Theta Sigma Phi Lists Honor Women Nominees

Names of the prominent college women chosen to fill the positions of Theta Sigma Phi's Quill girl, Matrix girl, and Cap girl will be announced at the journalism honorary's annual banquet to be held at the Corner Room, 7 p. m. Wednesday, January 26.

Guest speaker for the Matrix Dinner will be authoress Princess Paul Sapieha, American born wife of a Polish nobleman, who has recently written "Beyond This Shore," a novel contrasting the European and American ways of life. Princess Sapieha also wrote "Polish Profile," a novel based upon her life and experience in Europe.

Elections for Cap girl will be held at Student Union from January 14 to 23. Miriam Zartman, Ann Carruthers, and Dorothy Jones have been selected as candidates for this position. Students and faculty members are eligible to vote for Cap girl, who is to typify outstanding performance in campus activities, announced Barbara Menies, president of Theta Sigma Phi.

Matrix and Quill girls will be chosen by the members of the journalism honorary from a list of girls whom they believe are outstanding in scholarships, activities, and personality, stated Miss Menies.

State, Dickinson Engage In Debate

The 41st annual intercollegiate debate between the teams of Dickinson College and Penn State was presented by the Forensic Council in 121 Sparks at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday on the subject, "Resolved: That the United States should cooperate in establishing and maintaining an international police force upon the defeat of the Axis."

The first of the constructive speeches was given by James F. Rodgers, Dickinson, who proposed a world federation and an international police force that would be controlled and operated by an assembly of representatives of each sovereign nation. A two-thirds vote would be required for the assembly to use the police force in settling any dispute.

Charles L. Stonage, Penn State, delivered a constructive speech for the negative, in which he held that the United States should pursue a plan of international opportunism and post-war collaboration with all peace-loving nations. His three main points were:

1. No international organization will work because it will require a surrender of the sovereignty of the participating nations.
2. An international police force is impractical.
3. Our best course is one of vigilant international collaboration.

In the following cross-examination, Zelmar Barson, Penn State, drew applause from the audience by his leading Rodgers, Dickinson, into a contradiction of one of his statements.

In the summary rebuttals that followed, Barson, Penn State, reaffirmed the negative's stand that an international assembly could usurp the liberties of an individual nation.

Princess Paul Sapieha, author of "Beyond This Shore" and "Polish Profile," will be the guest speaker at the Matrix dinner Wednesday, January 26.

Herbert Corrects Error In Winter Ball Poster Competition Deadline

Students with combined artistic and promotional tendencies have been offered an outlet in the way of a poster contest sponsored by All-College Cabinet in connection with its semester's largest-scale project, the coming formal Winter Ball set for February 5. Steve Herbert, dance chairman, corrected an error in the poster contest closing date by stating that the deadline is January 17, not February 17 as announced in material advertising the competition.

The winner selected by the dance committee will receive a prize of $10. All posters must be submitted on standard size poster paper, two by three feet, and handed in at Student Union by January 17, Herbert said.

Following the current trend of queen-choosing, Cabinet will recognize another campus beauty as "Snow Queen" at the Ball. Coeds voting in dining commons will nominate several applicants, while final election will be in the hands of dance ticket purchasers.

Bobby Sherwood, currently of Miami Beach, will bring his new-style syncopation to Rec Hall for a one-night stand from 8:30 to 12 p. m. February 5. In spite of the fact that he has made only two recordings to date, Sherwood was voted ninth in popularity among orchestra leaders in a "Make-Believe Ballroom" contest over station WNEW, New York.

Of a theatrical family, the maestro began study of the banjo at the age of six and was ready for

College Plans Coke Canteen For Armory

A plan is underway to transform the Armory into a combination Sandwich Shop and canteen for servicemen and civilian students, Harold Bucher, All-College Cabinet chairman, announced at Cabinet meeting Monday evening. The coca-cola machine which is now in the first floor Old Main lounge will be moved into the Armory, since the lounge will be restored to its former capacity. No definite date has been set for the Armory plan, however.

Suggestions were advanced at Cabinet meeting for revision of the College constitution as follows: (1) that the seven school councils should be represented on Cabinet and (2) that in the future, previous semester's Cabinet members stay in office during the first month of the following semester, until new officers are elected at All-College elections.

The committee on revising the constitution was asked to consider these suggestions at its next meeting. In a general resume of the necessity for revising the constitution, Cabinet Chairman Harold Bucher stated that when the present constitution was drawn up last year it was felt that college civilian enrollment would drop to about 700 or 800 for the duration. But in view of the present civilian enrollment of over 3,000, the document as it stands now is inadequate in several respects.

In conjunction with the Fourth War Loan Drive, Cabinet laid plans to raffle off the basketball used in the Colgate game a week from tomorrow. Price of the raffle ticket will be one war stamp.

Newman Will Address Pre-Medical Meeting

Prof. George B. Newman of the zoology department will be guest speaker at the semi-monthly meeting of the pre-medical society in 110 Home Economics at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, according to Thomas W. Guinivan, president.

Speaking on "The Importance of Ethics in a Medical Career," Newman will present this topic in an avocational manner.

An all-time high in attendance was established last week when 1,583 persons attended the showing of the film "The Birth of a Baby."

Interested persons are always welcome at the meeting, Guinivan added.

No Final Exams For Graduating Seniors

College Senate Drops Collegian No Finals Plan At Meeting

The no-finals proposal initiated last semester has definitely been ruled out, final action having been taken on the issue at the College Senate meeting of January 6.

The student petition requesting the privilege of exemptions from final exams for those with a class grade of 2 or higher was referred to the Committee on Academic Standards, which gave its report at the Senate meeting.

The complete report, which is on file in the office of the registrar, contained a detailed statement of the reactions of the several schools to the proposal. The recommendation of the Committee on Academic Standards stated:

"In keeping, therefore, with the findings based on the majority reactions of the various schools of the College in respect to the matter under discussion, the Committee on Academic Standards recommends that the present rules and regulations concerning final examinations be continued in force."

Two Industrial Men To Interview Seniors

Two industrial representatives will visit the campus to interview senior engineering students on Monday and Tuesday, George N. P. Leetch, director of the College Placement Service, announced today.

G. D. Close, a representative of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, O., will interview senior mechanical and chemical engineering students, metallurgy majors, and men in commerce and finance on January 17 and 18.

E. W. Gallenkamp, of the York Corporation, formerly York Ice Machinery, will be on the campus Monday to interview students the following day. He plans to talk to all mechanical and industrial engineering students who are interested in the college graduate student training course being offered by the York Corporation.

For further information concerning the above-mentioned interviews, all students are asked to come to 204 Old Main.

Senior Exams Off During Finals Week

In accordance with action taken by the College Senate at its meeting on January 6, candidates for the bachelor's degree at the commencement on February 24 will not be held for scheduled final examinations, according to Registrar William Hoffman.

Class work for these students will end on Thursday, February 17, at 5 p. m. Grades for all candidates for degrees, including advanced degrees, must be in the office of the registrar not later than the following Monday, February 21, at 8 a. m.

If any member of the faculty knows that a person whose name is included in the following list cannot be graduated the name should be turned in to the office of the registrar at the very earliest date in order that the student may be informed that he must take final examinations. Any student who expects to graduate on February 24 and whose name does not appear on the list should report this fact, in writing, to the office of the registrar at the earliest possible date in order that his instructors may be informed that he will not be held for scheduled final examinations.

Students who graduate this semester are:

Susanne Margaret Abel, AL; Eric Lyn Adams, M.S.; Althea Maria Aguglia, Psy; John Brindle Angeline, Ag Ec; Samuel Hersh Barbour, EE; Kenneth Harold Beck Jr., EE; Neil Dougherty Beezer, AL; William Emerson Berkey, ME; Audrey Mae Bever, HE; Dorothy Catherine Black, HE; Ann Scruggs Bland, AL; Margot Davidson Blass, HE; Harriette Block, ABC; Roscoe Earl Blyler, ME; Elizabeth Ellen Boger, AL; Catherine Hall Bostwick, Ed; Thomas Jacob Brice, M.S.; Arthur Martin Brockman, IE; Harold Follner Bucher Jr., IE; Paul Michael Budzak, Mng; James Wilson Bush, Cer; Robert Lee Campbell, IE; William James Campbell, ME; Anna Minerva Carpenter, Ed; Virginia Lee Carter, (Continued on page seven)

Thespians Shift Show Date; Galvanick Calls For More Members

Date for the new Thespian show has been shifted from the end of January to March 24 and 25, according to Paul Galvanick, production manager. Reason for the change is that the calendar of activities for the rest of this semester is already filled up, Galvanick said.

The entire cast is lined up, but there are still a few openings for students who can do pantomime. Anyone interested is asked to report to 405 Old Main any night next week.

Already in rehearsal for the show are the chorus, the band, and the glee club. Several additions have been made to the chorus which now numbers 14 and is working on five or six routines.

The 24-piece band, under Jim Burden's direction, is concentrating on a specialty arrangement of "Diane," a number which Burden characterized as "a tune that everyone recognizes but no one knows by name." The glee club, with 20 male and female voices, has been in rehearsal on "Rocking Chair" and "Franklin D. Roosevelt Jones."

Domestic Quarrels Rage—

Players Cast Presents "The Father" Tonight

Curtain will rise in Schwab Auditorium at 8 o'clock this evening and tomorrow evening on the second Players show of the season, "The Father," written by August Strindberg in 1887.

Strindberg's play, "The Father," is largely autobiographical. The various instances in his life which made him hate women led him to write this story. He is of the school of realists and was a contemporary of Ibsen, whom he hated.

Married and divorced three times, Strindberg projected himself into his writings to become the captain in this play.

He believed that there were rights which women could always call their own and those which men would claim forever and that they could never be interchanged. This theory is the reverse of Ibsen's who predicted the coming of an era in which women had more rights than ever before.

The terrible culmination of events in "The Father" due to the hate Strindberg felt for his wife depicts fully his own life and is considered his greatest play.

Newell C. Cook, playing the lead in "The Father," also had the name part in Shakespeare's Macbeth, the role of Oberon in "Midsummer Night's Dream," and Montoya in Anderson's "Night Over Taos" as an undergraduate at Florida Southern College.

Verna Sevast, who portrays Laura, his wife, has most recently appeared in "The Moon Is Down" by John Steinbeck and in the play "Ephrata," by Prof. Frank Neusbaum and Katherine Pope. Harry Pably, depicting the pastor, has also played in numerous Players productions. He played the part of Dr. Einstein in "Arsenic and Old Lace."

As a psychological play, "The Father" is a study of the struggle for power which goes on between a husband and wife for individual control of their children, according to Director Stanley C. Danowski, graduate student in dramatics.

The cast, including Palma Wakefield, Leatrice Strober, Harry Pably, Joseph Mayers, Joseph Doerner, Thomas Monaghan, and bookholder Rose Marino, will present the show tonight and tomorrow evening at the same time.

Tickets may be obtained at Student Union until 5 p. m. today and tomorrow, it was announced.
