

IFC Unites Fraternities As One Cooperative Group

(Editor's Note—This is the sixth in a series of articles concerning the organization of prominent campus groups. It is published in conjunction with the new All-College Cabinet movement to foster more school spirit.)

Interfraternity Council, coordinator of activities sponsored by all fraternities at the College, strives to make the campus groups a working organization as a whole, rather than a group of independent houses.

The council is made up of one member of each fraternity, active or inactive. This representative may be the president of the fraternity, elected by the members, or appointed by the officers. This semester 29 fraternities have sent representatives to Council.

IFC takes charge of making up the dating code which must meet with the approval of Senate committee. All fraternities must abide by this code. Violators are tried before a board made up of the officers of Council, three members of the Association of Fraternity Counsellors, an alumni organization similar to IFC, and the faculty advisor. Any fraternity found violating the code has its dating privileges suspended.

Each semester IFC sponsors a formal dance and a banquet to honor pledges of all fraternities. It also attempts to keep up interfraternity sports.

President of Interfraternity Council is an ex-officio member of the Senate Committee on Student Welfare, All-College Cabinet, and the Association of Fraternity Counsellors.

Officers of Council this semester are James Hugo, president; William Clark, vice-president; and Jack Seavy, secretary-treasurer. Burke M. Hermann, professor of history, is the faculty advisor.

Fraternity representatives are: John Branigan, Theta Chi; William Brooks, Phi Kappa Psi; James Cartey, Delta Sigma Tau; Stanley Chadwin, Beta Sigma Rho;

Skull and Bones Society Initiates Prof. Doolittle

Jesse S. Doolittle, associate professor of mechanical engineering, was initiated into the Skull and Bones Society as an honorary member Friday night.

The first honorary member elected since the re-organization of the hat societies last year, Prof. Doolittle was cited by Skull and Bones as, "a teacher and a friend of the student body who has given generously of his time and energy in the interests of the students."

A graduate of Tufts College in 1925, Prof. Doolittle received his M. S. at the College in 1937. He is the past president of the Association of Fraternity Counsellors, adviser to Phi Kappa Phi, and a member of Sigma Xi, Tau Beta Pi, Pi Tau Sigma, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, and the American Association of University Professors.

The Skull and Bones Society is constitutionally allowed to initiate only one honorary member during each academic year. Prof. Doolittle is the first technical man to be so initiated by a hat society.

William Clark, Delta Chi; Herbert Currie, Sigma Pi; Victor Danilov, Sigma Phi Alpha; Guy Eckman, Sigma Chi.

William Lehrian, Lambda Chi Alpha; Stanley Lourimore, Sigma Phi Epsilon; William Maginn, Phi Kappa; Leonard Margolis, Pi Lambda Phi; George Mills, Phi Kappa Sigma; George Scarazzo, Alpha Phi Delta; Robert Schreiner, Pi Kappa Alpha.

Change in Music Hours

The Modern Music Appreciation Class, which meets in 201 Carnegie Hall, has been changed from 4:20 p. m. every Tuesday to the same hour every Thursday, announced William C. Reutti, ex-serviceman and instructor of the class.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Elects

Newly elected officers of Sigma Phi Epsilon are Donald Von Lunen, president; Wayne H. Fenton, vice-president; Dean W. Kissell, secretary; and John G. Walker, comptroller.

Navy V-12 News

Last week the boys in Barracks 13 sponsored a make-believe "April Shower" as a special feature of their dance. With flash-bulb lightning, drum-roll thunder and confetti rain, "the Whip men" set a pace that will be hard to match in future barracks functions.

Matt Szyller's Barracks 36 is to be the first to dispute the claim of Barracks 13 to the "best affair." On May 12 they will have hike-picnic ending with a dance at PSCA cabin.

Six V-12 trainees have been tapped by Druids, the sophomore hat society. The men are: Joe Bondi, Bob Crease, Carl Dimmerling, Dick Light, Bill Nugent, and Bob Stabley.

That bronzed sailor marching with Barracks 26 for a few days was Gunner's Mate 2/c Norburt Soza, brother of "Hash Mark" Ed. Burt, who has seen three years of sea duty and has plenty of stories to tell of hot Pacific actions, is now headed back to where the fighting is fastest.

Another recent visitor was newly-commissioned Lt. George C. Chambers, USMCR, formerly a Penn State V-12. Visiting from Yale University came Naval ROTC cadet Harry Borger, complete with a jealousy-inspiring uniform. We were visited also by A/S J. T. Anderson, former hatman and BMOG at this unit, who is being transferred from pre-middle Princeton to Columbia University midshipman school.

It is planned to print each week from now on a short sketch on one of the many beribboned fellows stationed here. This week we give you A/S Blaine H. Grose of Statesville, N. C., who spent 19 months in the Atlantic and Mediterranean theatres before coming into the V-12.

Serving as yeoman 1/c under the commander of a flotilla of 30 LCT's, Blaine came through the Tunisian campaign unscathed, but he was not so fortunate at Anzio. While on the bridge of the flagship, manning the battle telephones, his ship was blown up beneath him.

For three hours he kept afloat in near-freezing waters with an inch-wide hole in his leg before he was picked up and brought back to his seventeenth days in the hospital. Grose's area ribbons and the Purple Heart which he wears are ample evidence that his training here was well earned.

Placement 3 Firms Interview

Representatives from the following companies will interview students next week, according to George N. P. Leetch, director of College Placement Service. Appointments should be made in 204 Old Main.

Monday: Miss Grace A. Pendergast of Remington Rand Inc. will talk to senior ceeds who have had instruction in accounting and book-keeping methods or experience in record keeping. Interested students should be willing to live anywhere in U. S. where Remington Rand maintains branch offices.

Tuesday: Lt. Patricia J. Berg of the MCWR of the U. S. Marine Corps will show a film on the Marine Corps Women's Reserve in 228 Sparks at 4:30 p.m. She will be available for personal interviews Wednesday.

Friday: C. C. Lavenc of the Douglas Aircraft Company will interview seniors majoring in aeronautical, architectural, civil, industrial, petroleum and natural gas, chemical, electrical, mechanical, and mining engineering and architecture, metallurgy, and physics. He is also interested in talking to any graduate students with or about to receive degrees in mathematics or physics.

She's Trail-Blazer

A woman student has completed the dairy manufacturing course at the College for the first time since the course was established 33 years ago.

Bluebook for Wednesday

Tribunal has scheduled a bluebook for all freshmen in 10 Sparks at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Chairman Guy Newton announced. Attendance is compulsory.

Subjects covered by the test will be customs and traditions of the College which can be found in the Student Handbook and other campus publications.

DUKE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF NURSING

DURHAM, N. C.

The next class will be admitted September 27, 1945. Only one class is enrolled each year.

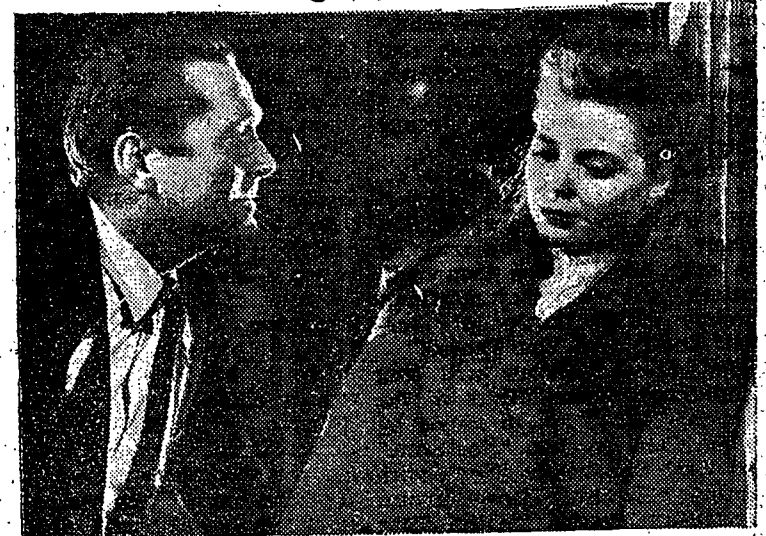

Basic entrance requirements are intelligence, aptitude for nursing, and character. The academic requirements are 16 units of High School and at least one semester each of College Chemistry and Biology or Zoology. Annual tuition cost is $100 and covers the cost of instruction and maintenance.

Duke University School of Nursing offers the B. S. in Nursing upon completion of the 3-year nursing course and 60 semester hours of acceptable College credits.

Duke University School of Nursing also participates in the U. S. Nurse Cadet Corps program. Under this plan, students who pledge themselves to continue in nursing throughout the war, receive free tuition, uniforms and a small monthly stipend.

Application forms and catalogue can be obtained from: Dean, Duke University School of Nursing, Duke Hospital, Durham, North Carolina.
