

Prof. Dye, Ham, Malcolm Retire Lowry, Gravatt, Govier Also Finish Teaching

Ending a long association with the College, six prominent members of the College faculty left a gap in the faculty ranks by retiring from active instruction. Dr. William Seddinger Dye Jr., head of the department of English literature, was for 35 years a great popularizer of Shakespeare among a student body traditionally avoiding the dry classics. Author of several books, Dr. Dye is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, where he obtained his bachelor's degree in 1905, his master's 1908, and his doctor's degree in 1915.

He is a member of the Modern Language association of America; the Pennsylvania Historical Society, the English Association of London, England, the Shakespeare Association, Phi Kappa Phi, and Acacia Fraternity—of which he was national president from 1922 to 1929. His hobby is painting to which he will devote most of his time after his retirement.

Dr. William R. Ham, has returned to Lewiston, Me., where he hopes to perfect the weapon to which he has devoted unending hours since the assault on Pearl Harbor. A scientist with a wide range of interests, he is mainly responsible for the advancement and growth of the physics department, where he taught for 35 years.

John Malcolm, whose main interests have been engaged by music and mathematics, was retired as associate professor of mathematics after 27 years of service to the College, having previously relinquished his long-time post as organist at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

Dr. Ellsworth Lowry, associate professor of education in the department of education extension also had a long experimental work in reading, has published articles in the Elementary School (Continued on page eight)

S. LEWIS LAND

Trustees Name Department Head

Dr. S. Lewis Land has been appointed the new head of the department of industrial education at the College. He assumed his position July 1.

Dr. Land has a long record as leader in the field of industrial education, for the past seven years serving as supervisor of industrial education and industrial teacher training for the New York State Education Department.

He received his education at the East Tennessee Normal School (diploma, 1919); Peabody College for Teachers (B.S., 1922); the University of Wisconsin (M.S., 1925); and New York University, where he completed his doctorate in 1931.

The author of three standard texts on steamfitting, plumbing, and air-conditioning, and editor of three trade journals, Dr. Land holds membership in a number of organizations, including Phi Delta Kappa (education) and Iota Lambda Sigma (industrial education); also in the American Vocational Association and the National Education Association.

Players Set Final Tryouts For New Play

Final tryouts for "Ladies in Retirement," to be presented by Players August 11 and 12, will be held in Little Theatre 7 p.m. Sunday, according to Prof. L. E. Tucker of the Dramatics department who will direct this latest dramatic endeavor. Six female and one male roles are needed in this cast.

All students wishing to try out should sign up at Student Union today or tomorrow morning for an appointment. All regular students, and summer session students who expect to remain on campus until August 12, are eligible. Preliminary try outs were held Wednesday and Thursday evenings, but a definite cast will not be selected until early next week.

"Ladies in Retirement," set in a large ancestral manor in England, concerns a young maid who murders her matronly employee on behalf of her two elder sisters. Mr. Tucker is sure that this mystery thriller will appeal to the college audience that has attended previous Players' productions.

Enrollment Totals 2820, Frosh 462

Freshmen represent one-third of the total civilian enrollment at the College this semester, Registrar William S. Hoffman disclosed today. He set the total figure at 1280, of which 462 are first and second semester freshmen.

The 1200 civilian students, when added to 685 summer session enrollees, 565 Navy V-12 trainees, and 290 ASTP students, places the total campus population at 2820. Registrar Hoffman said the new freshmen number approximately 370.

Women outnumber men by a slight margin in the civilian student body but addition of military and naval trainees again returns men to a dominant position on the campus with a total of 1464 as compared with 667 women. These figures are exclusive of the summer session enrollment, which is traditionally composed largely of women.

The civilian enrollment (by schools and classes) follows:

School	Fr.	Soph.	Jr.	Sr.
Agriculture	45	32	13	29
Chemistry, Physics	99	65	28	15
Education	45	63	71	85
Engineering	115	42	33	18
Liberal Arts	2	5	44	47
Lower Division	126	96	—	—
Mineral Industries	7	10	8	5
Phys.-Ed.	23	6	7	1
Totals	462	319	204	200

All candidates from last semester are also asked to report at this time.

College Elections Code Approved By Cabinet

Danilov Tells Frosh To Procure 1944-45 Student Handbooks

All freshmen are advised to procure the new Student Handbook, at the PSCA office, 304 Old Main, according to Victor Danilov, editor. Many have obtained the 1943-44 handbook which has now become obsolete.

The Freshman Handbook, a Penn State tradition, appears each June. It plays an important role in every student's college career beginning at its required possession by all freshmen.

According to Editor Danilov, the new condensed handbook displays many advantages over its predecessors. All specific freshman information has been placed in one section, Orientation. The nine other sections into which the book is divided are the College, Government, PSCA, Organizations, Activities, Athletics, Songs and Cheers, Servicemen and Information.

New college calendar, the mileage to nearby cities, and much other valuable information has been included.

All new pictures have been added. Full-page pictures of Old Main and the Lion Shrine dominate the front and back inside covers.

Band, Orchestra, Choir To Continue

The band, orchestra, and choir will all be active this summer it was announced by the music department today.

Orchestra, a one credit course, rehearses in Carnegie Hall each Monday from 7 to 8:30 p. m. Band meets every Wednesday night in 117 Carnegie Hall from 7 to 8:30. New players are urged to come to the rehearsals next week. Prof. Hummel Fishburn, head of the music department stated that students who can play need not own instruments as the College has a sufficient number to supply those who have none.

"The Chapel choir is in great need of singers and will be composed almost entirely of new members because of the number of choir members who recently graduated or were drafted," stated Mrs. Willa C. Taylor, assistant director of music who is in charge of the choir.

The choir rehearses in 117 Carnegie Hall each Thursday night from 7 to 8:30 and every Sunday morning in Schwab Auditorium at 10:30, just before Chapel service. Additional tryouts for choir will be held this week in 211 Carnegie Hall, coeds may try out from 7 to 9 p. m. on Tuesday and men the same hours on Wednesday night.

Choir, band, and orchestra are all open to summer session students, graduate students, and faculty members as well as undergraduate students.

Galvanek Submits New Articles for Ratification

Approval of the revised All-College Elections Code for the Summer Semester was given by Cabinet at its first meeting of the semester. Submitted by Paul Galvanek, chairman of the Elections Committee, the new provisions are as follows:

Article I: Time of Voting

Voting will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on July 18 and 19. The polls will be open continuously between the above specified hours on these two dates.

Article II: Place of Voting

Elections will be held in the first floor lounge of Old Main.

Article III: Eligibility for Office

Every candidate shall be required to have a "1" average for his entire college career. The registrar's list shall be official in determining the candidate's average.

Any student is eligible to run for president or treasurer of the semester in which his college credits place him. The registrar's office shall be official in determining a student's semester rank. (1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8.)

Article IV: Clique Organization

A clique must file a complete membership list with the Elections Committee. This list must designate the official clique chairman and other clique officers together with the names and semester of every clique member. This list must be signed by the clique chairman and clique secretary.

This list must be turned in to Student Union by 4 p.m. Tuesday, July 11. Additional names of clique members may be filed only with the permission of the Elections Committee chairman.

Article V: Method of Nomination

Any regular student meeting the above requirements of scholarship and semester rank will be eligible for nomination of president or treasurer of his respective semester.

To be nominated a candidate must receive a plurality vote, i.e., more votes for that particular office than any other candidate. The (Continued on page eight)

PSCA Cabinet Sponsors Frosh Program Series For Summer

PSCA Cabinet sponsorship of a series of programs for new freshmen and enlisted students for the summer semester was announced yesterday by James T. Smith, PSCA secretary.

Freshman Men's Council will meet in Hugh Beaver Room, 7:30 p.m. Monday evening, under the leadership of last semester's officers, Robert Barefoot, Frank Fryburg, and William Morton. Meeting will be conducted for the purpose of acquainting all freshman men with College traditions, administration, and various activities of PSCA and other student organizations.

Russell E. Clark, '19, bursar of the College, will speak to the group on "Penn State in World War I." At this same time, nominations for the vice-president will be made.

Council plans for the future include an overnight cabin party July 15 to 16, elections, and a mixer July 17.

Freshman Women's Council, which meets in the Hugh Beaver Room Tuesday nights at 7:30, invites all freshman coeds to attend the cabin party tomorrow. Upperclassmen will meet the girls at 2:30 p.m. or 4 p.m. at the rear of Old Main. Hikers are requested to sign up by noon today in 304 Old Main. Those coming should bring 25 cents, and if they wish to stay overnight, they should bring blankets. Ann Berkheimer is in charge of the affair.

At the second meeting of the Forum, "Coed Questions" will be the topic of discussion. Opening the discussion with the "do's and don'ts" of campus etiquette, Miss Edith Melville and Miss Jeanne Richards, assistants to the dean of women; Mary Margaret Dunlap, vice-president of PSCA; and Kit Frasso will be in charge.

Temporary committees of freshman girls will be set up to plan for parties with the Men's Council and to suggest programs for July. This organization will lead up to Forum elections to be held later in the month. Upperclassmen assisting the Forum in formulating the organization for new members are Mary Margaret Dunlap, Dorothy Colyer, Jean Farley, and Jane Cromis.

First feature of the program for servicemen and their guests sponsored by PSCA is the free movie, "Under Two Flags," starring Ronald Coleman, Claudette Colbert, and Victor McLaglen, in 121 Sparks, 2 p.m. Sunday.

Further programs to be planned by a servicemen's council will include cabin parties, open houses, and hikes.
