Anderson Talks On Poland Today At LA Series

Poland today is the most devastated country in Europe, according to Dr. C. S. Anderson, former UNRRA representative, who is speaking in 121 Sparks at 8 p. m. tonight as a guest of the L. A. Lecture Series.

The theme-material for Dr. Anderson's talk, "Poland—Today," was gathered while he was a supply specialist heading a ten-man group of Americans, Englishmen, and Canadians for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Agency in that country.

Dr. Anderson, professor of agriculture education at the College, volunteered his services to UNRRA in 1944, studied supply and relief work in Washington for six months, and was then assigned to overseas duty.

He was with UNRRA 14 months, spending eight of those in Europe. Although he visited practically every country on the continent, the majority of his time was spent in Poland, where he felt the need for United Nations assistance was greatest.

Great difficulty was experienced in obtaining Russian permission to enter Poland. After approval was granted, Dr. Anderson, contrary to the usual American belief, found the Russians very cooperative and helpful.

His talk tonight will deal with the many problems, as well as interesting and humorous experiences, he encountered in his work as a supply specialist in that country and surrounding territories.

Dr. Anderson returned from Poland in January and resumed his position on the faculty of the School of Agriculture this semester.
