With the government urging people to put excess money in war bonds and the scarcity of fancy wrapping paper for gifts almost nation wide, one papa of a freshman coed gave his pride and joy a practical item even Uncle Sam couldn't object to. The gift, 75 feet of good strong rope, was dad's idea of safety first. Seems the parent had visited the coed at her Locust Lane lodging and discovered that an unthinking architect had built the frosh dorm sans a fire escape. And now coeds the house over the busy training themselves to get to the young lady's room in double quick time so that in case of fire they can use Tarzan tactics and make out the hard way.

Dance, Mister! . . .

Hup, two three, dip, step, and servicemen at the College learn to shuffle while they march. Gloria Woodward shouted forth the tidings that for just ten cents a dance a uniform wearer can be the life of the party. All men interested in winning friends this easier way may sign up at the service center for ten dancing classes to be held in the Armory 3 to 4:30 p.m. Saturday afternoon. The price, just one dollar for the ten lessons, and volunteers will find real live coeds ready to help them through this social basic training.

Lions Tales . . .

We found ourselves besieged with special items upon returning from the holidays. You'll be seeing numerous frosh at the Navy-Marine formal this Saturday evening including Jean Ford with Walt Benney, Marie Mathewson with Ray Jackson, Marty Ball with Luke Huber and Bette Viehl with Walt Kemmerrer, and Jay Jones with Bill Patridge.

Where Am I . . .

And they say professors are absent-minded . . . A coed who stayed up most of the night studying for a psych statistics blue book journeyed into Sparks bright and early the next morning to discover alas, too late, that she had forgotten the room number. Only one thought was clear. The room was somewhere on the ground floor.

Frantically she ran through the halls trying first one floor, then another. After she had fumbled at the same door three times an alarmed prof delegated one air crew student to leave class and try to discover the young lady's problem. She confided in the gentleman and then she repeated the story to several other air corps representatives who had watched her opening and closing doors at random.

The boys volunteered their services and with undying patience they trotted all through the halls trying each and every door. Even they couldn't find the room; however, and a completely confused coed went to the psychology department with her problem. They told her the whereabouts of the room but, too late, and she took the test that afternoon in the prof's office where everything was nice and quiet. Tough, or as they say in the barracks . . . well tough.

Thirty-five former students have recently reported to the AAF Pre-Flight School for Pilots at Maxwell Field, Alabama, an installation of the Army Air Forces' Training Command, to begin another phase of their training as pilots in the U. S. Army Air Forces' Expanding program.

These aviation cadets include Jerome Berlinger, Dick Cook, Fred Frankfort, Dick Gray, Edward Hahn, Sam Haines, Jesse Hawthorne, Ed Hendler, Jim Hoag, Sam Holland, Howard Horne, Bill Hosler.

Bill May, Jay McCardell, Joe McCurdy, Bill Manzie, and Wendel Young.

With Commissions

Capt. Curtis Miller, pilot of a Martin Marauder bomber in 3 combat missions over Africa, the Mediterranean, Sicily, and Italy is now at the Army Air Forces Redistribution Station No. 2 at Miami Beach for reassignment.

Winner of the Air Medal seven times in addition to a personal citation from Major Gen. James H. Doolittle, Capt. Miller will be examined by selected medical and classification officers whose joint findings determine a returnee's next assignment.

John McNeilis and Bill Messerly recently received their Navy wings and were commissioned Ensigns in the Naval Reserve following completion of the prescribed training course at the Naval Air Training Center, Pensacola, Florida.

Second Lt. Fred Sullivan has arrived at the Pecos Army Air Field and is assigned as meteorologist. Lt. Sullivan, who entered the service last March, was assigned to Pecos from Chanute Field, Illinois where he was a student of meteorology.

Milton Dinowitz, former meteorology student, recently was commissioned second lieutenant in the Army Air Force and assigned to the world-wide Army Airways Communications system in Columbus, Ga.

Aviation Cadet William Bates was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Forces after completing bombardier training at the Carlsbad (New Mexico) Army Air Field.

Officers-To-Be

Aviation Cadets Dave Lundy and Charles Burge have reported for duty at the Army Air Forces Bombardier School, Carlsbad, New Mexico, where they will study advanced high-level bombardiering and dead-reckoning navigation.

Here and There

Phil Mitchel, ex-biz manager of the Collegian, left for New Cumberland yesterday. Ray Stock is now at Fort Custer, Michigan, while Pfc. Paul N. Woodland has been promoted to the rank of corporal.

Pretty Partisan

Sparkling eyes and a tooth-paste-ad smile belie the deadly skill with which the comely miss above kills Germans. She's "Zaga," a Yugoslav partisan sniper who has slain many Nazis, taken an oath to kill many more.
