Letter To Editor

How childish all this vacation grabbing seems. Are we grade school students who are forced to attend classes and welcome the opportunity of every excuse for a holiday, or are we adults eagerly seeking a higher education and career because we want it?

The question of the summer semester has also been badgered about by the student body as though they were under a compulsion to return three times a year instead of being free acting individuals. Originally the Accelerated Program was instituted so that young men could get a good foothold on their higher education before entering the armed services. . . a very noble thought. This condition has not been done away with by the ceasing of hostilities. In fact it has been aggravated; today we have not only seventeen year olds, but returning servicemen as well. These men are still interested in "hurrying" their education. It is not enjoyable to find oneself doing undergraduate work at 25.

As if all this were not enough, Dean Hammond of the School of Engineering has repeatedly bemoaned the dearth of engineers in this country. Are we helping to alleviate this situation by discontinuing the accelerated program?

Although there may be no relation between the two, during the years that the Army and Navy had active programs at the college forcing us to remain at least partially active 12 months a year, the accelerated program was maintained. Is the College Senate to tell us now, that since the government no longer insists on our remaining active throughout the year the accelerated program is to be dropped? The young students, a step ahead of the draft, and our returning servicemen will be allowed to shift for themselves, and the devil take the hindmost.

"Only the satisfaction of showing the kids I have it."

"Oh, I thought if you were getting a dollar or something I'd ask for fifty cents," he said, signing the blank piece of lined notebook paper.

She ran back to the booth waving her hands and mentally finding an honorable place for his signature in her scrapbook.

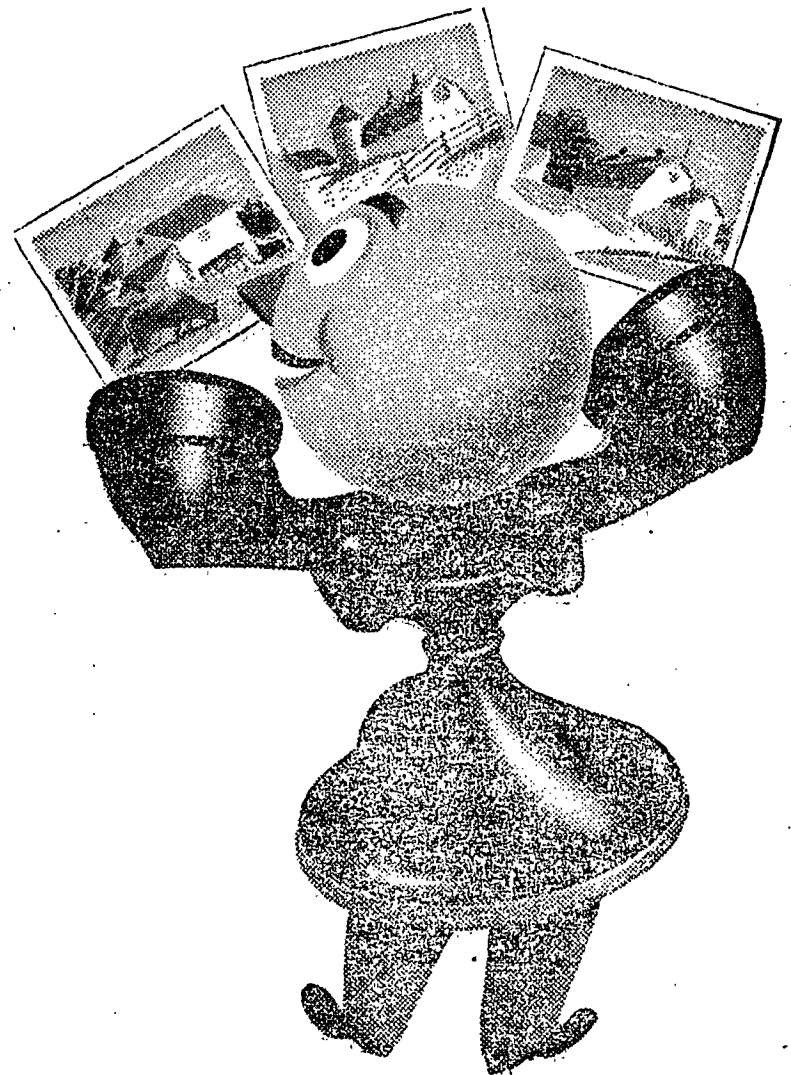

A few minutes later Fred Waring left the corner with everyone watching and ohing and awing at once. He had just taken a tour of the campus and was on his way to talk over old times with Dean Warnock.

Mr. Waring left State in 1922 when he was asked to play at a Michigan State Junior Hop at Ann Arbor. He went, and that was the last he and 22 students of his orchestra saw of our alma mater. A Detroit movie house manager started the Pennsylvanians on their way to fame, fortune, and success in the music world.

Since 1922, Fred Waring has appeared as guest conductor at Campus Glee Club concerts and has taken part in several Players' productions. He has given plugs to many local songs on his daily 11 a.m. NBC broadcast.

Both Fred and Tom Waring make frequent visits to their mother at their home in Tyrone.

"More farm life for me!"

New developments, offering advantages of speed and economy in construction, are being fully used in our program for extending and improving farm telephone service.

Among these are mechanical pole-hole diggers and plows for burying wire underground. Sturdier steel wire that permits longer spans will require fewer poles.

And we are experimenting with "power line carrier" to provide telephone service over rural electric lines. Radio, too, is being studied for use in connecting more isolated sections with telephone exchanges.

Providing more and better rural telephone service is part of the Bell System plans for constantly improving nation-wide communications service.
