

WSGA Grants Late Permits To Frosh For Big Weekend

Senate of WSGA, at its meeting in White Hall, Tuesday night, voted to grant freshman women a 2 o'clock and a 1 o'clock for the weekend of February 8. Senate also approved the nominations for president of the new town dormitory, Alpha Sigma Phi.

A letter from the Mifflin County authorities thanking the students on campus for their generous contributions in the recent Christmas drive was then read.

Following the Freshman Council report and the treasurer's report, it was voted to buy senate keys for all members of Senate, on a fifty-fifty basis, WSGA paying for half and the member standing the rest.

The Big-Little Sister tea has been scheduled for Atherton Hall lounges, February 17. The committee chairman will be appointed, one from each of the freshmen dormitories. These coeds will be outstanding freshmen women chosen by their hostesses.

An Old Main open-house was discussed, followed by remarks by Miss Charlotte E. Ray, dean of women. The Dean of Women's office is making plans for a tea for graduating senior women to be held soon.

will hold a meeting in 121 Sparks at 8 o'clock tonight. Miss Mary Donham, of the Public Charities of Pennsylvania, will address the group on "Children Today—Citizens Tomorrow". Following the address, there will be a panel discussion.

Coeds in Atherton Hall will revive the dormitory's tradition of Saturday afternoon teas tomorrow. The initial tea will be held in the northwest lounge of Atherton from 3 to 5 p. m. for all coeds living in the dormitory. The affair will be informal and tables will be set up for those who wish to play bridge.

Those coeds living on fourth floor of the northwest unit comprise the committee in charge, which is headed by Mitzie Shade and Martha Ball.

Northeast lounge of Atherton Hall was the scene of another tea Sunday when IWA entertained the wives of ex-servicemen at the College from 3 to 4:30 p. m. Following the tea, coeds showed the wives about the dormitory and exchanged notes on "pots 'n pans."

Guests numbered 150. The hostesses received a return invitation to a swim and bowling party in White Hall tonight.

Sorority Shorts

In the sorority news this week is Alpha Epsilon Phi who will entertain members of Phi Epsilon Pi Sunday. Sorority members were hostesses last Sunday when they entertained Pi Lambda Phi . . .

Alpha Omicron Pi recently installed the following officers: Patricia Trester, president; Mary Eldrid Anderson, vice-president; Esther Pebley, recording secretary; Mitzie Shade, corresponding secretary; Mary Louise Lamade, treasurer; Jane Schlosser, rushing chairman; Josephine Lowrie, doorkeeper; Jane Wolbarst, historian; Isabelle Myers, scholarship officer; Martha Kremers, study plan officer; Barbara Engstrom, social chairman. AOPi's were guests of Delta Sigma Phi at a spaghetti dinner Tuesday night . . .

Alpha Xi Delta members entertained Tau Kappa Epsilon members at an informal party in Grange playroom Saturday afternoon . . . Chi Omega held a candlelight banquet at the Nittany Lion Inn Sunday night. Guests of honor included new initiates, Helen Weber, Janie Staus, Helen Lewis, and Miss Alice Thompson, Chi O alumna and field representative for American Red Cross. Miss Thompson, who recently returned from Manila, will report for reassignment to Korea in the near future . . .

Ex-Editor Makes Good

Helen Hatton, former editor of The Collegian will go to University of Pennsylvania Medical School in the fall. Miss Hatton was graduated in October and was a member of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, and listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Former Prop Girls Will Sponsor Tea

The former "Hamilton-Prop" girls who have returned to the College will hold a tea for 41 of their professors in the Northeast lounge of Atherton Hall from 2:30 to 5 p. m. Sunday. Mrs. Royal Gerhard and Miss Hazel Fall will pour.

The tea will be the first meeting of the former Hamilton Standard Propeller students since they have returned to the College. The girls were on campus under the ESMWT program for a year and a half. About 125 girls attended the College under this program. The last group were graduated in December, 1944.

Seventeen have returned, but not all as students. Four are married, nine are doing work toward a degree, and four more are back working for the College. The girls all worked for Hamilton for at least a year.

Mrs. William Gilland, the former Jay Jones, is living in the trailer camp while her husband goes to college. The rest are: Mary Ann Bishop, Mrs. John Britton (nee Lois Miller), Mrs. David Clark (nee Shirley Goldsmith), Marguerite Grymko, Lois Hartz, Unice Ingram, Lois Irwin, Irene Jedrzewski, Annabel Johnson, Mary Virginia Keck, Marion Labardee, Jeanne Laudin, Alice Mann, Florence Roberts, Mrs. George Rowe (nee Laura Corby), and Laurel Wagner.

Cwens

will meet in the WSGA room at White Hall at 8:30 p. m. Monday night. Prof. William Henninger, of the College music department, will play records and give his interpretations of them for the coeds.

Women In Sports

WRA intramural basketball tournament has been hitting full stride with 16 teams of the original 26 left to vie for top honors. The scores of last week's games follow:

Cody Manor won over Atherton, 31-22; Atherton came back to defeat the Town team, 33-21; Mac Hall topped Alpha Xi Delta, 55-47; and the Transfers downed the AOPi's, 31-21.

ACHiO defeated the ZTA's, 34-24; Frazier Hall stopped Miles street dorm, 26-7, and the Kappas, 20-7; Miles street Dorm won over SDT, 31-21; and Rickards defaulted to Chi Omega.

Cody Manor swamped Nittany Co-op, 55-9, and the Thetas eked out a 22-20 victory over the DU girls.

In the second game of the physical education faculty and physical education majors basketball series, the majors downed the faculty, 40-30, to maintain a 2-0 lead.

Lakonides

is sponsoring a party for the physical education coeds and faculty in White Hall from 7:30 to 9 tonight.

Girls' Phys Ed Progresses From Bloomers To Dresses

Coeds, can you picture yourselves going to gym classes in the Armory attired in the 1891-1917 gym costume of heavy, blue, wool, serge bloomers, middy blouses, black stockings, and white tennis shoes to do calisthenics and various rhythmic contortions? That is what the smart coed wore when the first women's physical activities program was started at the College in 1892.

Quite a decided change has taken place since then. First, black lightweight bloomers took the place of the heavy ones until 1924 when a two piece blue shorts suit, white blouse, and white gym shoes became the costume. Eight years later that was doffed and now the coeds may be seen dashing around White Hall in the most modern gym attire of light blue cotton tennis dresses, white ankle socks, and white gym shoes, or in brief leotards for modern dance classes.

WRA Formed
Women's physical education activities were in the background until 1903 when for the first time in the college history their classes were printed in the catalogue. Mrs. Blanche P. Miller took charge of the first gym classes carried on in the Armory and struggled to keep the spark of interest alive. She achieved this success when in 1907 the first Department of Physical Education was organized and women were included in it.

Interest grew and finally the women emerged in a group called the Women's Athletic Association in 1918 under Miss Marjorie Sime. The next year Miss M. Elizabeth Bates took over as the first full-time instructor in the department. The WAA held its name until 1938 when it was decided to change it to the Women's Recreation Association. It was thought that "Athletic" implied a masculine type of play activities and also WRA wanted to expand its program to include more varied types of activity of a recreational nature.

White Hall Built
Miss Marie Haidt, who was appointed instructor in 1924 and is now the head of the department, continued to call the College's attention to the need for better facilities for the women students. After persistent appeals she succeeded and promoted the building of White Hall.

White Hall is ranked as one of the best-planned buildings in the country and has better indoor facilities than most men's recreation building do. The program offered, ranks with the best in the country and is considered among the most inclusive and most progressive programs in respect to regular physical education required programs and women's recreational programs.
