

Barracks 8 Wins Softball Series

Barracks 8, winner of the Company A softball title, emerged as the champion team in the ASTP unit this week by virtue of their twin victories over Barracks 17, winners in the Company B league. Next Tuesday evening, the service team championship of the College will go on the block as the Navy meets the Army in a battle to determine which unit has the best softball team. The Navy teams are still competing for the right to meet Barracks 8 in the all important game.

Barracks 8 and 17 played a three game series to determine the winner. With Bob Gibson pitching 8 to the final victory, 10-3. Barracks 17 had won the first tilt, 5-2, but 8 came back to take the second game 8-2 and then went on to win the rubber game, and the ASTP unit championship.

Gibson will be slinging for Barracks 8 when they tangle with the Navy. His team will go into the game with a record of eight victories and only one defeat.

V-12 Teams Tie In Softball

The V-12 unit softball tourney reached a temporary impasse as Barracks 26 and Barracks 37 stalled in a tie for first place. However, Barracks 13 tied both teams, and the playoff of these ties may decide the championship of the second half. If not, Barracks 26 and Barracks 37 will play each other.

If Barracks 26 cops the second half honors, they will play the first half winners, Barracks 37, for the V-12 championship.

In recent games, Barracks 13 downed Barracks 9, 6-4; Barracks 37 blanked Barracks 26, 4-0; Barracks 26 overpowered Barracks 9, 15-2; Barracks 37 defeated Barracks 36, 5-3; Barracks 13 beat Barracks 36, 6-4; and Barracks 37 smothered Barracks 9, 14-5.

Barracks 37 defeated Barracks 36, 7-2; Barracks 9 lost out to Barracks 26, 11-1; Barracks 26 blanked Barracks 36, 2-0; Barracks 9 won over Barracks 36, 7-4; Barracks 26 nosed out Barracks 37, 3-2; Barracks 13 scored in the final innings to down Barracks 9, 3-2; and Barracks 37 took the measure of Barracks 9, 7-4.

The standings follow:

Barracks 9	2	6
Barracks 36	0	7

Penn State and Michigan State have broken even in two football games. They will meet for the third time next fall.

Rec Hall's 'Oscar' Outfits Athletes

If someone would ask you, "Who is Oscar?", chances are that you would search your mind and finally arrive at the conclusion that he was referring to the gold statuettes given to the Motion Picture Academy Award winners. But to coaches, athletes, managers, or anyone else who frequents the dark recesses of Recreation Hall, "Oscar" is Oscar Buchenhorst, stockroom manager for all sports.

Oscar's work is to supply and outfit candidates for the various teams and to see that they get to the coaches. In carrying out his job he naturally comes in contact with and gets to know practically all the athletes that have been at the College since he took over his duties in 1942. He knows them not as great stars or players, but as men, their character and habits.

"After seeing so many boys off and on the field I can truthfully say that Penn State boasts of gentleman athletes. Of course there are a few who were 'bad boys,' but they were fortunately in the extreme minority. I think this is one reason why State has had successful teams."

Among sports, Oscar has no favorites; he likes them equally. As for knowing rules of sports, he is concerned only with those pertaining to equipment and supplies. At present most of his time is devoted to the Nittany football squad, and he makes no bones about the matter when he says that football is the hardest job of all the sports.

In his background position, the overseer of equipment has a chance to observe such things as the spirit of the players besides their temperament.

"Lion athletes usually have the get-up-and-go that helps put out a winning club. But, of course, spirit alone cannot turn the trick. However, if the fellows have the spirit, win or lose, they make the game more enjoyable for themselves."

Oscar likes his job as he likes sports and working with the boys. He says that nothing gives him more satisfaction than to see a squad all working for the interest of the team and doing a good job.

Storeroom manager, yes, but one with a philosophy; "Do your best all the time and you will never do wrong."

Cheerleader Tryouts

Tryouts for men cheerleaders will be held in front of Old Main at 7 p. m. Monday, announced Dick Griffiths, cheerleader. Both upperclassmen and freshmen are urged to try out.

Pvt. Larry Joe, the original GI Joe of Penn State football, is still cutting capers overseas. His services are eagerly sought by officer-coaches of all athletic teams at the American Army base in Neustadt, Germany.
