

More, Better Deer Ready For College Nimrods, Dec. 1

If December 1 brings snow, the College campus may be deleted of its entire male population.

It won't be the draft catching up with all the remaining men, but the deer hunting season which opens on that date will lure them into the forests in search of bigger and better deer than have been available for the past two seasons.

According to Dr. P. F. English, associate professor of wildlife management at the College, somewhere between 750,000 and 1,000,000 deer are lurking in the state's hills and forests and approximately 200,000 hunters will go in search of them.

"The kill, however," explained Dr. English, "will depend largely upon the weather. Snowy weather is best for deer hunting, because snow muffles the sound of the hunters' walk and also permits them to track the animal."

Not only has the supply of deer taken a turn for the better, but the quality of the animal has also improved. Dr. English claims the more food has increased the average weight of deer and also has helped make the antlers larger and more beautiful.

Dean Trabue Announces 39 On Education List

The Dean's List of the School of Education for the Summer Semester as announced by Dean M. R. Trabue includes the following 39 students. Six attained an average of three for the semester.

Seniors: Marcia M. Crichton, Rose D. Deveck, Betty L. Dunmire, Marilyn R. Gillespie, Frances T. Grasberg, Florence M. Grossman, Edna M. Keen, Alma J. Kehler, Ruth M. Kauffmann, Marian K. Krape, Betty J. Luchtemeyer, Bernice E. Martin, Marjorie E. Mattern, Betty A. Meals, Anna E. Milotta, Shirley Silverstein.

Juniors: Mary M. Alderson, Gertrude Y. Cohen, Arline Crystal, Geraldine E. Dils, Mary M. Frederickson, Kathleen C. Hamilton, Cecile B. Henschel, Marjorie J. Houck, Virginia B. Kunkle, Athena Lozos, Virginia L. Minshall, Martha L. Neff, Marie Radomsky, Gertrude Rosen, Doris E. Standberg, Harriet Strauber.

Sophomores: Anna Atkins, Marian S. Bryan, Mary M. Dunlap, Sarah T. Masurovsky, Barbara J. Reinkemyer, Ruth A. Shields. Specials: Helma Weisberg.

Home Economics School Lists Semester's Students

The following home economic students made averages of two or three during the summer semester of 1944:

Seniors: Bette Jane Drouse, Cyrene Newcomb Hewitt, Georgene C. Johnson, Viola M. Kjar, Betty Jean Luchtemeyer, Bernice E. Martin, Mary T. Pickering, Marie Radomsky, Ruth G. Riddle, and Joan Margaret Wolf.

Juniors: Anna Oleona Atkins, Mary Margaret Dunlap and Mary Margaret Fredrickson.

Sophomores: Kathryn Louise Arbogast.

Freshmen: Betty Jane Flory, Sarah Anne Knapp, Ruth Rene Kuntzleman, Norma Elizabeth Lash, and Frances M. McKnight.

The following home economic students made averages of two or three during the spring and summer semesters of 1944:

Seniors: Mary Margaret Alderson, Rose Dorothy Deveck, Consuela L. Goehring, K. Clarice Hamilton, Marjorie Jane Houck, Lois I. Lunn and Margaret S. Olson.

Juniors: Sarah T. Masurovsky. Sophomores: Sara Elizabeth Achenback, Paige Heath, and Barbara Jane Reinkemyer.

Yoo! Hoo! Replaced By Messages in Morse

Pocahontas probably used smoke signals to communicate with her admirers. Evangeline, no doubt, placed a candle at the window. But coeds in Watts and Jordan Halls have adapted these techniques to a wartime campus and send greetings to the men via morse code.

Through the dormitory windows goes a fast interchange of student conversation each evening, for the V-12 men, recipients of the signalling are expert at replies. Instruments for sending messages range from a ten cent flashlight to expensive fluorescent lamps.

According to the sailors there is only one flaw in the whole arrangement. With the large number of blinking lights confronting them each night across campus, it's a little difficult deciding which one to answer.

Ag Student Council Plans Fall Activities

Agricultural Student Council has elected officers for the fall semester. They are: Fred Ernst, president; Leroy Shutt, vice president; Elizabeth Hutchinson, secretary; Richard Trieble, treasurer, and John J. Kunzweiler, delegate-at-large.

Tentative plans have been made for an Ag Mixer to be given for freshman agriculture students. A committee has been appointed to coordinate plans for a monthly publication which would concentrate on the activities of those enrolled in the School of Agriculture.

John Kunzweiler is chairman of this committee which also includes Phyllis Bare, Betty Nix, Katherine Raup, Edith Rison, and Kathleen Ryder.

Trabue, Betts, Werner Attend Teachers' Council

Dean Marion R. Trabue, Dr. Emmett A. Betts, and Professor William L. Werner of the College will be speakers at the 34th annual meeting of the National Council of Teachers of English to be held at Columbus, Ohio, from November 23 to 25.

Dean Trabue will be chairman of a meeting on the development of language power in the elementary school, and will also speak on "Some Challenges to Those Planning Research."

The interrelationship of reading and spelling in the elementary schools will be Dr. Betts' subject at the Saturday meeting.

Professor Werner will speak in a symposium on "The New Picture of the College English Instructor" at a meeting of the college section.

IWA Announces Officers

Fall semester officers of IWA are: Rose Schulman, president; Audrey Peters, corresponding secretary; Betty Luchtemeyer, recording secretary; Jacqueline Falloon, treasurer; and Birdie Deimel, publicity chairman.

Dean's List Omissions

The office of Dean Frank C. Whitmore has announced that due to an error in calculation two students in the School of Chemistry and Physics were omitted from the list of honor students for the summer semester. They are Nancy J. Hoeflich, 2.58; and Gladys Stryker, 2.58.

Penn State Club Plans Dorm Dance

In a drive to come up to its pre-war standing, the Penn State Club has begun its semester's activities with plans for a Dorm Dance at Frazier Hall December 1.

Officers have recently been elected and installed. They are: Edwin Frost, president; John Dickstein, vice-president; Gerald Danchelsky, secretary; Wallace McCurdy, treasurer; James Work, social chairman; Louis Plotnick, historian; and Arthur Bohard, athletic committee chairman.

Initiation of 25 new members will take place in the headquarters of the club, 321 Old Main on December 5.

Under the direction of Arthur Bohard, athletic chairman, a bowling league has been organized for the club members. The Penn State Club has also formed an intramural basketball league for all independent teams wishing to participate. Keys will be awarded to the members of the winning team.

Mark Warns Students Against Theft of Coats

Captain Philip A. Mark, head of the Campus Patrol, requested today that students take their coats to class with them and not leave them hanging in the corridors. There have been numerous thefts of wraps since the semester began and they threaten to increase unless this warning is heeded, he said.

Girls leaving their rooms when there is no one in them should lock either the door or wardrobe, Captain Mark warned, adding that thievery from rooms has continued for several years and it could be prevented if students would take better care of their clothing.

ASTP Member Receives Citation For Gallantry

By ESTELLE SIMON

"Outstanding gallantry and determination in successfully executing forced landing assaults against a number of strongly defended Japanese positions" read the presidential citation awarded to the officers and enlisted men of the First Marine Division, Reinforced.

Among those who were part of this division is Jacob F. Krok, T/5 who is stationed at the College as part of the permanent cadre of the ASTP units.

T/5 Krok is a shy young man who admits to being a stretcher bearer during the campaign for which his outfit was cited. He went overseas after only six weeks of training and received his rating as surgical technician at Guadalcanal.

Although he admits that two of his best friends were lost as they acted as stretcher bearers, T/5 Krok's thoughts seem to dwell more on the wounded whom he rescued than on the dangers he encountered.

The returned serviceman recalls that patients had to lie on the ground in litters, unprotected from ravenour flies. At night he says they lifted the stretchers to tin cans to prevent water from seeping through the litters.

With a touch of pride Krok also says that his outfit built the first army hospital and took care of the army, navy, and marine casualties.

Although T/5 Krok has always been part of the army since he entered service, all commands were subordinated to the commander of the First Marine Division. General Alexander A. Vandegrift. As part of this division he served in Guadalcanal and nearby island bases 27 months. He was evacuated to New Caledonia and then ordered to the States.

The citation for the entire division was authorized by the President on February 4, 1943. Not until last week did it catch up with Krok. Lt. Col. Guy G. Mills, commandant at the College, presented it and a service bar to him before all of the ASTP units.

PSCA To Hold Frosh Mixer

Freshman Frolic for first semester freshman women and first and second semester freshman men is scheduled for the Armory 7:30 o'clock tomorrow, Bud Barefoot and Shelley Smith head the general committee for the PSCA sponsored mixer.

Committee members are Jean Homan, Phyllis James, Barbara Rinkmeyer, Dorothy Smith, Dorothy Sherwood, Winifred Umhof, and Mary York. Donald Wood is in charge of publicity and tickets. Peter Johnson is planning a floor show. Free tickets may be obtained at the PSCA office. All freshmen must wear customs.

Paul Droder is the new president of Freshman Council. Other officers are Bill Jones, vice-president; and David Cummings, secretary-treasurer. These officers will be installed at the council meeting in the Hugh Beaver room 7:30 p. m. Monday.

Rev. Edwerth Korte, pastor of the Lutheran Student association, will speak on "If I Were A Freshman Again." Cider and donuts will be served.

"The CA plays Santa Claus" will be the topic at the Freshman Forum meeting in 304 Old Main 6:45 p. m. Tuesday. Forum officers will be elected at this meeting.

Chairman for the town units, who will serve as publicity assistants, are: Theresa Cohen, Rita Cota, Rebecca Fuller, Jo Ann Kranich, Lou Martin, Margery McCall, Ann Pearson, Mary Ann Pletcher, Carol Preuss, Norma Radano, Jo Ann Rorabach, Dorothy Sherwood, Dorothy Smith, Janet Smith, Doris Widenburgh, and Anna Mary Williams.

Send The Collegian to your friends and parents. Subscriptions are $1 a semester.

48 Page Engineer Will Go On Sale

The Penn State Engineer will go on sale Thursday, November 30 as a forty-eight page issue, the largest in the history of the magazine.

"Confessions of a Liberal Artist" with illustrations by Estelle Shane will highlight this December issue. Also featured is "Television, Past, Present, and Future" by Dorthea Fisher. The cover depicts a navy cargo plane being loaded.

A character study of Dr. Lanesteiner, Nobel prize winner for his research on blood types, has been prepared by a personal acquaintance. There is also a feature on Dr. Kinsloe, former faculty member.

Aside from the regular features, Talk of the Campus, and ASTP Column, there will be a double photo page, showing the V-12 review and football audience, an editorial feature on the defacement of the Lion Shrine, and a new cartoon feature, "Cubie Root."

This is the first issue to make use of the new associates: Theresa Barret, Joseph Breslaw, Margaret Cook, Joseph Eastlak, and A/S, Herbert Locke.

Monday night, the executives held their first dinner, at which plans were laid for the third Slide Rule Ball to be held in January. Tentative theme is Mardi Gras.

Throat Disease Spreads

Numerous cases of Vincent's angina, a disease of the tonsils and pharynx, or upper throat, are being treated in the College dispensary, reported Dr. Joseph P. Ritenour, head of the College health service.

Symptoms of the disease are a sore throat or painful bleeding gums. It is caused by the use of poorly washed silverware, dishes, and glassware. Another important cause of its spread is promiscuous kissing.

American Artists Group Christmas Cards

(The Christmas cards you've been reading about!)

"It is a pleasure to recommend them to the public." —NEW YORK TIMES

"Always tops . . . the gayest and most charming we've ever seen." —CHICAGO TRIBUNE

"Cards your friends will cherish because of their beauty." —LOS ANGELES NEWS

"These cards truly pay homage to Christmas in a language of beauty." —BOSTON POST

"Because fine artists interpret Christmas on these Yuletide cards you get originality and quality." —WASHINGTON (D.C.) POST

Price 5 to 25 cents

Keeler's

COLLEGE FOOD MARKET

for

CHOICE MEATS and GROCERIES
FRESH FRUITS and VEGETABLES

Conveniently Located at 202 W. College Avenue

FREE DELIVERY

DIAL 4955