

Coeds Show Dress Styles, Hair Styles

Students, faculty, and townsfolk will have an opportunity to see what the "well-dressed coed" will wear when the home economics department presents a fashion show in Schwab Auditorium at 4:30 p.m. Monday.

The show will feature 15 college girls' costumes, modeled by students in the clothing classes. Hair styles will be designed by local beauticians.

At 11 a.m. Monday, home economics students will hear Miss Olive Berry, of the Simplicity Pattern Co., New York, speak in the home economics auditorium on opportunities for the home economics graduate who majored in clothing and textiles.

Her discussion will include dressing and grooming for the interview, helpful hints in looking for a job, and how patterns are made.

Students who will model at the afternoon show are: Phyllis C. Arch, Betty J. Boyce, Sherma B. Greenberg, Marjorie A. Herphill, Carolyn M. Hocking, Mary Litis, Arlene L. Mack, Ellen L. Miller, Lois J. Miller, Lorraine D. Munz, Helen E. Ness, Carolyn M. Olmstead, Sara E. Pollard, Jane A. Randall, Joan B. Rentschler, Eleanor A. Romanynshyn, Pauline A. Schmitt, Phyllis C. Tamor.

Conn. Congresswoman To Lecture To Coeds

Connecticut's woman Representative to Congress, Dr. Chase Going Woodhouse, will speak to women on campus in 121 Sparks Building April 29.

Sponsored jointly by Women's Student Governing Association and American Association of University Women, the affair will have as its guests senior women. All other women are urged to attend.

Professor of economics for 29 years, Dr. Woodhouse helped found the Institution of Women's Professional Relations "to study the status of working women and to keep the students and Colleges posted on curriculum needs."

Author of "Business Opportunities for the Home Economist" in 1938 and "The Big Store" in 1943, Mrs. Woodhouse was described by the American Federation of Labor as "the most liberal-minded woman in Connecticut."

Home Ec Students Make Pittsburgh Field Trip

The 15 students who went on the trip are: Eleanor Chesney, Jean Clarke, Margaret Cunningham, Nancy Curry, Janet Gustafson, Martha Leitzell, Camella Lovett, Lois Miller, Betty Moran, Elsalon Olsen, Norma Reuben, Ruth Sacks, Dorothy Shenot, Jean Shoup, and Lee Thresher.

If you see any or all coeds running around campus today with their hair neatly pinned up with bobby pins and cold cream plastered all over their faces, don't be frightened. It's only in preparation for the "Spring Nocturne" tonight. And speaking of dances, that must have been quite an affair that the Zetas and the Sigma Phi Sigmas had last weekend. Over 90 couples attended the "Rainbow Dance," with music by the Navy band, and Pat Toner won the Easter egg concealed at the foot of the rainbow. The Zetas also recently installed Lois App as president; Norma Van Tuyle, vice-president; Helen Howe, secretary; Doris Mawhinney, treasurer; and Bernice Stiffler, historian.

Muchos Parties!

And everybody is entertaining somebody this week. The SPEh had the ChiOs out to their house for dinner recently, and the Delta Sigs held open house Sunday afternoon for the same sorority. The AOPis had a busy weekend, what with having a birthday party for actives and pledges Saturday afternoon, and going out to the ATO house for dinner and dancing Sunday. The Delta Gammas will observe Founder's Day tomorrow with a dinner at the State College Hotel. The DGs have also resumed their weekly teas Thursday afternoons from 4 to 5:30 o'clock. Theta Phi Alphas entertained for the Phi Kappas Sunday. The Thetas are also busy, entertaining the Phi Gams, brother fraternity, Saturday, and being entertained by the Tekes Sunday. Triangle fraternity will celebrate Founder's Day tomorrow with a dinner and dance at the house.

Odds and Ends

The regional adviser of SDI, Eleanor Oberfield, was visiting on campus last weekend, and a tea was given honoring her Saturday afternoon for all sororities. Selma Sabel was initiated by SDI Monday night, and recently elected pledge officers are Lois Sparks, president; Joanne Abrahams, secretary; and Oneda Rosen, treasurer. There was an interesting story and photo carried by the AP last weekend concerning the 27-orchid lei received by AOPi B. J. Mellinger from her "man" in Hawaii. This unusual gift sent airmail and special delivery was for her birthday. And not that this has anything to do with the AOPis, but 'tis rumored around in very unofficial quarters that Port Matilda is going to install a new fog horn. There seems to be some question as to the effectiveness of such a move, however.

Fraternity Row

Phi Sigma Kappa has elected William Keefauver, president; Edward Hyde, vice president; James Bard, treasurer; and Ernest Nagy, secretary. Two additions to their pledge list, which incidentally was published as Phi Kappa pledges last week, are Harold Richards and Philip Sawyer.

Kappa Sigma announces its new officers as Herbert Kraybill, grandmaster; Robert Bacher, grand procurator; Norman Barrett, grand master of ceremonies; Walter Cummings, grand scribe, and Richard Armbrust, grand treasurer.

Two Fraternities Hold 'Spring Fiesta' Dance

Pi Lambda Phi and Alpha Chi Rho fraternities will hold their mid-semester dance tomorrow night from 8:30 to 12:30. The theme of the dance is "Spring Fiesta" and the decorations will be strictly of the movieland South America type.

Dick Berge and his band with Bud Mellot and Mike Kerns from Thespians will be the feature attractions.

Chairman Harry Friedland will be aided by Jack Solomon in charge of entertainment; Stanley Wyglendowski, decorations; and Manuel Herbert, refreshments.

All Coeds

collecting money for the Dean Charlotte E. Ray scholarship who have not yet turned in their returns are asked to report to the WSGA room at 4:30 p.m. Monday.

WSGAGrants Late Permits

Coeds were granted 2 o'clock permissions for the X-G-I Club Spring Nocturne tonight by senate of WSGA at its meeting Tuesday afternoon. Joan Shearer, head of Judicial, has announced that this special permission will not cancel the usual 1 o'clock permission for freshmen women, which may be taken Saturday night even though the coed may have taken a 2 o'clock on Friday night.

The Student Welfare Committee, with the consent of Intrafraternity Council, has approved dating in the fraternity houses until 1:30 tonight.

Ann Berkheimer, chairman of the May Day Festivities, announced her committees as follows: Jean Nelson and Suzanne Romig will assist Miss Berkheimer; Miss Berkheimer, Marjorie Blackwood, Miss Nelson, Claire Parks, Florence Porter, and Miss Romig comprise the committee for choosing the attendants.

Phyllis James heads the entertainment committee; Lois Zubler, music; Claire Parks, ceremonies; Nancy Sherriff, publicity; Margaret Marcy, decorations; Kay Badollet, properties; Lynette Lundquist, wardrobe; and Miss Nelson will act as budget advisor. The selection of the May Queen candidates, to be chosen from senior women, will be left to the House of Representatives, while the Maid of Honor candidates, to be chosen from freshman women, will be named by Freshman Council, according to Miss Berkheimer.

Nylons, Pumps Taboo For 'Dungaree Drag'

"The Dungaree Drag," sponsored by Cwens in Recreation Hall, April 27, is to be strictly a "girl-ask-boy" dance," stressed Mary Lou Waygood, president, at the Cwen meeting Monday night.

"Our idea is to give the coeds a chance to pay the fellows back for all the dances for which they foot the bills," continued Miss Waygood, "and the style for the night will be dungarees and plaid shirts. Nylons and pumps will be absolutely taboo for this dance."

Tickets will be on sale at Student Union April 26 and 27 for $1.50. Co-chairmen, Russella Adamitz and JoAnne Roraback, announce that the theme of the dance will be similar to springtime in Dogpatch, and the Campus Owls will play from 9 to 12.
