He has been given the Lamme Medal, awarded annually under the terms of the will of the late Benjamin C. Lamme, formerly chief engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, for "accomplishment in technical teaching, or actual advancement in the art of technical training."

The citation, which accompanies the medal: "To Harry Parker Hammond, for his life-long devotion to the advancement of engineering education, his vision of its responsibilities, his wisdom in plotting its course, and his skill in crystallizing, for that purpose, the wisdom of others; for the clarity and force of his language in stating its methods and philosophy; for his ability, as teacher and administrator, in carrying out its great ideals and in giving to students his own high sense of their calling."

Dean Hammond, the eighteenth Lamme medalist, holds a bachelor of science degree and the degree of civil engineer from the University of Pennsylvania. He also holds two honorary degrees: doctor of engineering from Case School of Applied Science and doctor of laws from the University of Vermont.

Prior to his appointment to the deanship in 1937, he was a member of the faculty at the University of Pennsylvania, Lehigh University, and Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute.

Tickets for the dance, priced at $3.60, tax included, will be sold at the Athletic Association window in Old Main until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

From photographs submitted by fraternities and barracks, five coeds were selected to compete for queen of the ball. They are:

Cabinet Tours Campus In Bus for Explanation Of College Traditions

All-College Cabinet made a bus tour of the campus and College grounds Tuesday night instead of conducting its regular meeting.

Edward K. Hibshman, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, arranged for the tour, which included explanations of the College traditions. The Cabinet was shown the trustees board room, and the map of the College that occupies but 400 acres, but owns 2800 acres.

Hibshman related the story of the mural, the Lion Shrine, and the Old Willow. Grange Dormitory was a gift of the state Grange and the infirmary a gift of the state potato growers.

Members of Cabinet were shown the fertility plots which are the oldest agriculture experimental plots in the world and the inscription on Old Main which was taken directly from the act of Congress which made provision for the College.

The purpose of the tour was to insure that Cabinet members were familiar with the campus traditions and so be able to pass them down to underclassmen.

Governor Signs $6,014,000 College Maintenance Bill

Governor Edward Martin signed a bill this week appropriating $6,014,000 for the maintenance of the College program for the next two years.

President Ralph D. Hetzel described the legislative program from which this bill emerged as "one of the most comprehensive and helpful ever experienced by the College."

The bill provides $5,669,000 for general maintenance, $70,000 for research by the School of Mineral Industries in the use of coal by-products, $150,000 for crop and livestock research by the School of Agriculture, $35,000 for slate research, $40,000 for study of long range basic problems of the mineral industries, and $50,000 to match contributions by industries to such work.

President Hetzel pointed out that the measure provides an increase of $664,000, or slightly over 14 per cent above the State appropriation for the same purposes made by the Legislature two years ago.

"In addition to the main appropriation bill," said President Hetzel, "the College is a probable beneficiary of the provisions of an act appropriating seven millions of dollars for the construction of new buildings and for alterations and repairs to existing buildings at The Pennsylvania State College, the State teacher colleges, and the several eleemosynary institutions operated by the Commonwealth."

This fund, he explained, will be allocated by the Governor upon recommendations presented to him by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"The College is also the beneficiary of an act which retires all of the outstanding bonds of the General State Authority," said the President. "While the State has actually been providing funds for the gradual retirement of these bonds, technically and legally the
