

Student 'Emily Posts' Frown On Coed Nicotine Worshipers

"Oh wad some power the giftie gie us To see oursel's as others see us! It wad frae monie a blunder free us, An' foolish notion."

Although we are told that Bobby Burns was speaking of a louse on a woman's hat when he wrote those immortal lines, 250 men and women students in Mrs. Elizabeth W. W. Dye's social usage class think they could be aptly applied elsewhere.

The topic was smoking, the offenders, women. Thus did what was once a symbol of peace become the subject of a heated discussion.

The fact that women will and do smoke was accepted and approved by all, the manner in which this process is carried out, by none.

One mistaken idea is that smoking is glamorous. In the opinion of these students, it definitely is not and should be indulged in only by those women who truly enjoy it. Smoking while dancing, and talking while smoking, are the direct reflection of Mr. Burns' quotation.

Worshipping at the shrine of Lady Nicotine in the company of an escort who does not, or in the presence of elders without an invitation is frowned upon by the "Emily Posts" of our campus. Smoking on the streets or in stores is strictly taboo. This also goes for campus walks.

Consideration of others is a smoker's must. Non-smokers, owners of nearby furniture, table linen, and floors, and sick persons are included in this category.

Other rules compiled in this "Code for Women Smokers" are:

1. Carry their own cigarettes.
2. Never ask for a cigarette from an escort.
3. Not smoke in private homes or at a party unless invited to by the hostess.
4. Not smoke when ventilation is limited or inadequate, as in a bus or train.
5. Refrain from annoying others with their smoke.
6. At all times consult immediate companions before lighting a cigarette when in doubt.

Coed Debaters Challenge John Hopkins, Temple

The negative team of Women's Debate squad debated Johns Hopkins University men's team Wednesday and an affirmative squad argued Temple University men last night, according to Clayton H. Schug, coach of the coed team.

Speaking for the negative were Aileen Garber and Joan Huber, and for the affirmative Shirley Milner, constructive speaker, and Joan Huber, cross examiner. Mrs. Lawrence Huber accompanied the team.

The squad recently participated in contests with Washington and Jefferson men by Barbara Morrison and Jo Ann Roraback and with Seton Hill by Ina Rosen and Ruth Freed.

9. Not influence non-smokers to smoke.
10. In spite of the war, be generous about offering cigarettes to companions.

WSGA Appoints New Judicial Head

Joan Schearrer was appointed to replace retiring Judicial Chairman Betty Robinson at the Senate meeting of Women's Student Government Association Wednesday night.

The appointment is the first in a new system to be inaugurated this semester. The naming of a Judicial chairman in the middle of the semester will be continued to enable the outgoing chairman to acquaint her successor with the position and its responsibilities.

M. M. Dunlap, acting president of WSGA, pointed out that all Senate meetings are open to the student body. She urges men as well as women to attend the meetings to familiarize themselves with WSGA.

The Senate, together with Dean of Women Charlotte E. Ray and Dr. Pearl G. Weston, assistant to the dean, discussed All-College Cabinet's proposal to revise its constitution.

Concerning freshman customs, Senate decided that beginning next semester all first semester coeds would have to take an examination, or blue book, on the material within the Student Handbook.

A committee under the leadership of Annabelle Jansson is working on plans for several May Day teas to be held in dormitory lounges on Mother's Day.

AAUW To Sponsor Benefit Musicale; Choristers To Sing

American Association of University Women at the College are sponsoring a benefit musicale in the Nittany Lion Inn at 3 p.m. April 29.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Willa W. Taylor, assistant professor of music, the College Choristers, a recently selected group of 18 mixed voices, will sing eight numbers. Accompanied by Frances Mitchell, Louise Neff, soprano, will sing three French airs.

The first and second movements of Mozart's "Concerto Number Four in D Major" will be played by Mrs. Betty Slayman, solo violinist. Professor Guy Woods of the music department will present a few piano selections.

Tickets to the affair are 50 cents each. According to present plans proceeds from the benefit will be used to further the educational and community improvement projects of AAUW.

Chorister members include: Ruth Hill, Katherine Hofmeister, Louise Neff, Ann Reese, and Gloria Travioli, sopranos; Betty Graeber, Suzanne Hartwick, Doris Huck, and Lou Ann Roche, altos; Charles Heaps, William Henniger, Bernard Levitan, Wesley Nyborg, and Herman Slayman, tenors; and Gerald Gilman, Thomas Reynolds, Michael Rosenberger, and Jack Sigler, basses.
