1. To date 160 students have signed up for the tests, the total equally divided between the Army and Navy.

War Fund Drive Features Lottery For Bond Prizes Collegian Will Supervise Sale of Raffle Tickets

Beginning Friday during payment of fees at the Armory, the campus National War Fund drive will take the form of a lottery with prizes of one $50 and two $25 War Bonds. Sale of tickets at one for 50 cents or three for one dollar, under the general direction of the Collegian staff, will continue for two weeks on campus and in barracks.

The purpose of the National War Fund is to provide a coordinated budget for war-relief organizations and thus prevent the necessity of their making separate appeals for contributions.

Included in membership of the current campaign are 17 agencies whose programs have a universal appeal. Members are: United Service Organizations, United Seamen's Service, War Prisoners Aid, Belgian War Relief Society, British War Relief Society, French Relief Fund, Friends of Luxembourg, Greek War Relief Association, Norwegian Relief, Polish War Relief, Queen Wilhelmina Fund, Russian War Relief, United China Relief, United Czechoslovak Relief, United Yugoslav Relief Fund, Refugee Relief Trustees, and United States Committee for the Care of European Children.

Although details of the campus campaign have not yet been definitely formulated, the Collegian staff will aim at at least a fifty cent contribution from each student. The staff will enlist the aid of active campus organizations in solicitation.

ISC Completes Arrangements For Temple Weekend Foot-Ball

Plans for an informal dance to be given by the Independent Student Committee Temple weekend are now complete. The dance will be held next Saturday from 9 to 12 in Rec Hall.

William Folk, chairman of the dance committee, announced that the committee is calling the dance

Graham Sets Tryouts For New Thespian Show

Thespian tryouts for the group's forthcoming show, set for early January, have been scheduled by George Graham, president.

Auditions for singers, dancers, and actors will be held at Schwab at 7 p. m. Monday. Musician candidates are to meet in the bandroom at Carnegie Hall at 7 p. m. Tuesday, and all those who are interested in signing up for technical crews should report to the Thespian room in Schwab at the same time.

Although the show will not go into rehearsal until next month, Thespians is lining up talent with a view to reorganizing their mobile units which were highly successful in their appearances at various army camps last winter.

Graham also announced a meeting for all members in the Thespian room at 7 p. m. Sunday.

Bucher, Guinivan To Compete For Eighth Semester President

Right on the heels of the state's big-time politics come Penn State's brand new Lion and Key parties who started the wheels of their own small machine rolling early this week. Varying from the plan adopted during the summer when students were elected on a semester basis but through an independent, non-party system, campus cliques reorganized at the end of the summer. The semester basis continues, however, and both parties started things off this week with a minimum amount of complications.

Friction first became evident in the political corner when the Lion party named Jose Lombana their seventh semester presidential candidate and later tension increased when the Key party failed to name a candidate for second semester treasurer.

Jose Lombana originally enrolled at the College in the Class of '45, accumulated enough credits to graduate in six semesters. He graduated in August in Mining Engineering, but re-enrolled this semester in a different school. He was then re-instated in the seventh semester, thus qualifying him as a candidate for this semester.

Meanwhile Key politicians failing to nominate a candidate to run for treasurer for the second semester left Fred Swingle, Lion treasurer candidate, unopposed on the voting ballot.

We Open Our Doors To All Frosh, Sophs

Here's the opportunity of a lifetime. There are innumerable openings on Collegian which can be yours for the asking. We don't ask you if you've had experience; we don't want your best girl as a hostage.

All you need is some spare time and a desire to get ahead in one of the biggest campus activities. All you do is sign your life away to Collegian and we teach you all you have to know about journalism.

All editorial candidates may report for a meeting in the Collegian office, 9 Carnegie Hall, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Business staff candidates will meet in the same place at 7 o'clock Monday evening.

Candidates In The Running

Lion and Key candidates in the eighth semester lineup are Harold Bucher, president, Lion; Thomas Guinivan, president, Key; Susanne Clouser, treasurer, Key; Gloria Duerst, treasurer, Lion.

Jose "Jake" Lombana, seventh semester Lion candidate for president versus Horace "Smitty" Smith, Key candidate. Treasurers candidates for this semester are Joseph Cannon, Key; and Mildred Spanko, Lion.

Sixth semester bids for president are Robert Hastedt, Lion; and Dean Moyer, Key. Vieing for this semester's treasurer office are Jane Gleichert, Key; and Howard Milliken, Lion.

Competing for fifth semester presidential honors are Peggy Lou Chapman, Lion; and Roy DeLaney, Key. Peggy Lou Johnson, Lion, and Raymond Shibley, Key, are treasurer candidates for the same semester.

Edward Carson, Lion, and Van Lundy, Key, oppose each other in the fourth semester battle for president while treasurer candidates for this semester are Allene Babbitt, Lion, and Charlotte "Shorty" Taylor, Key.

Running in the third semester for president are Ruth Anderson, Lion, and Mary Jane Doerner, Key. Elaine Smyers, Lion, and

Casting Nears Finish For Players' Production

"Quality Street," J. M. Barrie's play which will be Player's first show of the semester, will be produced December 10 and 11, according to Grace O. Clayton, graduate assistant in dramatics, who is directing the show under the supervision of Arthur C. Cloetingh.

Tryouts held the beginning of the week resulted in almost complete casting of the show. There still remain a few minor parts to be filled, but the majority of the cast will consist of Betty J. Reed as Miss Phoebe, Alice Geyer as Miss Susan, Anne R. Hazard as Miss Willoughby, Phyllis Ryans as Miss Fannie.

Anna E. Radle as Paddy, Ray Boyle as Valentine Bryon, Henry F. Simon as the recruiting sergeant, Hilda James as Charlotte, Ed Reich as Ensign Blades and William B. D. Harris as Lieutenant Spicer.

Air Corps Test Time Set

The mental exam for the Army Air Corps, set for today, will begin at 8:45 a.m. instead of the originally announced time of 9 a.m. Candidates will report to 401 Old Main.

Men wishing to take both the Air Corps and Army A-12 or Navy V-12 may do so, according to Robert E. Galbraith, FAWS. They must, of course, conform to the physical requirements of the service they choose.
