Old Wooden Baseball Stand Plays Demolition Victim Role

Erected in 1911, the wooden baseball grandstand on New Beaver Field is being demolished. It was condemned because weather and use has deteriorated it beyond repair.

When the field was enlarged in 1921 by draining and leveling the frog pond and reservoir, cutting out the woods, and grading the steep incline at the southwest end of the field, the grandstand was moved 150 yards from its original site to the present location, and the new baseball diamond was opened.

In 1934 the bleachers and team shelters were condemned and removed. A plan to put open steel bleachers from home plate to first and third bases was formed.

Last year the grandstand was condemned completely and any adequate repairs to meet state codes were prohibited. Also, the expense to repair it would have been too great so it was decided to demolish it.

Any building costing over $1000 to build has to have the permission of the War Production Board. Priority and authority from the WPB was unobtainable so the plan turned into a postwar one.

The plan which was turned down was the building of open steel bleachers with a 42-inch fence and a 7-foot walk and curb along the side lines. There was to be a 30-foot backstop in back of home plate and two dugouts.

Meanwhile, the plot where the grandstand stood will be graded and temporary bleachers and backstop will be put up for the duration. These bleachers will be removed at the end of the baseball season.

The grandstand was erected by the class of 1911 with the assistance of alumni James L. Hamill, class of '80, deceased; James G. White, class of '82, deceased; and J. Franklin Shields, class of '92, president of the Board of Trustees of the College.

Forty-three Eastern intercollegiate individual boxing champions have been developed at Penn State under Leo Houck.

Navy Organizes Softball League

The Navy V-12 unit has organized a softball league with each of the five barracks entering teams. The first games will be played on the golf course at 4:30 p.m. Monday.

Games will be seven innings and in those not finished before 5:30 p.m. the score will be considered that of the last completed inning. Contests will be played on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday of each week. Friday will be open for rained-out, postponed, or tie games to be played.

The tournament will be divided into four rounds of ten games each. The winner of the first two rounds will play the winner of the third and fourth rounds in a two out of three series for the championship. Playoffs are slated for May 31.

The schedule for this week:
 Monday—Barracks 13 vs. Barracks 37 and Barracks 26 vs. Barracks 36.

Tuesday—Barracks 9 vs. Barracks 36 and Barracks 13 vs. Barracks 26.

Thursday—Barracks 37 vs. Barracks 26 and Barracks 9 vs. Barracks 13.

Candidates for track managers this semester according to Seymour Beiderman, head manager, are Vernon Condon, Robert Helfand, Gilbert Isacman, Morris JaFrett, Donald Von Lumen, John Walker, and Mervin Wilf.

V-12 Ineligibles Cut Ball Squad

Working with only two veteran college ball players, Coach Joe Bedenk is filling the baseball team's positions in preparation for the first encounter with Navy at Annapolis on April 28.

The original 60 candidates have been reduced to nearly half as a result of the ineligibility of 20 sailors due to scholastic deficiencies. Charlie Smith, prospective pitcher, was among the ineligibles but may be able to play later in the season, Bedenk said.

Ivan Kline, who caught during the summer season last year, left for the Army Air Corps yesterday. Don Herb, first semester freshman, and Navy Trainee Les Jacobs are now vying for the catcher's berth.

On the mound is veteran Art Bohard who is also waiting his call for the armed forces. William Clark, a Clearfield 17-year-old, shows some promise in this position as do William Hill, West Chester lad, and Bill Luther, Osceola Mills grid star. Seaman Jack Boykin and Fred Humphreys are also candidates for the pitching position.

Thiel Loses 18 Navy Men

Although the personnel of the team has been reduced to approximately 40 men due to Navy losses, the Nittany Lion lacrosse squad has been rounding into form as well as can be expected, according to Coach Nick Thiel. Approximately 18 V-12 candidates have been eliminated because of scholastic ineligibility.

"After less than three weeks of practice," the mentor said, "I am amazed at the speed in which the boys have caught on to the game and am far from displeased with them."

As starters for the defense position, Thiel has Branco Kasanovich, varsity football center, Savino Vesco, and Navy Trainee Ed Bauer. Bill MacDonald, one of the latest candidates, Dean Kissell, and Mervin Snyder are also vying for this position.

Contending for the midfield positions are varsity man Tom Smith, ex-serviceman Lyle Konig, Jim Worley, Lee Gaumer, and Navy Trainees George Loebos, Jack Reid, Stanley Rubin, and Walter Stevens. Karl Erdman also shows promise for this berth.
