

Track Team Holds Timed Contests; Needs Practice

From the showing of the time trials Saturday, Nittany runners have a lot of hard work ahead of them before the Penn Relays, April 27 and 28, Coach George Harvey said yesterday.

Ray Conger, former track coach substituting for Coach Harvey in the latter's absence, ran off the trial events. The best showing of the afternoon was made by Navy Trainee Ernie Nugent who runs the half mile. Nugent ran the distance in 2:03, which is excellent time for this early in the season, according to Harvey.

Running the quarter mile distance in 54 seconds was Karl Erdman, all-college president, and Robert Gernand. Gernand is now ineligible.

Milers and two-milers ran only three-quarters of a mile for the trials. The best time was 3:30 by Jay Goldstein. Goldstein runs the two-mile distance while Walter Hopper and Jim Woodworth, who finished close behind him, run the mile.

Navy Trainee Dick Light, George Williges, and Dick Dottermusch ran the 120-yard low hurdles in 14.5 and 14.3 seconds for the two heats. The low hurdles is one of the few running events not relay open at the Penn Relays.

Field events will be the Lions' best contests at the Relays, Coach Harvey said. Tom Einbecker threw the discus for the record of 119 feet 2 inches in the Saturday trials, and will attempt to repeat this at Philadelphia.

Al Herman and Floyd Lang both put the 16-pound shot a distance of 39 feet. While this distance is not too great, it can be improved upon by the end of the month, according to Conger. The ex-track coach says a shot-putter should add about three feet to his throw every week of intensive training.

Pole vaulting 11 feet 6 inches, Chuck Willing will be the Lions' entry in this event at the Relays. Willing also broad jumped over 20 feet this week.

Dino Taccalozzi, former gridder, and Lang will be entered in the javelin throw. Taccalozzi's longest throw to date has been 160 feet.

The only relay event that Harvey's runners will enter will be the sprint medley. Running the 220s will be Harold Dixon, Mel Chelosky, Williges, and Gernand. Dixon is not working out at

Penn State Club Forms Independent Ball League

Nittany Co-op, Penn Haven, Mattil's Beaver House, Lutheran Church, ASTP Barracks 7, and the Penn State Club have entered teams to date.

Nittany Co-op will meet Penn Haven Wednesday. At the same time Mattil's will face Beaver House and the Lutheran Church team will play Penn State Club.

Joe Tepsic, Guadalcanal veteran, will play in left field while Seaman Ed Stetler will take over center field. Glenn Smith, the other returning letterman, will hold down the right field position.

College Art Gallery Opens Silk Screen Print Exhibit

An exhibition of silk screen color prints known as serigraphs will reopen the College Art Gallery, 303 Main Engineering, 9 a. m. Monday.

Silk screen color printing is an old process apparently invented by the Chinese. For many years the art was used in America only for posters and other commercial purposes. In the last few years, however, the technique has been taken up by artists and developed in the field of print making. It is predicted by many that serigraphy may become as important in the twentieth century as lithography was in the nineteenth.

In making a serigraph, the artist first works out a master drawing and decides what colors to use. Then a drawing of an individual part is made in ink on a piece of silk stretched on a wooden frame. The rest of the silk surface is covered with glue so that the pigment cannot seep through. The print is then screened through the silk onto a piece of paper. All the colors are pressed through the silk and the grain of the cloth can be seen in the final print.

The process must be repeated for each individual color. The result is a multi-colored picture which is an original serigraph.

The exhibition will contain 60 color prints done by such notable artists as Ruth Chaney, Richard Flothe, Chet La More, and Elizabeth Olds.

Sigma Xi to Sponsor Glass Demonstration

Sponsored by the College chapter of Sigma Xi, J. M. Spooner, of the R.C.A. Victor division of the Radio Corporation of America, will present a demonstration-lecture in 117 New Physics Building at 8 p. m. Tuesday. His subject will be "Mechanical and Thermal Stresses in Glass."

The problems of stress in glass will be discussed with particular reference to manufacture of electronic tubes, and the following points will be included in the demonstration: formation of mechanical and thermal stress patterns; methods of detecting stress in glass by use of polarized light; methods of measuring stress; and the removal of permanent stress.

Freshmen who have not yet obtained their permanent matriculation cards should call for them at the Registrar's office.
