

Women Debaters Urged To Attend Opening Meeting

The Women's Debate Squad will hold its first meeting in 103 Home Economics at 7 p.m. Tuesday. All women who were members during the previous spring and summer semesters are invited to attend.

All upperclass women interested in debating may report to 110 Home Economics at 7 p.m. November 15, Clayton H. Schug, head of Women's Debate, said today.

A freshmen candidates' meeting will be held in 110 Home Economics at 7 p.m. November 21.

Vera Eby scored the highest number of points during the summer semester tournament. An affirmative team composed of Miss Eby and Martha Koons won the tournament.

Donna McLaughlin and Joyce Partridge, Helen Finner and Beatrice Weiner composed the other two affirmative teams while the negative teams were made up of Katherine Snyder and Rosemarie Wagner, Mary Crusham and Dorothy Lees, Florence McWade and Shirley Rhodes, and Elaine Elpern and Nancy Pardee.

The judges were members of the varsity debate squad. They were Jeanne Barinott, Betty Coplan, Ruth Eisler, Ruth Fried, Andrina Winning, and Professor Schug.

Home Ec Announces New Staff Changes

The home economics department announces the following additions in staff members:

Coed Scripts

By Pat Turk

The new fall semester is now under way, marking the first peace semester in the College since the outbreak of World War II. Marked changes around the campus are the object of discussion in traditional bull sessions, in the Corner and in the classroom by returning servicemen, those who saw the College during the war years and entering frosh.

Not the least in importance to enjoy the changes is the Collegian which with this issue reverts to a bi-weekly. And with this issue is the inauguration of Coed Scripts, a column to be devoted to coed news. The column on behalf of the rest of the student body welcomes especially the new "wearers of the green bow."

Culver-Reiber Marriage

One of the first bits of social news was the marriage of June Culver, Zeta Tau Alpha, to Jack Reiber in the Episcopal church in State College at 7 p. m. Saturday night. Rev. John N. Peabody, pastor of the church, performed the informal ceremony.

The bride, attired in a grey gabardine suit, was attended by Marion Williamson, ZTA. Miss Williamson wore an aqua gabardine suit. Best man was Edgar Gregory, also a student at the College.

Following the ceremony a dinner for the wedding party was served at the University club. Prenuptial events included a shower for the bride given by her maid-of-honor in Atherton.

AOPi's Entertain

Sororities too are beginning their activities for the semester. Junior and senior members of Alpha Omicron Pi entertained their district superintendent, Mrs. Katherine Wilson, at a dinner in the home of Mrs. Allan Baker in State College Sunday night.

What? More Babies?

Miss Mary Brown Allgood, director of home management in the home economics department, journeyed to Altoona Saturday to bring back the three babies for the department's three home management houses. The babies will be cared for by coeds living in the three houses for eight weeks.

X-G-I Wives

An invitation has been extended to all wives of veterans at the College to attend the informal meetings held by wives of X-G-Is in the Fireside room of the Westminster Foundation of the State College Presbyterian church every Thursday night at 7:30.

Purpose of these weekly gatherings is to enable the wives to become better acquainted with one another. The club, sponsored by Mrs. Donald Carruthers, elects no officers and members may bring knitting, sewing, or mending.

in charge of Benedict Home Management House. She received her B. S. here in 1942.

Miss Elizabeth Perry Love of Worcester, Mass., received her B. S. from Massachusetts State College and will serve in the Nursery School here.

Miss Marjorie Matson, a graduate of Purdue University, will be a graduate assistant in the Nursery School.

Miss Dorthea E. Ruth, who received her B. S. here in 1936, will serve in the foods division.

Miss Mabel M. Stoner will be in charge of Beecher Home Management House. She received her B. S. from the University of West Virginia.

Miss Leila E. Thompson who received her B. S. here in June, 1945 will return to serve in the institution administration division.

Schanbacher Heads Customs Board; New Senate Meets

At their first meeting of the fall semester in the WSGA room in White Hall Friday afternoon Senate members heard reports of the summer semester work by summer senators and accepted Judicial recommendations for freshman customs board. Marie Schanbacher will head the freshman customs board.

Other members of the customs board include Jane Spicher, Margery McCall, Barbara Knoll and Janet Mollenaur.

Reports to the new Senate included the announcements that coeds would be allowed two 1 o'clock permissions per semester to return on late buses with the provision the coeds return from the bus terminal by taxi, that the Freshman Council took over the "How to Study" lectures during the summer semester and that coeds of the College contributed $235.37 to the China Relief fund during the campaign after V-J day.

Frosh Coeds Get Special Permission

First semester coeds will receive 10:30 o'clock permission Friday night to attend the play "Blithe Spirit" in Schwab auditorium, it was announced today by Joan Shearer, judicial chairman.

Those first semester freshmen coeds taking advantage of the special permission must bring back to their respective hostesses the stubs of the tickets of the play, Miss Shearer further announced. No first semester coeds are allowed to have dates on that night.

Honorary To Initiate

Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary, will initiate on November 17 the following pledges of last spring: Carolyn Lerch, Mary Swartz, and Fay Young.
