Groups Release Platforms

Four planks compose the Key party platform. A winter recreational program heads the list and the other three are the reorganization and re-establishment of College hat societies, a juke box for the Old Main Sandwich Shop, and more activities for male students.

The Lion platform states, "We are fully aware of the limitations and restrictions of activities, social and educational, on our campus at this time. However, it is our sincere hope and earnest desire that we may carry on and present as complete a college life as possible. We pledge ourselves to attempt to maintain and improve such activities and college functions as are possible in these times."

Niffany Matmen Look to Navy, Marines For Leadership, Support

Both former Clearfield wrestlers have been stationed at Penn State in the Navy-Marine training group, but Sgt. Wilbur Greene, one of the men, will be unable to compete in varsity competition until February, as he has just entered the Marine program as a basic trainee after several months overseas. An official ruling prevents basic enrollees in the V-12 program from participating in sports until after their first 16 weeks.

The remaining Clearfielder is Seaman Lynn McIlvaine, who wrestled at 133 pounds in high school and fought for the district title in Pennsylvania eliminations last March. Another V-12 man who may take a varsity spot is Pvt. Bob Demeter, Marine trainee from Barracks 13, who originally hailed from John Carroll University.

Chief Gedeon urged all civilians to turn out for practice immediately, as well as sailors and Marines. He also explained that since practice is still in an embryonic form, all weights are open to both experienced and inexperienced men.

varsity football. Roger Plail: soccer team, PSCA. Fred Swingle: Phi Gamma Delta.

Both parties submitted candidates' names and cuts in time to meet the Tuesday deadline set by the elections committee, and now the politicians must begin the prep work for next week's show in the first floor lounge, Old Main, from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

Air Corps Plans Fourth Formal

Army Air Corps students will present their fourth formal dance in Rec Hall at 8.30 p.m. tonight. As before, the gathering will hail the coronation of the new Queen of the Air Corps and bid official farewell to the Graduating Class 43-I.

The evening will include a variety of entertainment and dancing, in addition to the coronation ceremonies. Foremost in the entertainment will be the appearance of A/C Gil Stratton, who in his own inimitable manner will direct the coronation ceremonies. The music for dancing will be provided by the Sky-Blazers, the newly enlarged swing band of the Air Corps Training Detachment. The boys claim they can boast a really solid combination, having members who formerly played with such big name bands as Woodie Herman, Tony Pastor, and Sammy Kaye.

Since this is primarily a graduation dance, it will be restricted to members of the Army Air Forces and their invited guests.
