

Army Service Forces Declares Procurement Suspension Might Cease

That the Aviation Cadet procurement suspension might cease in the near future was the opinion recently released by the Army Service Forces at Harrisburg.

With regard to this, newspaper articles will soon appear in the Harrisburg Recruiting District stating that the recent announcements by the War Department that 36,000 enlisted men had been transferred from the Army Air Forces to the Army Ground Forces in no way affects the many young men who have enlisted for air crew training.

All men now enlisted for air crew training or waiting orders pending them to the various Army Air Force classification centers are still enlisted in the Army Air Corps, and their status as members of the Air Force Enlisted Reserve remains as is.

Moore Envisions College Education For Servicemen In Postwar Era

A postwar plan which would enable returning servicemen to complete their college education on an accelerated scale and, at the same time, permit civilian students to combine study with work experience was envisioned today by Dr. Bruce V. Moore, head of the department of education and psychology at the College.

"An accelerated plan for servicemen will be a postwar 'must'," Dr. Moore said. "The youths who left college for war service will return mature men and women, eager to complete their preparation for a vocation and assume their new responsibilities. Unquestionably, the majority of this group will want to pursue their educations throughout the year."

Although he is opposed to continuation of the present three-semester program for civilian students, Dr. Moore emphasized "there should be no return to the old so-called leisurely ways without a careful evaluation of both the old and the new." The long summer vacation, he said, may have been beneficial for the health of a few students but for many it was time wasted.

Dr. Moore feels the benefits of the old two-semester system and the accelerated plan could be combined in a work-study program, by which students would alternate academic study with actual vocational experience. Under this plan, he points out, students would enjoy gradual introduction into the realistic world, accrue work experience, and be better qualified to make vocational choices.

PSCA Releases Booklet

"Unto the Hills," a PSCA-written Lenten booklet, is now ready for distribution in 304 Old Main. It contains several poems and articles on the different mountains and hills with religious connection.

Dorothy Colyer edited the booklet. The articles were written by Violet Siegle, Dick Gillespie, Dick Mauthe, Alma Kingsley, Mary Margaret Dunlap, Ernie Lowe, Jean Butz, Ted Horner, Virginia Thompson, Dorothy Colyer, and Alice Drumm.

Brunner Attends Panel

Dr. Henry S. Brunner, head of the department of agricultural education at the College, recently attended the annual University of Pennsylvania Schoolman's Week.

Dr. Brunner participated in a panel discussion of vocational agriculture problems in the war effort and their solution on federal and state levels.

IWA Plans Semi-Formal

To raise funds for a $50 scholarship to be awarded in June, IWA is making plans for a semi-formal dance to be held in White Hall May 13, it was announced today. The dance will be termed "The First Annual Scholarship Dance."

All the net profit will be deposited in the scholarship fund. The dance committee is headed by Elaine Freed.

Lt. Frank H. Lister has been assigned to the ASTP program at the College.

Lieutenant Lister enlisted August 28, 1940, and has been with the staff at Carnegie Tech since August 2, 1940 until his transfer here.

Campus News Briefs

Easter dinner will be served by the catering class in the Maple Room on Thursday. Reservations must be made, and the price is one dollar per plate.

Maple Room menus for the current week are: Tuesday, fresh ham steak; Wednesday, roast beef; Thursday, roast lamb. Dinners are 70 cents. Others are served for 60 cents and 45 cents.

Books for war prisoners, especially textbooks, are being collected now by freshman girls. Anyone wishing to contribute is asked to notify the Christian Association.

A research committee designed to assist communities in meeting their postwar problems has been established at the College, with Dr. C. W. Hasek as chairman.

It has been cool and damp on 23 of the last 45 Easter Sundays observed in April, according to Charles L. Taylor, assistant meteorologist at the College.

Penstate Inka Betsy, a Holstein in the College herd, was recently cited for topping all other senior four-year-olds in Pennsylvania for fat production, Andrew A. Borland, head of the dairy department, said today. Betsy's production record is more than five times that of the average dairy cow in the nation.

Upon recommendation of the policy committee of the Audio-Visual Aids Library, a small amount of money has been allocated for film rentals from other library sources in order to encourage resident departments to

Janie

(Continued from page one) provides the climax of the play—a climax which, coupled with the play's other attractions, kept New York audiences coming back for more for 77 weeks.

A thoroughly delightful rehearsal scene, which, unfortunately, won't be seen by the cash customers, is provided by Prof. A. C. Cloetingh's demonstration to Janie of just exactly how to show off a devastating gown to Lawrence. Prof. Cloetingh plays the scene beautifully, complete with admiring glances at himself in a hand mirror.

Janie's advertising staff have not been idle while all this strenuous rehearsing has been going on. Headed by manager Lee Friedman and assistant Shirley Beth Levine, it has prepared a little excitement for the Campus (and incidentally, a little publicity for the show).

On April 10, the Monday before the show, at a strategic place and at a time rumored to be about noon, members of the cast and crew will give out 100 black-and-white saddle shoes, 2 of which will have the lucky numbers that will give the holder 2 free tickets to the play.

Campus cops are anticipating a slight traffic problem on that day.

"Turn up shirt collars before washing them . . ."

This fella has the right idea—it's just his technique that's a little sour. Shirt collars will last much longer if they are turned up before being sent to the laundry, for then the crease around the top doesn't get such heavy rubbing and consequently lasts longer before fraying.

Another fine point to remember—when you need new shirts, whether military or civilian, buy Arrow. They live up to their fine reputation for lasting wear and perfect fit. Don't forget the Sanforized label, which guarantees fabric shrinkage less than 1%.
