

Grounds, Buildings Start Trailer Camp Play Yard

Work was started Tuesday on the play yard at Windcrest. George W. Ebert, superintendent of Grounds and Buildings, said that his department hopes to complete the work in a very short time.

After grading, several tons of sand will be dumped on the 70x45 foot area comprising the play yard to make a layer 6 to 8 inches deep. Playground equipment is also being constructed by the department.

Excavations have been started for the sewers to be constructed for sink drainage at the trailer camp. After these are completed, said Mr. Ebert, the ground will be prepared for grass seed, which he hopes to have sown by the middle of April.

Mr. Ebert has granted all the requests made by the Windcrest borough council, and street and speed limit signs are to be installed at the camp as soon as possible. Painting of the trailers will be started as soon as weather permits. A garden plot will be set aside for use by trailer residents wishing to plant vegetable gardens.

Twelve more trailers are to be added to the main community, and the first of fifty trailers to be placed on the hill above Windcrest have arrived. The road connecting the two areas is being graded and prepared.

Mr. Ebert also announced that the floor of the first of the temporary dormitories being erected for single veterans has been laid and work is being started on the superstructure.

Mind Rising at 4:30? If Not, the Job's Yours

Is there a student on campus who doesn't mind getting up at 4:30 a.m. on Sundays?

The staff of the Personnel Relations Office, 423 Old Main, doesn't think so. Student applicants for a position with the College dairy farms were fairly plentiful—until they heard the "catch"—not just a farming background was needed, but the stamina to crawl out of bed in the wee small hours on Sunday mornings.

Formerly the Personnel Relations Office, which refers students to prospective employers for part-time positions, had more applicants than jobs. Now the situation is reversed, and the office needs students interested in positions as waiters in dormitories, fraternities, and boarding houses; gardeners, and handymen to help with spring cleaning.

Applicants for typing positions, however, exceed the number of positions available, and the personnel office is looking for employers in this case. But students seeking other types of jobs are requested to contact the office—especially if they're early risers.

Delegates Go To Congress

For the first time in four years, a delegation, headed by Martin Zeigler, graduate student in political science, will represent the College at the Intercollegiate Conference of Government in Harrisburg today, tomorrow and Sunday.

Discontinued in 1942, the Conference will convene for the tenth time this year, representing over 40 Pennsylvania colleges and universities. Student representatives have prepared to take part in a mock Congress. Delegates are divided into committees to take active part in legislative proceedings similar to the House of Representatives. Playing the game of Congressional politics, students from the College will try to place their respective candidates in positions on designated committees in order to help pass the legislation they favor.

Theodore Harnatz heads the Military Affairs group which includes Harold Smiley. The Commerce and Finance committee consists of Enid Paradise, chairman, and Lois Nicholas. The Labor and Industries delegates are Rosalind Dahlberg, chairman, Charles Hill, Lorraine Levy, and Samuel Kinney. R. W. Brewster, associate professor of political science, and R. N. Kreckler, instructor in political science, have acted as faculty advisors for the group.
