Former Aa Hill Dean BMOCY Sets Out To Visit Far-Flung Relatives

It's going to be a series of fam-ily reunions for Dr. S. W. Fletcher, dean emeritus of the School of Agriculture, who has started on a cross-country jaunt through most of these United States.

Only 24 hours after his formal retirement as dean, Dr. Fletcher and his wife set out on a motor trip on which they will visit near-ly every member of their farflung family.

"While Mrs. Fletcher and I are not losing any time in leaving here," the former head man on Ag Hill laughingly told his col-leagues, "we're not shaking the good old Penn State dust from our shoes.

The couple plan to return to State College in May, at which time Dr. Fletcher plans to resume work on a book concerning three centuries of Pennsylvania agriculture.

First stop for Dean and Mrs. Fletcher on their American odyssey will be Washington, D.C. where they will visit their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Emmet Fletcher. Their son, Emmet, lost his life while serving as a dive bomber pilot in the Navy. Three other sons also fought in the war.

From Washington, the Fletch-ers will drive to Charlottesville, Va. where they will see their son, Richard, assistant dean of men at the University of Virginia. Next on the list will be Peter who is with the U. S. forestry service at Raleigh, N. C., then Robert, at San Antonio, Texas, and Jack at Los Angeles, Calif. All of the Fletcher children, including another son and daugh-ter, are graduates of the College, where Dr. Fletcher has been associatd with the School of Agriculture for nearly 30 years.

In addition to catching up on family acquaintanceships, Dean Fletcher expects to do some fish-ing on the West Coast. "There's some nice trout in those streams in the California Sierras," he reminded some fel-low anglers before leaving.

School Adds Two Curricula

Two new curricula, health education and recreation, will be established in the School of Physical Education and Athletics, President Ralph D. Hetzel has announced.

The school's present single curriculum, health and physical education, will be designated physical education, according to Dean Carl P. Schott. Freshman and sophomore students, Dean Schott pointed out, will take the same courses as previously, but physical education majors in their junior and senior years will specialize in the curriculum of their choice.

Degrees in physical education will prepare students for work in public schools or colleges, while those graduating in recreation will deal primarily with activities in industries or in a municipal set-up. Those in the health edu-cation curriculum will be prepared for work in county or state health offices or in similar fields.

If you'll be glad when Long Distance delays are ended imagine our delight.

We've hated to ask you to wait, as necessary as it has been. And delays still occur on some crowded lines, particularly to the South and Far West.

But dawn is breaking. Soon we'll have the facilities to take care of the increased demand for Long Distance service. We're glad to be able to tell you this.
