

Clinic Sponsors Reading Institute

The Reading Clinic of the School of Education is sponsoring a one-week institute on reading problems in elementary and secondary classrooms. This institute will be held the week of June 25 to 29.

The program has been differentiated to meet the needs of elementary, secondary, special class, reading, and speech teachers and supervisors. In addition, special sessions will be conducted for supervisors, administrators, and school psychologists.

This program has been planned in cooperation with the following national organizations: American Speech Correction Association, Association for Childhood Education, Department of Elementary Education, Department of Supervision and Curriculum Development.

The meetings for elementary school teachers will be under the direction of Dr. E. A. Betts and Miss Carolyn M. Welch.

Collection of Rings, Gloves, Pens Mounts At Student Union

From slide rules to mittens, they're piling up. And according to Miss Helene Hoy, Student Union has compiled the largest collection of lost articles it's had in four and one-half years.

"You would think that people would hold on to their possessions now, with shortages and rationing," Miss Hoy exclaimed bewilderedly, "but more lost objects are coming in each day, and the worst part is people never claim them!"

Though information and ticket selling is its business, Student Union has its biggest intake in lost articles, Miss Hoy stated. She said they usually are held two semesters and then the clothing accumulated is given to the Salvation Army and the rest of the "booty" is auctioned off.

To date, the Union boasts the following unclaimed articles: 50 fountain pens, 25 pencils, 6 pairs single strand pearls, 7 slide rules, 12 high school class rings, 17 umbrellas, 4 leather cigarette cases, 12 pairs of glasses, 10 men's hats, 12 compacts, 5 makeup kits, 3 men's wrist watches, 2 pocket watches, 9 tubes of lipstick and 4 checkbooks.

Other articles include: 85 single gloves and mittens, 115 kerchiefs, 7 pipes, 5 rosaries, 40 scarfs, 10 single earrings, 75 pairs of gloves and mittens, an evening bag, pocket book, camera, roll of exposed film, diamond ring and an expensive drawing set.

Miss Hoy said miscellaneous and "uncountable" articles are featured in a collection of sorority pledge pins, track medals, Red Cross buttons, hair clasps, glass cases, keys and tie clasps.

If you have lost anything, she said you can claim it any day between 9 and 12, and 1 and 5.

Frosh Orientation Unsatisfactory, Cabinet States

After reporting that the "Frosh Bluebook" was a fair examination, an investigating committee told Cabinet members Tuesday evening that freshman orientation was not preparing incoming students effectively.

The committee report, as read by William Morton, pointed out that the average freshman grade in the test was 42.2 and that 96 of the 126 freshman men turned up for the exam on May 9.

Morton said that the decision of Tribunal to restore bow ties after the blue book, and to bring back all customs after the freshmen rebelled was justifiable.

The findings of the committee revealed that the orientation program at the College for freshmen did not produce the anticipated results. Therefore, the committee suggested, that steps be taken in the near future to remedy the situation.

Sidney C. Eboch appeared at the meeting and protested against the treatment of freshmen by Tribunal, hatmen, and The Collegian. He was answered by Tribunal Chairman Guy Newton and George Harter, first semester president. Lawrence Marcella and Victor Danilov entered the discussion also.

President Harter explained that he saw both sides of the picture on the freshman question. After agreeing that the blue book and Tribunal meetings were just, he said that he didn't believe it was fair of Tribunal to restore all the customs.

The point was dropped when Danilov urged that freshman customs and orientation be taken up by the Senior Board, composed of Tribunal and Judicial members, and that a satisfactory arrangement be made for next semester.

Highlight of the evening was a talk on school spirit by Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel, president of the College. He related numerous incidents which have occurred in the past which had to do with customs and spirit.

In summarizing Penn State spirit he said it was loyalty to the highest objectives of the College and illustrated his talk with examples.

Stanley Bernheim, chairman of the Memorial Day committee, announced a change in the program for Wednesday. He stated that Maj. Gen. Philip Hays would be unable to speak and that the commanding officer of the Third Service Command is sending two of his aides to substitute for him.

Cabinet was informed that publication of the student government constitution would cost $29.50 for 3300 copies. It was also announced that Swing Inn will be open at the Armory tonight.

The next meeting of Cabinet will be held in 104 Old Main at 7 p.m. June 5, according to Chairman Karl Erdman.

Lit Club Hears Morse

Speak on Education

Adrian O. Morse, who is in charge of resident instruction at the College, spoke informally Wednesday to Belles Lettres, English literature club, about several phases of education and literature.

While modern education deals with subjects in detail, little attempt is made to assemble the various parts into a whole, according to Mr. Morse. Difficulty arises, said the assistant to the president, when a student educated by such means tries to realize what role his knowledge plays in society at large.

Selections from Tolstoi's "War and Peace" concluded Mr. Morse's address.

Faculty guests attending the meeting were: Prof. and Mrs. Thomas D. Bowman; Dr. William S. Dye Jr., retired head of the English literature department; Prof. and Mrs. Mason Long; Prof. and Mrs. Arthur B. Sutherland; Prof. William L. Werner, head of the department of English literature, and Mr. Werner; and Prof. A. Pauline Locklin and Dr. Douglas S. Mead, faculty advisors—Belles Lettres.
