Matmen Bow To Lehigh

Lions Forfeit Two Bouts In Losing to Engineers

Paul Campbell's matmen bowed to the Lehigh grapplers, 18-15, Saturday night when the Nittany wrestlers were forced to forfeit the 121 and 175-pound bouts.

Lacking a suitable replacement for 121-pounder Dave Faloon, temporarily out of action with a wrenched shoulder, and moving McKeeby from the 175 pound class to the heavyweight bout cost the Lions 10 points.

Captain Sam Harry chalked up his fourth win of the season by pinning Hazelhurst with a double bar-arm after 1:04 of the third period.

Harry maintained a point advantage after a take-down in the first period but it wasn't until the second period was almost over that he managed to pin Hazelhurst with a double bar-arm. He again pinned Hazelhurst in the third period with the same hold.

The 135-pound match between Joe Steel and Bert Bartlett of Lehigh ended a tie, despite the fact that the bout went into two extra periods.

The Lions picked up five points in the 145 pound bout when Green won by default. Green picked his Lehigh opponent, Dick Seals, off the mat but before he could drop him. Seals got a hold on Greene who was quick to capitalize on his chance to body slam Seals, legally. Although allowed three minutes by intercollegiate rules for recovery, Seals was too groggy to continue the bout and Green won by default.

Grant Dixon took the 155 pound encounter on a 6-0 decision, boosting the Lions' lead over Lehigh to 15-7. While he spent most of the three periods riding Szvetecz of Lehigh, Dixon was unable to pin the agile Engineer.

Campbell decided to forfeit the 175-pound bout and moved McKeeby to the heavyweight class where he might be able to pit his speed and agility against his slower, but heavier and more powerful opponent, Koran.

Koran's strength proved to be too much for Lionsman McKeeby as indicated by the one-sided 10-1 decision awarded the Engineer.

Cavaliers Top Mittmen, 4½-3½

Both Score 3 Victories; Unlimited Bout Forfeited

Although Coach Leo Houck started two aces-in-the-hole, both of whom were successful, the University of Virginia's Orange and Black clad boxing team nevertheless punched out its fourth straight dual meet decision of the current season and its second 4½-3½ triumph over the Nittany Lions in Recreation Hall Saturday night.

The Lions walked off the floor feeling that they had at least earned a 4-4 tie, as the bout between hard-hitting Stan Lachowski and the Cavalier captain, "Chuck" Pomato, was a questionable draw. Lachowski, the ex-marine, who defeated the Cavalier at Virginia, had to contend with the cagey, rushing veteran who was set to make a battle of it, win or lose.

Throughout the slugfest, the Lion battler matched his opponent blow for blow and in the last few seconds of the second round had him groggy from hard rights to the body. The Cavalier, however, made a strong return in the last round and through his aggressiveness received the draw.

Coach Houck's opening ace was in the lightweight class where he started '42 Lion Jim Cassidy in place of Captain Paul Smith. Due to a sprained wrist, Jim Worthington, the Cavalier lightweight, gave way to Francisco Castro.

The second ace was in the 155-pound class where Houck started "Buzz" Fahringer against a Cavalier newcomer, Roland Fitzpatrick. Both southpaws, the bout was a close one throughout, but the Lion received the nod because of cleaner blows and a tighter defense.

Shifty Nick Ranieri provided a will-o-the-wisp for his opponent for three rounds. The Cavalier missed so many lefts and rights aimed at the elusive Lion that it became monotonous. Ranieri copped his second decision from the Cavalier.

Virginia Coach Al York's bantamweight and featherweight, both undefeated, scored impressive victories over Lions Cramer and Polansky. The featherweight pounded out a second decision over his Lion opponent, while the Orange and Black bantam, a replacement over the opponent Cramer decisioned at Virginia, outbought the Lion all the way.

120-pound class—Cummings (V) decisioned Cramer.
127-pound class—Cross (V) decisioned Polansky.
135-pound class—Cassidy (PS) decisioned Castro.
145-pound class—Lachowski (PS) drew with Pomato.
155-pound class—Fahringer (PS) decisioned Fitzpatrick.
165-pound class—Gaskell (V) decisioned Slusarczyk.
175-pound class—Ranieri (PS) decisioned Tysinger.
Unlimited—State forfeited.

Shortest Cager

Milt Simon in his first year of intercollegiate competition has been the spark-plug of the Nittany Lion basketball club. Cutting the cords for 17 markers in the Bucknell game, the ex-gob now ranks second among State scorers with 66 points.

Lion Quintet Rides Herd On Bison Cagers, 47-28

Bucknell's court squad was corralled on their home court on Saturday night when the Penn State quintet rode herd on the Bisons to 47-28 victory.

The State passers were able to garner only seven points in the first quarter and trailed the Bucknell team by one point at the end of the first period.

Midway in the second period the Lion defense tightened and throttled the Bison attack so effectively that they were able to score only once in the second and third periods.

Wally Hatkevich and Milt Simon teamed up to score 20 points in the third quarter and "put the game on ice" for the Lawthermen.

The State five will meet Army's cagers on the West Point floor tomorrow night. The Cadets boast one of the strongest basketball teams on the eastern circuit. They recently broke the Intercollegiate scoring record when they racked up 95 points in downing the University of Pennsylvania.

Dropped Baton Kills Lion Hopes In Inquirer Meet

A mix-up going around the first turn, thirty yards from the start, put Penn State's relay team out of the one mile relay at the Inquirer Invitation meet at the Philadelphia Convention Hall, Friday night.

Bill Davis, lead-runner for the Lions, had to go back twenty yards to pick up a dropped baton as Penn and Villanova went ahead. Penn won the event, followed by Villanova, while State trailed far behind.

Completing the quartet of the Nittany relay squad were John Gray, John Stevenson, and anchor man Everett Fretz.

In the pole-vaulting competition there was a three-way tie at the 13 foot mark. Chuck Willing of State, although not among the top three, cleared 12 feet.
