Group Sponsors Essay Contest

Five hundred dollars is being offered by the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States for the best essay of not more than 500 words on the subject, "What My Country Means to Me."

The contest, which has been commended by Gov. Edward Martin, is to be governed by the following rules: All entries must be typewritten or written in ink on one side only of typewriter size paper. The contest is open only to those who were born after October 1, 1924. Entries must be accompanied by the age the writer will be October 1, 1945.

All manuscripts must be mailed to the recorder of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, Commandery of the State of Pennsylvania, 1805 Pine street, Philadelphia, 3, by September 15.

The Military Order was founded by a group of Civil War officers after Lincoln's assassination to act as a stabilizing influence on the country. Among its members have been six presidents of the United States and many military heroes.

of the College Church, Dickinson College, Carlisle, will open the institute when he addresses the Chapel congregation on "Religion in Marriage" Sunday morning. In the evening those student religious groups so desiring will discuss aspects of courtship and marriage as they are related to religion and ethics.

Dr. Clifford R. Adams of the College will conduct the last discussion of the Institute when he will speak on "Emotional Attitudes and Adjustment in Marriage" in 121 Sparks at 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Nancy Norton and Robert McGregor are co-chairmen of the program. The following representatives from campus organizations are assisting them: Ann Louise Decker, Women's Student Government Association; James Hugo, Interfraternity Council; Ann Keller, Panhellenic Council; Richard Mauthe, X-G-I Club; Betty Pike, Women's Recreation Association; and Florence Porter, PSCA.

Faculty advisors include Dr. Adams, Miss Della Avery, Walter Coutu, Rev. Edwerth Korte, James T. Smith, and Dr. Anna Stevens.

Journalism Alum Uses College Training in Army

From the Riviera to the Rhine in less than six months of action is a story that can well be told by Pfc. Bob Sieger, who was graduated from the College in December, 1942.

A combat doughboy of the famous 36th "Texas" Division, Sieger was wounded February, 1944, near Cassino. After his release from the hospital, he worked on the division's public relations staff, writing for newspapers overseas and in this country.

In one of his stories Sieger wrote: "They (the 36th) can look back even farther, to the Italian campaigns, for theirs is the division which spearheaded the initial American assault on Europe, the first American division to land on the European mainland. On Sept. 9, 1943, the Texas division stormed ashore at 'bloody Salerno' to establish a beachhead that expanded into the first Allied liberation of European soil."

After helping to chronicle the combat feats of the 36th, Sieger has recently been made news editor of the T-Patch, official field newspaper of the division. A second anniversary edition of the paper was published in Germany on Sunday, April 15.

A journalism major at the College, Sieger has put his training to good use both in the States and abroad. He expects to remain in the newspaper business after the war.

Junior Class Meeting

A class meeting for all juniors will be held in Schwab auditorium 7 p. m. Wednesday, announced Stanley Bernheim and William Morton, sixth and fifth semester presidents. Charlotte E. Ray, dean of women, and Arthur Warnock, dean of men, will speak. Plans for a junior class picnic will be discussed.

Penn State Club

The Penn State Club will initiate new members Tuesday night after the regular meeting. All prospective members are urged to come as they will not become members if they are not initiated, he added.

A Tribute To Mother

Congress has dedicated a special day to the memory of "the best mother in the world, your mother." Ideally, every day should be Mother's Day. We humbly thank her for being our beacon light through all the storms and calms of life.
