Elections—

dent Union before 4 p. m. Tuesday. This petition must be signed by the party chairman and the secretary.

A penalty will be inflicted upon the entire clique if any violations of the Elections code are discovered by the committee. Penalties will be no more than 28 votes or less than 14 votes.

- The violations follow:
1. Electioneering in any part of Old Main by clique members while voting is in progress (with the exception of the interior of the Sandwich Shop.)
 2. Candidates in any part of Old Main other than the time necessary to cast their own ballots.
 3. Buying of votes, either with the promise of money or other forms of bribery.
 4. Campaign posters in any part of Old Main other than those approved by the Elections committee for use at the polls.
 5. Destruction or defacing of property on any public or private building.
 8. Using the help of first semester freshmen with upper-class elections and campaigns.
- Voters violating voting ethics, such as voting twice, allowing votes to be bought, voting under false pretenses, etc., shall be dealt with by Student Tribunal.
- Members of the Elections committee are B. J. Cutler, Ann Louise Decker, Julia Gilbert, Robert Gridley, Helen Hatton, Joan Huber, Polly Huber, Paul Krystow, and Laurene Newbold. Robert Gleichert is chairman.

Budget Cooking
Two model kitchens at the College are used by students to practice home meal service. Girls work in two's and are required to prepare meals within a specified budget.

Tribunal Raps 3 Freshmen Lawbreakers

Three frosh customs violators were sentenced to wear sandwich signs and other "odds-n-ends" at the first meeting of Tribunal in Old Main Wednesday. Guy Newton presided.

A frosh from Philadelphia, Hobart D. Pollard Jr., because "he forgot to wear his customs one night," has to wear a three-foot dunce cap besides his sandwich sign. Another violator, who could not remember to wear his customs every day, will not be mistaken about the campus starting today. He will have his clothes on backwards, with a large black bowtie around his neck and a bright baby bonnet on his head. Two small flower pots will dangle from each side of his belt, and a piece of toast will swing from each ear.

The third wrong-doer, Fred Shikadeh, begins wearing his sandwich sign today, and also has to wear a bushel basket on his head, and carry a raw egg in a wooden spoon. Besides that, he must report in front of Old Main with the other two violators every day except Saturday and Sunday at one p.m. to sing his college songs.

Tribunal, after due deliberation, exempt six ex-servicemen and three transfer students from observing frosh customs. All ex-servicemen and transfers who haven't been excused by Tribunal from wearing customs are asked to apply at the next meeting of Tribunal in 104 Old Main, 7 p.m. Wednesday.

President Guy Newton announced that all hat men and upperclassmen are to assist in turning in all frosh violators. Forms will be found at Student Union.

Motion Picture—

The outdoor scenes, those of the high school girl bus drivers and high school boy Railway Express men, were taken in Jefferson county, Alabama, while the indoor scenes were taken in State College under the Cathaum Theater in a fully equipped movie studio.

The school board, the teachers and the ladies club members all play themselves. Four State Police from Hollidaysburg and Pleasant Gap were detailed to take roles. Even the garagemen, the insurance salesmen, the book store owners and the Ag Hill pros appear as themselves, townspeople interested in public safety.

"They believed in the project," said director Neusbaum, who has a record of producing at least one play a semester at the College for the past 17 years. The latest was "Twelfth Night."

There were technical men on the show too, Cameraman Luther Keper, Soundman Paul Seitzinger and Safety Consultant I. C. Boerlin as well as Director Neusbaum.

Three of these four also managed to insert parts of their anatomy into the film. Boerlin's right hand, Seitzinger's left arm and leg, and Neusbaum's back all make their appearance. Only Keper was too busy at his camera to be a piece of "atmosphere."

A. E. Neyhart, instructor of public safety, furnished the technical assistance.

Solomn, N. Isett, L. Grossman, and Joyce Keller, guards.

Badminton Frelic
WRA Badminton Club will open this semester's activities by holding a party for members and all coeds interested in joining the club at White Hall, 7:30 p.m., Wednesday.

Badminton will be the main attraction for the evening topped off with refreshments at the close of the program.

Ruth Winterstein, club president, requests all girls intending to join to sign up on the bulletin board in the White Hall locker room by Monday.

Bowling telegraphic meets will be held in the White Hall bowling alleys, 6:45 Friday evening.
