Ball Squad Drills Lightly

Because of Easter holidays and rainy weather, Coach Joe Bedenk's diamond candidates have not been practicing daily. A few light workouts were conducted in Rec Hall this week in an attempt to line up a promising squad.

Interchanging approximately 18 men, Bedenk has organized batting and fielding practice as well as practice innings when the weather permits outdoor workouts.

Ivan Kline, who suffered a spiked knee last week, reported to practice again this week and looks favorable behind the plate. Jacobs, a newcomer, is also vying for this position.

Glenn Smith, right field veteran from last year's summer squad, and Paul Smith, new candidate for the team, have been doing good work in the outfield.

Hal Griffith, who caught with the 1942 team, has received an Army discharge after serving in the European theatre of war, and is now an outfield candidate.

Art Bohard, veteran pitcher, shows promise on the mound although he is waiting to be inducted into the armed forces. Joe Tepsic, an ex-serviceman, has been varying his third base chores with that of pitching.

Inexperienced Candidates Form Track Nucleus

Working with a team composed of men who are running in College track for the first time, Mentor George Harvey expects to produce a team that will offer good competition to Muhlenberg and Colgate in the three dual meets the Lions will have with them.

The main strength of the squad is drawn from the Navy V-12 unit. Robert Gernand, Ernie Nugent, and Dick Light, three of the squad's middle distance and dash men, for instance, are sailors. Chuck Willing, pole vault specialist, is also a Navy trainee.

Although the cinder path has been in condition for running earlier this year than ever before, cold and rainy weather has confined Harvey's trackmen to only

SUSIE HARVEY, 3, daughter of Track Coach George Harvey, started tying flies when she was only two and a half years old. Her father, who is shown with her tying some flies for the fishing season which opens April 15, has taught about a thousand people to tie flies. "Anybody can tie flies that will catch fish," says Mr. Harvey.

No Golf This Year For Bob Rutherford

Bob Rutherford Sr., who brought the links game to Penn State with him in 1922, will not field a golf team this spring for the first time in 24 years.

The veteran golfer, oldest coach both in years and in point of service, is hopeful, however, that the war situation will have cleared by next year and that he will again field a team in '46.

Golf was one of two sports dropped this spring as an economy measure. Tennis, which was first played here in 1911, has also been eliminated for the duration.

Rutherford, who'll be 65 in September, says "I'm neither too glad nor too sad" about the interruption.

"Golfers," he explained, "need lots of practice. They don't play good golf in one year. And under wartime conditions, it has been impossible to do much with the material available to me. I think it's the better plan to stop until this war's over."

Rutherford's teams have been unusually successful down through the years, winning 107 of the 153 matches in which they played. In 23 years, his teams were unbeaten twice, and lost more matches than they won only five times.

Independent Softball

An Independent Softball League will be organized by the Penn State Club, according to Jack Dickstein. The league will begin activity in two weeks when the schedule will be released. Independent teams interested in entering competition should call Dickstein, 3246.

light workouts. With the coming of better weather, Coach Harvey intends to begin more intensive practice and time trials.

Campbell, Lawyer-coach, Enters Armed Service

Attorney R. Paul Campbell, who has been doubling as Penn State wrestling coach since 1943, was inducted into the armed forces Wednesday at Harrisburg with 27 other selectees from the State College Draft Board.

Campbell, 36 and father of three children, was drafted as Lion mat coach when Lieutenant Commander Charlie Speidel entered the Naval Reserve at the close of the 1942 season. He quits his law office at Bellefonte at 4 o'clock each day, and devotes from two to three hours to candidates for the mat team.

The lawyer-coach was the first collegian to win the 155-pound Eastern intercollegiate title when officials abandoned the 158-pound class in 1930 in favor of the lighter weight. This year his captain, Glenn Smith of Mt. Carmel, became the first Nittany Lion wrestler since Campbell to win a title in this weight.
