

Travel Arranged For Blood Donors Dispensary to Give Preliminary Physicals

Buses will leave from the Corner at 11:15 a.m. and every fifteen minutes thereafter until 12 noon on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday to take students and townspeople to Tyrone to donate blood, announced Michael Lynch, chairman of the Blood Donating committee, campus unit of the Red Cross.

All those who have arranged to donate blood must go to the College Dispensary between 3 and 5 p.m. the day previous to going to Tyrone for a preliminary check-up. At this time they must also present Minor Release Notices which, if needed, can be obtained at Student Union. They will then be given excuses from Dean Charlotte Ray and Dean Arthur Warneck to miss classes.

Students will be notified by the contacting committee of the time of their departure if they do not already have this information.

It is important that those who plan to donate blood do not eat a substantial meal sooner than 3 to 5 hours before giving blood. Above all the donor should not eat any fatty foods.

Blood donors should be sure that they are in good physical condition. Those who have been ill during the last month or have had malaria within the last fifteen years are automatically ineligible. Also disqualified are those who have a persistent cough, pains in the chest, any form of heart trouble, fainting spells, or convulsions. Being under a physician's care is another cause for ineligibility.

Acceptance or rejection is entirely up to the discretion of the examining doctor.

Committee members are as follows: Transportation, Robert Wittman, chairman, George Colket, Nicholas Kaniuka, Howard Kleidman, and George Smith; contact, Donna McClintock, chairman; Elizabeth Aiken, Dorothy Blair, Stanley Coville, Nancy Lenker, and Esther Spence; records, Mary Catherine Berger, chairman, Dee Baldwin, Jewel Barronoff, Elsie Harlburt, Anita Iscovitz, Charlotte Kessler, and Nancy Sinclair.

THE PIANIST with the longest name in the world will present the third performance in the current Artists' Course series in Schwab Auditorium at 8 p. m. Friday, February 2. He is Jesus Maria Del Carman Jose I Joaquin Sanroma Y Torra della Hiba Ripell Y Ramos Viader Casancvas Y Gay, popularly known as Jesus Maria Sanroma.

Sorority Rushing Reaches Climax; Bidding On Sunday

Sorority rushing, after 2 weeks of contact between sorority and freshman women, will be climaxed with two formal coffee hours from 1:30 to 3 p.m. and 3:45 to 5:15 p.m. tomorrow. They will mark the last parties before formal bids are extended to coeds this Sunday.

Sigma Delta Tau and Alpha Epsilon Phi will schedule only one coffee hour.

Invitations to the coffee hours will be distributed this morning from 12 a.m. to 12 by sorority members. These invitations already bear the Panhellenic stamp of approval and need not be turned into their post office for the official stamp. However, written replicas to these invitations must be turned in by the rushees to the Panhellenic post office in the first floor lounge of Old Main by 4:45 p.m. today, and will be called for there by the rushing chairman of each house at 5 p.m.

Expenditures for the two coffee hours together should not exceed $20. This will include the expense of activities, rushees, and all other participants. All itemized expense sheets should be submitted to the Panhellenic rush chairman by 7 p.m. Sunday, January 21.

Chairman of Panhellenic council, Jean Weaver, pointed out that all women interested in joining a sorority should attempt to attend the coffee hours. All women will be attired in formal evening dress. Each sorority will be expected to send out invitations for two coffee hours with the exception of Sigma Delta Tau and Alpha Epsilon Phi.

BIDDING—The lists of bids from each sorority should be in the Dean of Women's office by 7:30 p.m. January 20.

Preference cards are to be filled out by the rushees who would like to join a sorority in the Dean of Women's office from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Sunday. Rushing chairman or president of each sorority may receive her list of new pledges at the Dean of Women's office Sunday evening, January 21. As it may not be possible to have these lists ready by 7 p.m. (Continued on page eight)

Students To Elect Winter Ball Queen

Group Plans L. A. Changes

Plans for extensive reorganization of the Liberal Arts School were presented to leaders of campus activities by the student post-war planning committee of the Liberal Arts School at a meeting Tuesday.

Members of the committee explained that the aims were the development of thinking ability and intelligent leadership and citizenship in the student. They also listed provisions which would provide a basis for the understanding and appreciation of the arts, an understanding of the student's environment, and preparedness in the fundamentals which may be utilized towards a vocation, as essential.

The committee further suggested that studies in the first four semesters of the Liberal Arts curriculum be divided into four intensive integrated groups: the major until he had completed these social sciences, the humanities, the physical sciences, and the biological sciences.

This would mean that no student would take courses in his major until he had completed these four groups of study. At the end of two semesters, each student would be required to take a com-

'Swing Inn' At Armory

"Swing Inn" is the name given to Cabinet's sponsored recreational Friday and Saturday evenings in the Armory.

William Morton, chairman of the Armory committee, announced that if enough student interest is shown in the project, there would be a possibility of having the Armory open during the afternoons of the week.

No special entertainment has been prepared, but there will be juke box dancing, card playing, ping-pong and refreshments.

It was specially pointed out by Morton that it is a student program, and its success depends entirely upon student attendance. Cabinet's plan for student recreation and relaxation goes into effect in the Armory at 8 o'clock tonight and tomorrow night, and will last till midnight. There will be no admittance charge.

The committee, which has been working under the supervision of Harold Gilbert, assistant to the graduate manager of athletics, consists of Nan Charles, Ann Louise Decker, Helen Kime, Carmen Panar, Miriam Ramsey, Sally Rittenhouse, and Paulette Stevenson.

Artists' Course Tickets

Holders of season tickets for the current Artist's Course Series may obtain a ticket for the Richard Crook's performance, scheduled for May 12, by presenting their Sanroma tickets plus one dollar at the Athletic Association Office, Old Main, on Monday. Any remaining seats will be sold for three dollars at the AA Office on Tuesday, January 23.

Shep Fields' Band Plays For All-College Dance

Election of All-College Queen will be the main feature of the V-12 Unit's semi-formal Winter Ball, to be held at Rec Hall from 8:30 o'clock until midnight tomorrow. Shep Fields and his New Music will play at the All-College dance.

A sixth candidate for the crown has been announced by A/S Andy Anderson, chairman of the dance committee. She is Jean Holmes, sponsored by Barracks 24. Miss Holmes is a student at State College High School.

Coeds vying for the title of All-College Queen are: Lois Cleaver, Barracks 9; Shirley Fierman, Alpha Epsilon Phi and Phi Sigma Delta; Elizabeth Fitzgerald, Barracks 26; Shirley Painter, Kappa Kappa Gamma; and Patricia Tompkins, Theta Phi Alpha.

All those attending the dance will receive ballots on which they will check off their choice for queen. Announcement of the winner and crowning of the queen will come at intermission. The V-12 Glee Club, directed by Prof. Frank Cullio, will also be a part of intermission entertainment.

A/S Jim Jones, chairman of the ticket committee, has announced that tickets will be on sale at the Athletic Window in Old Main tomorrow morning in addition to the Corner Room. Admission price is $3.60 including tax.

Shep Fields will bring to campus a band composed entirely of reeds and rhythm instruments, the "only band of its kind in the world." Vocalist with the band is Meredith Blake. Gene Martin and Tommy Lucas are also featured.

GSO Plans Floor Show For 'Stag Club' Dance

Chorus girls, vocalists, and a Spanish dancer will highlight GSO's "Stag Club" dance in the Armory, 8:30 p.m. to 12 midnight, January 27.

Edward Zemprelli's "Statesmen," featuring Robert Ernst as director and Betty Wiser as vocalist, will provide the music. Tables around the dance floor and the floor show, with William Reutill as master of ceremonies, will conform to the night club theme.

Entertainment will include a Thespian dance chorus directed by Beatrice Stern; Jacqueline Black, Carol Detz, and Doye Pachebel composing a trio with Pat Lamade as accompanist; vocalists Al Gramlich and Vivienne Judy, with Shirley Alpern, accompanist; and Barbara Jelen, Spanish dancer.

Free admission will be granted to GSO members, service and civilian men.

ISC Sponsors Old Main Dance for Independents

ISC will hold a dance in Old Main from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. next Friday evening, according to Audrey Peters, social chairman.

The dance will be open to the members of Philote, IWA, Penn State Club, and IMA and will be held in the Penn State Club room and room 401. Music will be furnished by records.

Refreshments for the members of the organizations will be served in the Penn State Club room. Social chairmen for the dance are Wally McCarty and Audrey Peters.

Dean Stoddart Advocates Arts And Science Training

How "liberal" should be the educational background of a Liberal Arts dean?

Will Dean Charles W. Stoddart's qualifications suit the requirements? He earned his A.B. with a thesis in English literature, climbing one rung toward his deanship of the Liberal Arts School. He received his M.A. at Columbia and his Ph.D. at Wisconsin—in chemistry.

Treasurer of a mining concern in Colorado for two years, Dean Stoddart learned practical business procedures. Research in soil chemistry at Wisconsin occupied the dean for six years.

Then for 10 years Dr. Stoddart was head of the department of agricultural chemistry at the College.

During the first four years that Dean Stoddart was directing the School of Liberal Arts, he was also acting dean of the School of the Natural Sciences (Chemistry and Physics to you).

"Running from one building to the other and keeping track of two faculty staffs and two budgets was a liberal education in itself," Dean Stoddart philosophized.

"A Liberal Arts dean should have an Arts and Science training and should have lectured and conducted research sometime during his career," Dean Stoddart summed up his ideal of a Liberal Arts dean.

"But above all, he must know something about many things and must never stop learning. Why, I've only read Chaucer since I became dean," he confessed.

"The one thing I haven't found out yet is why students fear the deans. I certainly wish I could convince them to stop in once in a while and chat. I haven't bitten anyone yet," Dean Stoddart smiled at the reporter.

"Believe it or not, even I remember the little things and cherish thoughtfulness. One of my former 'ag' students has been sending me a Christmas card every year since 1911. Things like that make life worth living."

A Liberal Arts curriculum is no longer entirely classical and should be practical as well as cultural and should include the natural sciences, the dean advocates.

"If a liberal artist depends entirely on his education, he'll never get a job. It's what's between his ears that counts."

Brooklyn Pastor Speaks At Chapel Services

Dr. John H. Lathrop, pastor of the Church of the Savior, Brooklyn, N. Y., will speak on "The Moving Finger Writes" at Chapel Services in Schwab auditorium, 11 a.m. Sunday.

Dr. Lathrop was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity by the Meadville Theological School in 1923. He has also studied at the University of Chicago, New York University, and the New York School of Social Research.

In 1927, Dr. Lathrop visited Rumania as a member of a committee to investigate minorities, and in 1928 he went to India to attend the celebration of the centenary of the Brahmo Samaj. In the summer of 1937, he went as a delegate to the Oxford Conference on the Life and Work of the Universal Christian Council.

The choir will sing "Jesus, Friend of Sinners" by Grieg.
