

Rushing

The office has asked that sororities not plan a supper party for the new pledges. Each sorority will be expected to notify its new pledges.

IMPORTANT FOR RUSHEES—

It will be taken for granted that any woman who does not fill out a preference card by 12:30 p. m. January 21, does not wish to join a sorority. Any girl not in town for that weekend must fill out a card before she leaves. Rushees should be sure to answer all invitations, and should read their Panhellenic guidebooks carefully. Wrestling Champ Blasts Japanese

Penn State's newest war hero is Major Frank Gleason, former Eastern Intercollegiate wrestling champion and commander of the 16-man army that left 300 miles of southeastern China in utter ruin on a unique mission of destruction.

Gleason, who won the wrestling crown as a sophomore, and his 15-soldier-assistants went to China last summer to school the natives in the use of explosives, but before their course of instruction got underway, the Japs began their autumn offensive. It was then that Gleason and his men threw their books away, went to work.

The 16 Americans, operating in teams of two or three, went methodically to work mining road junctions, digging cavities under bridges, under abutments in the sides of dikes. When the Jap campaign got up full steam in October, Gleason's destroyers were ready to tamp in charges, fuse them and blow.

Safely back behind their own lines, Gleason and his men added up the results of their adventure. They had accounted for some 150 bridges, 50 roadblocks, 20 to 30 ferries, one tunnel, and an assortment of locomotives, trucks, and other vehicles.

Gleason, a Wilkes-Barre youth and one of four brothers and sisters in the armed services, captained the Nittany Lion wrestling team in his senior year. He graduated with honors from the curriculum in chemical engineering. He wrestled at 136 pounds, but now weighs 170.

Forum Group Considers Programs for Meetings

Plans for a possible series of College Forum Advisory Committee meetings next semester to discuss state, national, and international problems are now under consideration by the program committee.

Coffee hours for informal discussion following the lectures in the Community Forum series will be held in the State College Hotel banquet room. A cafeteria system of light refreshments will be operated so that anyone attending may order what he wishes and pay for it individually.

Two Captains Join Army Staff, Mills Announces

Two new officers, Captains Ralph J. Henry and Max Young, have been added to the roster of those stationed here with the Army. Lt. Col. Guy G. Mills, commandant at the College, announced today.

Captain Henry, who received his commission in August 1937, has been on active duty since February, 1942. He has served in England and Scotland.

Captain Young, commissioned in May, 1941, is a graduate of The Citadel, Charleston, S. C. At the College he will be an assistant professor of military science and tactics and commander of company B of the ASTP units.

Former Student Receives Degree Posthumously

Lt. William Wright Jr. a second semester senior in the School of Physical Education at the time of his induction into the Army, was posthumously awarded a Bachelor of Science degree by unanimous vote of the College Senate recently.

Lt. Wright died when his plane crashed at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, November 12, 1944. He received his training at Tuskegee Institute and was one of the few Negroes commissioned a lieutenant in the Air Force.

The Senate voted to confer the degree without attempting to evaluate the credits earned in pre-flight training.

preprehensive examination. Since languages do not fit into any of the four classifications, they would be provided for under a supplementary course system comparable to the present one of electives, a spokesman said.

Other recommendations included an extensive advisory system and college placement examinations which would place students according to their ability. Conversion to the four quarter system was also under discussion.

Specifically the committee asked that students be assigned extensive outside reading lists, that classes be smaller, that laboratories be used in liberal arts science courses, and that there be more discussion in class with a corresponding decrease in emphasis on lecture.

The committee also believed that a distinction should be made between passed and honors degrees. The latter would be awarded to students who made outstanding records in comprehensive examinations.

Members of the committee headed by Ruth Contant are Martin Cohen, Gertrude Lawatsch, Shirley Levine, Phyllis de Mauriac, and Muriel Wohlman.

There will be another meeting for these same groups in the Northwest Lounge of Atherton Hall 4:15 p. m. January 30. It is expected that before this time campus leaders will present this plan to their groups and return with their reactions and additional suggestions.

Dispensary Treats 2047

A total of 2047 calls during December terminated the services rendered by the dispensary for 1944. One hundred and eighty excuses were granted during December, and 481 sick calls were made by servicemen on campus.

The infirmary cared for 75 patients during the month. This number was 110 less than in the year 1943.
