

25 Frosh Sing Blues As 'Judges' Lay Law

"Woe is us" sighed the 25 Frosh who trudged out of the Tribunal meeting Wednesday evening. This morning they will don two sandwich signs each, and the less fortunate will carry everything from an automobile tire to a floor lamp. The reason?—they failed to conform to Frosh custom rules.

Don't slap Freshman Al Venzor on the back, you might capsize a lung. You see, Venzor's back won't be where you think it is 'cause he'll be wearing his pants, shirt and coat backwards. Be careful, please.

"THE LIGHT THAT FAILED" is the sign that will adorn the lamp shade that Emerson Ketterman will wear for a hat. Just to complete the ensemble, Tribunal told him to carry a floor lamp to classes. His sign will read "LOST FROSH? SEE TRIBUNAL... I WAS SET STRAIGHT."

When Freshman Fred Ludwin climbs stairs on his way to classes he'll take them on the double while yelling "CHARGE." He'll also wear a version of the famous Teddy-Roosevelt lid and carry a sturdy-homemade sword. I'M A WISE BIRD AND A BIT ABSURD and WATCH ME TAKE THE STAIRS are the sandwich signs he'll carry.

CUSTOMS FAILURE WAS MY SLEEP... NOW I'M IN TRIBUNAL'S GRIP will be worn on a sign by Howard Cohen for failing to wear his customs. TIME TO RETIRE is the other sign he'll have to wear, and his outfit will resemble the tire company ad which calls for a flowing white nightgown, lighted candle and an auto tire slung over his shoulder.

Other signs that the Frosh will accompany around the campus this coming week will read: IT'S ABOUT TIME I KNEW MY CUSTOMS... ASK ME? ? DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS VACATION, TRIBUNAL GOT IN A HUFF AND CALLED MY BLUFF, MAY I CARRY YOUR BOOKS PRETTY MAIDEN? I'M A WISE APPLE, and numerous other reminding frosh of the Orientation meeting on Tuesday.

George Bearer will carry a bucket of water to classes and sprinle the Willow tree each time he passes it. Also, he'll emphasize the Christmas spirit by camouflaging himself to look like a Christmas tree. His sign will read, AS YOU CAN PLAINLY SEE... TRIBUNAL MADE A TREE OF ME.

One Frosh will wear a dog collar and leash and spend the week chewing a rubber dog bone. He'll carry a folding chair for tired upperclassmen to sit on. Still another will carry an ash tray stand and transport his text books in a market basket.

Woe is them.

History Prof Returns After Air Corps Service

A former captain of the Army Air Forces, Prof. Emmett F. O'Neil has returned to teach history at the College, a position he held before the war.

Enlisting in July 1942, O'Neil served with several of his former students while going to Officers Candidate School at Chanute Field, Ill., and Camp Lee, Va. Later he was graduated from the Army Air Forces OCS at Miami Beach, Fla., and Harvard University.

He was then assigned to the Air Transport Command, serving in Lt. General George's Headquarters Staff in Washington, D. C., from March, 1943, to November, 1944, at which time he was discharged for medical reasons.
