

Lions To Face Colgate Raiders

Boasting a 48-0 triumph over a Rochester team that had previously won two of their three games, Colgate's Red Raiders invade New Beaver Field tomorrow afternoon to engage the Nittany Lions.

Just before the kickoff, spectators will observe several moments of silence in memory of Penn Staters killed in action. A eulogy will be read and Taps will be sounded at this time, according to Burke M. Hermann, professor of American history, who is in charge of the ceremony.

Andy Kerr, who heads Colgate's eleven for the 17th season, brings with him a much better club than last year's which dropped a close 6-0 decision to the Lions. The Raider '45 aggregation is faster, heavier and trickier.

According to End Coach Earl Edwards, who scouted the Colgate-Rochester contest, the boys from Hamilton, N. Y., have a well-rounded attack that ought to give the Blue and White keen competition.

"Colgate impressed me as being very smooth for their first game," declared Edwards. "They didn't make the usual number of first game mistakes, and if the first stringers were in longer, the score would have been a lot higher."

Sticking to their double-wing back formation, the Red Raiders have an offense that centers around Glenn Treichler, 155-pound scatback, acclaimed by Coach Kerr one of the greatest backs he ever had. Not only does Treichler have speed, but his passing arm is accurate.

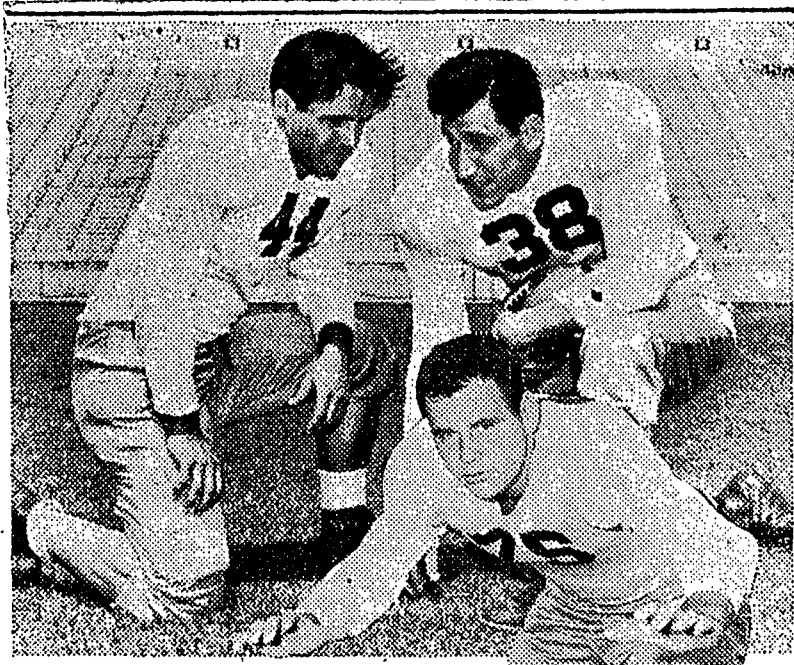

Kicking chores will fall on lanky George Heddy, quarterback, while James Cox and Walt Cowie round out a hard-hitting backfield.

Starting for Kerr's team as ends are two boys who gained all-state recognition in New Jersey, Warren Davis and Dick Birkins. Birkins, incidentally, is the only first string lineman who is neither a six-footer nor weighs over 200 pounds.

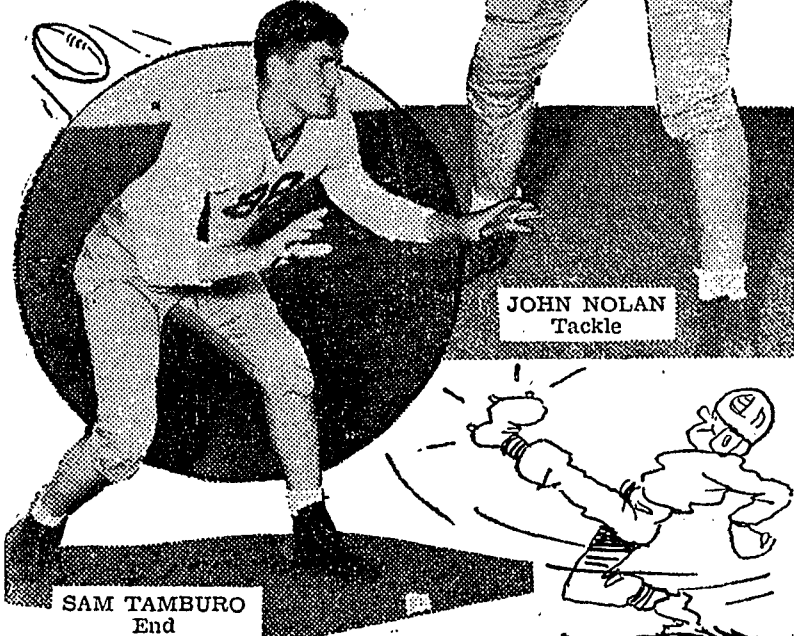

Familiar faces on the team opposing the Lions are Paul Redfield, tackle, and James Groh, guard. Both played a bang-up game last year against State's gridders. Filling the forward line are Paul Thompson, guard; Milton McClure, center; William Dudley, tackle.

New Faces Help Penn State

TEPSIC and VENTRESCO, both war-hardened veterans, will combine next semester to give Penn State's attack new drive. Meanwhile only Tepsic is playing, as Ventresco was declared ineligible. Nolan, V-12 trainee, and freshman Tamburo have proved their worth.

Barracks 9 Leads Tourney

Barracks 9 retained their lead in the V-12 touch football tourney with the push of "Buzz" Cloud's educated toe. In two games he came through. He broke a 6-6 deadlock with Barracks 36 by neatly placing a field goal, which decided the game, 9-6, in favor of Barracks 9. The touchdowns were scored by Red Williams for Barracks 36, and Jim Shanks for Barracks 9.

Buzz again came through to end a 7-7 tie with Barracks 37 by once more kicking one between the posts, for a 10-7 victory for Barracks 9. Jim McGowan scored 37's touchdown, with Bob Foote kicking the extra point, and Bill McMaster accounted for 9's marker, Buzz doing the honors for the point.

Barracks 9 dropped their first game, 8-0, to Barracks 13, by Bill Brandon's tally. Barracks 37, in their attempt to catch up with Barracks 9, shut out Barracks 13, 15-0. Danny Hopkins and Red Hopper scored the touchdowns.

Barracks 37 then went on to whitewash Barracks 26, 19-0, with Jim McGowan sparking the attack by piling up two markers, "Govy" O'Neill accounting for the other one. Barracks 36 also blanked Barracks 26, 19-0, on touchdowns by Mike Ciarramella, Ed Davies, and Jim Cutter, along with Red Williams' extra point.

The standings to date follow:

| Team | Won | Lost | Tied |
|-------------|-----|------|------|
| Barracks 9 | 6 | 1 | 0 |
| Barracks 37 | 4 | 2 | 1 |
| Barracks 13 | 3 | 3 | 1 |

| Barracks 26 | 0 | 5 | 2 |

Coach Bill Jeffrey Returns After Serving in Europe

Soccer coach Bill Jeffrey has returned to the campus after a leave of absence in which he participated in the Army sports training school, which was held in Rome, Italy.

Coach Jeffrey and eight other coaches were assigned to the Central Sports School of the Special Service Division of the Army. Commanding this group was Al Baggett of West Texas Teachers College. Their primary function was to set up a program which would make instructors of GI's who could later return as coaches in their old outfits.

The success of the school is well indicated by the fact that they trained 350 students from July 1 to September 1.

Commenting upon Mussolini Stadium, Coach Jeffrey said, "It is one of the finest in the world and could well be an asset to any college in the country."

The assemblage had ample time to swim in one of Mussolini's two private pools. The coaches concluded that Il Duce was not an expert swimmer for the water was not over five feet deep at any point.

"The city of Rome was practically untouched by bombs," said

Jeffrey. It was there that we experienced one of the high spots of our trip when we were given a private audience with the Pope.

"I showed some excellent film of the soccer game between England and Italy in 1937," said Jeffrey. "Those pictures were loaned to me by the Olympic Committee of Italy and I have hopes of borrowing them so that they may be shown in this country."

Coach Jeffrey noted that there was quite a let-down in interest after V-J Day. However he commented, "That was quite natural, for those boys' main interest is getting home."

Muhlenberg Tilt Proves No Thrill

Opening games come and go, and Saturday's tilt with Muhlenberg was one that barely provided an afternoon's entertainment for the fans.

Twelve minutes of play in the first quarter saw the Nittany first stringers roll over a hapless but plucky Mule eleven to score four times. After that, spectators became more interested in their programs, hot dogs, and pop than in the proceedings on the field.

Commenting on the game, Coach Bob Higgins said that he knows nothing more about the Lions now than he did before the contest.

"Muhlenberg," he continued, "put up a game fight but they were definitely outclassed." The only thing Higgins observed of a positive nature was that the gridders will have to do a lot of improving to have a successful season.

Joe Tepsic scored on the fourth scrimmage play of the game on a 52 yard dash, and a few minutes later added another 6 pointer on a two yard plunge. The other two first period scores came via the air waves with Al Bellas tossing to Ross Herron in the end zone, and Larry Cooney snaring a Muhlenberg aerial and running 65 yards for the tally.

The Lion second team kept up the rout by scoring three additional touchdowns during the second quarter. Speedster Bob Kritzer skirted end for 36 yards to reach paydirt. Floyd "Tubby" Lang went over from the four, and Bob McCoy intercepted another Mule pass and scored after a 17 yard run.

Lang's exceptional kicking paved the way for State's other score. Quick-kicking, Lang's punt rolled dead on the one yard marker and Bob Rapp, Mule quarterback, decided to run with the ball. Sam Tamburo, freshman end, came down the field fast and tackled Rapp behind the goal-line for a safety.
