

'Bachelor Club' Desires Maid, Elevator Service

"We are really quite happy here. All we need to make it complete is elevator service, maid service, a place for our clothes, a wash lady, someone to make our beds, breakfast in bed and a few other things we'd better not mention," was the answer given when the boys in 405 Old Main were asked how they liked their living quarters.

Only four of the twenty-four residents were present at the interview. Ivor Jones was laboriously making "square corners" on his bed, although you wouldn't have been able to bounce a quarter on the sheets.

"We don't have inspection here," explained Ivor.

Mike Homatit and George Grevis, obviously having no other aim at the moment but loafing, disclosed further bits of information about the "Bachelor's Club," as 405 Old Main has been dubbed.

"We have a piano player, Bernice DeLong, up here who entertains us nightly. We think he's good enough to play in some band. Of course, he only knows one number, 'Body and Soul,' but he plays it well," confided Grevis.

Charlie Zuslow, the last of the quartette, was dozing on his bed, only grunting sleepily in agreement with what his roommates had to say.

The boys have written a constitution laying down the law to all residents. Lights are turned out at 10:30 p. m. and the doors of Old Main are locked at midnight. Up until now, the boys had to do their studying in the library, the only place available for them, but starting this week the College has given them two study rooms down the hall, giving them "all the comforts of home."

Stretching, Charlie Zuslow, the sleepy member of the group, yawned, "It's real nice here. We can throw our cigarette butts on the floor and nobody cares. We also have open house every night for the girls . . . oh, don't we wish we did."

Patrol Captain Pens Swamp City Blues For Campers

Capt. P. A. Mark of Campus Patrol has written a theme song for "Swamp City", better known as the Penn State Trailer Camp. The poetry is sung to the tune of "Take Me Back To Colorado," and goes as follows:

In the dark and dreary winter,
When the snow is on the ground,
And the chilly winds are blowin'
all about,

Oh, when you get a notion
You don't lose any motion,
You wrap your robe about you
And you go out.

Yes, you go out,
In the middle of the night
You go out.
Hammer loudly on the door,
Is there room for any more?
Yes, at the Trailer Camp
We all go out.

Nursery Opens To Ex-GI Tots

Children from the age of two to four years of ex-servicemen enrolled at the College may attend nursery school at the Presbyterian church from 9 to 12 o'clock each Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday morning; it was announced today by Mrs. D. W. Carruthers, chairman of the advisory committee of the school.

Registration will be in the Presbyterian church from 9 to 12 o'clock Monday, and the initial session will be held Tuesday morning.

Preference for registration in the school will be extended to children of ex-servicemen living in trailers and then to children of ex-servicemen living in town. Children will be inspected daily by Mrs. David H. Ricks, Red Cross nurse. Mrs. Ricks will be assisted by other graduate nurses in town.

School will be directed by Mrs. Elaine Troll. The committee to assist her includes Mrs. Lloyd Jones, Mrs. James Finden, Mrs. John MacIndoe, and Mrs. S. C. Picca. Also named as assistants are Mrs. Wesley Turek and several wives of ex-GI's.

Mrs. Marsh White will head the sponsor committee from the American Association of University Women. Other members of the committee include Mrs. F. L. Bentley and Mrs. Henry Yeagley. Those named to serve on the advisory committee are Mrs. D. W. Carruthers, chairman, Mrs. Ellen Baker, and Mrs. Robert R. McCollach.

Further information concerning the nursery school may be secured from Mrs. Troll or Mrs. Carruthers.

Ed. Staff Plans Dinner

The faculty of the School of Education will get together at a dinner meeting at the Hotel Brockhoff in Bellefonte at 7 p. m. Tuesday. The guest speaker will be W. Earl Armstrong, dean of the School of Education at the University of Delaware. He will speak on "Procedure in the Improvement in Teacher Education."

Interviews For Engineers

W. E. Swanson, a representative of the Chance-Vought Aircraft Company at Stratford, Conn., will visit the campus Monday, December 3, to interview engineering students who will be graduated in February and June.

Electrical, civil, aeronautical, and mechanical engineers interested in an interview should telephone or stop at the Placement Service office, 204 Old Main, for an appointment, according to George N. P. Leetch, director.

Swanson is seeking applicants for positions in development and research work in the company's engineering department. Leetch advises that seventh semester engineering seniors, should concerning themselves with this opportunity, since companies coming to campus may possibly be limited owing to the small number of graduating engineers.

Interviews with Swanson, the first company representative to visit the campus this semester, will also give seventh semester students practice in preparation for future interviews, Leetch said.
