Bob Rutherford Tees Off On 43rd Golfing Season

Does your golf score resemble a baseball player's batting average? Don't be discouraged, that makes two of us.

According to Bob Rutherford Sr., head Gold Coach at the College, it's the toughest competitive sport there is. Bob should know because this is his 43rd golfing season, his last 24 having been spent at the College.

Back in 1921 when he first came to the College as a golf instructor, there was a four hole course. What now comprises the rest of the course was in those days a corn field. (Now, the corn is green.)

The College has abandoned competitive golf for the duration, but under Coach Rutherford many a good Penn State team has ranked with the best in the East. The records show that State golfers have won two out of three meets with Bob at the helm. Add up the victories that have accumulated over his coaching span of 24 years and they prove Bob Rutherford Sr. to be the great coach that he is.

Are humorous incidents common on a golf course? You bet they are, he said. How about the day a man came dashing into the caddy house and up to the first Rutherford that a boy was driving balls from one of the greens. "Has he just played one?" asked the coach.

"No, he has hit about a dozen," replied the man.

Rutherford stormed out of the caddy house to inform Coach hole where the young golfer was diligently practicing his drives.

"What are you doing?"

"I'm practicing," the boy answered.

"What are you practicing off of?" asked Rutherford.

"The tee," was the truthful reply he received.

The coach learned that this was the boy's first day on a golf course. He had just purchased the clubs and balls that morning and after all, the green was smooth, and looked like an excellent spot to practice. The boy had good taste anyway. The startling part about the whole episode was that not a piece of turf was torn from the green, and yet he had driven more than ten balls.

Mr. Rutherford has two sons who are also mighty good golfers. Bob Jr. is on the College coaching staff, and Ken, who is now home on leave from the South Pacific, is a pro at the Centre Hills course.

Strolling about was Ann Rutherford. She's the charming daughter of Ken, and quite a golfer, too. She was discouraged the other day because after playing only

50 Contestants Enter As IFC Net Tourney Begins

Interfraternity tennis will get underway officially next week, according to Len Scalise and Don Rider. First round playoffs are scheduled to be completed before August 22.

More than fifty entrants have been received for this first net tourney organized since pre-war days. Schedules of opponents for each round as well as the rules of the tournament and court information will be posted in the Corner Room window, the chairmen said.

Any further questions should be referred to Scalise or Rider by calling Phi Kappa, 203, or Alpha Chi Sigma, 881, respectively.

five holes, the rain interrupted her game.

If you think you see a golf bag strolling over the course by itself someday, don't be alarmed, but look closely, because Ann will probably be on the other side of it. You see, she's only nine years old and it's just recently that she has outgrown her golf bag by a very few inches.

Booters Show Drill Progress

Soccer practice during the past two weeks has been highlighted by numerous intra-squad scrimmages. Progress has been made at a rapid pace and, according to Co-captains Herb Mendt and John Hamilton, a bright season looms ahead.

With the drills moving into its sixth week, men who loom as possible starters for the right fullback position are Ed Hobart, V-12er, Jacque Hogg, who is now out for soccer after being sidelined in football for a bad shoulder, and Juan Quiros, a good neighbor from Costa Rica. Charles Appleman, veteran of last year's varsity, and Navy man George Martin are vying for the left fullback spot.

The only man now out for goalie is James Doman, a freshman who is making a very good showing.

Running in close competition for the center halfback slot are Bob Rust and Ralph Samppala, both of the V-12 unit. Two more sailors, Ken Holt, Seymour Shusteh, and civilians Wallis Lloyd and Bill Trisler are top contenders for left halfback.

Pacing the candidates for varsity right halfback are Grant Davis, 128 pound wrestling letterman, George Varasz, a freshman with a powerful kick, and Mario Santo Domingo who hails from Columbia. Elwood Stetler, erstwhile baseballer, is also out for this position but is now out of action with a foot injury.

Sparkling in play as centers, Don Rider, Army dischargee and '41 varsity player, and Rene Rortiquez, Latin American from Chile, are running a close race for starting positions. John Hamilton, who shares the coaching duties with Herb Mendt during Coach Bill Jeffrey's absence, and Paul Tleuter share the spotlight for the left inside position. Tleuter may be switched to left outside.

Bob Stabley, V-12, and Harold Miller are strong bidders in the competition for first string left outside.

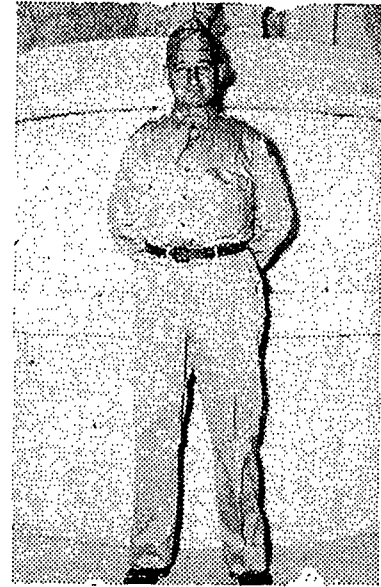

The 1945 season will mark Penn State's 59th consecutive year of intercollegiate football.

Jeffrey In Rome Teaching Soccer

Bill Jeffrey, Lion soccer coach, has arrived in Rome to conduct a class in soccer coaching at the Central Sports School sponsored by Special Service, Mediterranean Theater of Operations.

Students will attend classes held in gymnasiums and stadiums once used by Mussolini to train Fascist troops. After graduation they will return to their outfits to serve as instructors and coaches in the Army's expanding athletic program.

Coach Jeffrey was also a soccer player before taking up coaching. He played for club teams in Philadelphia, Bethlehem, Altoona and Pittsburgh from 1913 to 1926. Before playing for these Pennsylvania teams he was playing in Edinburgh, Scotland, the city of his birth. After soccer careers at Newhaven Victoria School and Trinity Academy in Edinburgh at the age of 20 he came to America.

"I came over to the United States, he said, to get away from the game of soccer—at the request of my parents."

Bill Jeffrey has coached soccer at Penn State for 19 years and in 12 of them he has produced undefeated teams. His teams once enjoyed a run of 65 consecutive victories. In 1936 he took the Nittany booters to Scotland for an eight-game tour.

"We lost all eight games," Jeffrey said, "but the trip must have done the boys a lot of good. It was the next 65 games that we won."

Bobby Jones, 1944 track team co-captain is now at Iowa State. He was recently runner-up in the Big Six half mile.

Barracks 26 Leads V-12 Softball

Barracks 26 assumed the lead in the second half of the V-12 softball tournament by winning two games in a row. Barracks 37, the winner of the first half, and Barracks 9 have played only one game apiece and therefore have the same amount of percentage points as the league leader.

By banging out 13 hits in the first half of the tourney, A/S Bob Breeding has become the V-12 batting champ. His average of .565 for the first eight games is way ahead of the runner-up for clubbing honors, A/S Martin, who slugged out a .433 percentage. Martin is also the hardest hitter, having slammed two homers, two triples and a double.

Twelve other sailors qualified for batting honors by having averages over .315.

In the past week's play, Barracks 37 blanked Barracks 13, 4-0; Barracks 26 downed 36, 8-5; Barracks 9 won over Barracks 36, 6-1; and Barracks 26 blanked Barracks 13, 5-0, with Brownell's two-hit pitching.

The standings follow:

Team	Won	Lost
Barracks 26	2	0
Barracks 37	1	0
Barracks 9	1	0
Barracks 36	0	2
Barracks 13	0	2
