Beta Sig Liberates Frat Brothers in Europe

Capt. Sidney H. Bergman '39 was given his orders. He was to proceed with a company of infantry from General Patton's Third Army to liberate a prisoner of war camp in Germany. He liked his assignment.

The camp was a Stalag Luft, one set aside for captured airmen. After the Germans had been disposed of in military fashion, Captain Bergman made his inspection of the camp. Then came the surprise of his life.

Coming towards him were two very familiar faces, two newly liberated prisoners, Lt. Robert M. Rosenberg '39 and Maj. Jack Reichenbach '38. Not only had three Penn Staters met under such unusual conditions, but all were fraternity brothers.

Captain Bergman is from Scranton. While a student at the College he played on the freshman tennis team, was elected into Friars, served on Soph Hop and IFC Ball committees, and was president of Beta Sigma Rho.

Missing in action for two months, Major Reichenbach, holder of the DSC, DFC, Air Medal with three Oak Leaf clusters, hails from Bradford. His activities on campus included freshman and varsity basketball teams, Friars, Parmi Nous, Student Council, and president of Beta Sigma Rho.

Lieutenant Rosenberg, from Flushing, N. Y., was a prisoner of war since April 1944, and majored in Art and Letters at the College.

Coeds will receive two o'clock permissions for the Interfraternity Ball June 8, Miss Charlotte E. Ray, dean of women, announced today. This is the first time since 1941 that two o'clock late permission has been granted.

Vincent Lopez and his orchestra will provide the music for the semi-formal dance, to be held in Recreation Hall. Tickets, priced at $3.60 per couple, tax included, will be sold at the Athletic Association window in Old Main all day June 8.

All fraternities and barracks are urged to select a candidate for queen of the ball, and submit her photograph to the desk at the Corner Room before 5 p.m. Monday. Pictures of the five final contestants will be posted in the Athletic Store window before the dance.

The Interfraternity Ball is reported to be the biggest All-College dance since before the war, due to the signing of Vincent Lopez and his orchestra.

Lopez is now playing at the Hotel Taft in New York, and can be heard daily over Mutual network on "Luncheon with Lopez." Bruce Hayes and Gerry Larsen, vocalists, are featured with the band.

With his "easy to dance to" arrangements, Lopez has become a popular figure in music circles in recent years. He was the first to sell his band for a commercial radio program and also the first to appear on a regular sustaining series. His piano arrangement of "Nola" was radio's first theme song.

As a sidlight from baton-wielding, Lopez has helped many musicians to stardom, including Carl Hoff, Lou Bring, E. A. Rolfe, Tommy Dorsey, Jimmy Dorsey, Red Nichols, Rudy Vallee, and Johnny Johnson. In a small Detroit cafe, the band leader discovered Betty Hutton, and signed her with his band.
